COSTUMED YIPPIE — Jerry Rubin, bearded and barechested and with a toy M16 rifle in his hand, created a mild uproar as he appeared today at the start of a House Committee on Un-American Activities hearing into disorders during the Democratic National Convention and specifically what part Rubin's Youth International Party played in them. House Prober Says Cameras Ordered For Brutality Film

"Ten major organizations planned and plotted to disrupt the convention," said James L. Gallagher, a staff investigator for the House Committee on Un-American Activities as a subcommittee panel opened hearings to determine if the violence at last month's Chicago convention was planned by subversives.

HELP FOR HANOI

Gallagher also said the disorder was engineered by dissidents with the intent to support Hanoi in the Vietnam War and to disrupt the American political system.

With costumed youthful protestors crowding the hearing room —and one of them burning incense —Gallagher said the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) "told its members in preparation for the convention to find out your blood types and carry I. D. cards with the type on it."

IN CLEVELAND

He said representatives of the 10 groups met in Cleveland last summer, "where they collectd medical supplies and arranged for a camera crew to take pictures of alleged police brutality."

Gallagher was followed on the stand by two intelligence officers of the Chicago police department —Lt. Joseph Healy and Sgt. Joseph Grubisic —who were testifying when the panel recessed for lunch.

They said since the "latter part of 1967" they had investigated reports of plans to disrupt the Democratic convention.

The first round of the hearings —in a high-ceilinged, chandeliered room —were fairly peaceful compared to some of the committee's confrontations with youth groups in the past.

Outside the room, 45 policemen lined the corridor. On the street and in other parts of the Cannon Office Building about 40 more officers were stationed.

The hearing got under way in a Halloween atmosphere supplied by panel opponents who showed up in assorted costumes running to witches' hats, headbands, and other gear calculated, they said, to demonstrate the "burlesque" nature of the inquiry.

Police ejected, and then later admitted, one group including a scheduled witness, Jerry Rubin, a leader of the Youth International Party (Yippie), who turned up in a topless outfit, attired only in pants and war paint smeared over his head and chest.

Rubin returned to the hearing room after police relieved him of a bandoleer with 20 live rounds of ammunition for a real-looking but toy M16 automatic rifle.

A subcommittee of the highly controversial committee conducted the hearings, which the group said was aimed at identifying groups and persons responsible for the Chicago confrontations.

'Killing Satan' Sends Girl To Napa Hospital

An 18-year-old girl, traveling with a hippie group, was sent to Napa State Hospital Sunday after sheriff's deputies said she stabbed a dog to death while on a bad drug trip.

Deputy Kenneth Froberg said he was called to Muir Beach by persons who reported seeing a girl stabbing a dog in a bus parked near the beach.

When he arrived at the beach, Froberg was confronted by a gathering of about 30 hippies who told him to leave, that they would care for the girl, Froberg said.

The deputy refused and the crowd parted. Froberg said he saw the young, blonde girl kneeling beside a small black and white dog, which had a tire iron sticking through it.

The girl appeared to be high on a drug and was mumbling, then screaming, unable to answer questions, Froberg said.

Later, the girl told the deputy that the dog had Satan in him and the only way to kill the devil was by driving a stake through his heart. Several of her friends at the beach also have Satan in them, she told Froberg.

Houseboats Given Chance To Shape Up

County Aides Decry 'Hong Kong' Trend; New Laws Delayed

By WAT TAKESHITA

County officials today described houseboats on Richardson Bay as "increasing like rabbits," "looking like Hong Kong" and "like some Southeast Asian port," but decided to rely on existing ordinances to control the houseboats, at least for two weeks.

Marin County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously to continue the matter to Oct. 15 to get a report on progress of enforcement and the extent of cooperation from residents.

Attorney Stephen M. Koople of San Rafael, speaking for about 25 houseboat dwellers in the audience, assured the supervisors his clients are willing to cooperate and bring their houseboats to acceptable standards.

RESIDENTS FEARFUL

"People who live there and want to conform do not have a list of requirements," said Koople. He said they are afraid that applying for occupancy permits will bring inspectors who will find violations on almost every boat and oust the occupants.

Writer Dean Jennings, who lives on a houseboat at Gate 5, declared most of the violations can be handled under existing ordinances, and the blame rests with the county for not enforcing them.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen declared that the biggest problem is with houseboats that move from place to place and defy the investigators. He called for an interim emergency ordinance to prohibit bringing in or building houseboats, vans and cars used for habitation. After a two hour discussion, the supervisors decided to continue enforcement under existing ordinances and take another look in two weeks.

DOCTOR'S REPORT

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said the problem is with surveillance and enforcement rather than lack of legal control.

Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, county health officer, reported she sees no alarming increase in hepatitis, and the disease is spread county-wide, not concentrated on Richardson Bay. However, she found some of the conditions in Richardson Bay "appalling."

She saw two dogs swim in the bay and drag the muck back into a houseboat. She noticed pipes leading directly from boats into the water for waste disposal, and at least one of her inspectors fell through rotten boards. The health officer reported garden hose type water lines lying in the mud at low tide, with leaks in them. Although the water pressure may keep the bay pollution from entering the lines, this is always a possibility, she said.

'HEALTH HAZARD'

"Many hulks and debris are a hazard to health and safety," said Dr. Albrecht. She added that when she landed in a

Lt. HUGH F. SMITH
Dramatic reprieve

Justice Douglas Pens Order On Smith Plea

By MARY LEYDECKER

A 26-year-old Hamilton Air Force Base officer who claimed he was being shipped overseas because of his antiwar activities, has an 11th hour reprieve because his attorney tracked down a U.S. Supreme Court justice at his woodsy retreat Sunday.

A temporary stay to prevent the Air Force from transferring Second Lt. Hugh F. Smith to Formosa was granted by Justice William O. Douglas at about the same time Smith was supposed to report for an overseas flight.

Smith's lawyer, Lloyd E. McMurray said he had been prepared to fly to Washington, D. C. to seek out Justice Douglas but that he learned the justice was vacationing about 60 miles from Yakima, Wash., and went there instead.

Reached at his cabin in the woods, Douglas gave McMurray a handwritten document granting the stay.

McMurray explained that Justice Douglas acted with a little-used legal authority, his right to act as a judge of the federal district court of appeals.

ACTING AS ATTORNEY

A copy of the stay was given by McMurray to the U. S. Attorney's office, which is acting as attorney for the Air Force and Lieutenant Smith has been re-assigned to a civil engineering unit at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The terms of the stay require that Smith's case, which was turned down by a federal district court, must be filed with the U. S. District Court of Appeals by Friday, according to McMurray.

The stay will be temporary until this court rules on the merits of Smith's case, McMurray explained.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

Through the attorney Smith has claimed that he is being denied his right of freedom of speech by the Air Force, which he says seeks to prevent him joining a peace march planned for Oct. 12 in San Francisco.

Lieutenant Smith, who also has made headlines by forming a "union" for servicemen, has been one of the organizers of the "GI and Vets March of Peace" which is scheduled to proceed from the Panhandle of Golden Gate Park to the San Francisco Civic Center.

Smith has said he will lead the march in full uniform.

He claims that the Air Force is using the authority it possesses over his person to control his freedom of speech.

Five Hurt In Fiery Drag Race

Five persons were hospitalized last night after a flaming crash that ended a three-car drag race in Marin City, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Marin County sheriff's deputies James Spears and John Earl reported they were pursuing the three cars on Drake Avenue at 10:40 p.m. when they crested a hill and disappeared.

An instant later, the deupties said, they heard an explosion and saw a burst of flame ahead. As the patrol car topped the hill they saw two cars burning, one upside down, at the intersection of Cole Drive, the deputies reported.

Gerald Ford, 21, of 149 Drive Avenue, was standing by his car with his clothing afire, but two passersby beat out the flames.

As Spears and Earl approached they saw several persons inside the overturned car and pulled from the flaming vehicle driver Willie L. Evans, 20, of San Francisco; Stella Johnson, 20, of 720 Drake Avenue, Marin City, and Donald Lee Locket, 16, and George Henry Ozene, 18, both of San Francisco.

All were taken to Marin General Hospital, where four were admitted. Ozene was transferred to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco.

Nixon Says HHH Aids Hanoi View

DETROIT (upi)—Richard M. Nixon said today that Hubert H. Humphrey's expressed willingness to stop the bombing in North Vietnam encourages Hanoi to take a harder stand in the Paris negotiations. (See political stories, page 7.)

The Republican presidential candidate told a news conference, 'I have said before and I say again that we can have only one President at a time. Negotiations are going on in Paris. We may have some success with them."

Neither presidential candidate, Nixon said, should indicate to North Vietnam it could get a better deal from a new administration than that being offered by the negotiators of the Johnson administration.

Nixon called on Humphrey to clarify the stand he took in a speech at Salt Lake City last night. He called it the "fourth or fifth" position his Democratic opponent has taken on the bombing. Nixon said Humphrey's statement had been widely interpreted as a departure from the administration's position that Hanoi should reciprocate before any halt is called in the bombing.

"If he did not intend it to be a departure from his previous position, it has been widely misintrepreted," Nixon said.

He said his own position was in agreement with one of

Narcotics Raid Suspect Faces More Charges

A San Rafael man, suspected to be one of the biggest drug dealers in the Bay Area, found himself under fire in two counties yesterday when an arrest by federal drug agents in San Francisco and a raid on his home in Marin.

James Dewey Bell, 34, of 277 Union Street, out on $5,000 bail since February when he was arrested with more than 60 other persons in the biggest narcotics roundup in Marin County history, was scheduled to appear before the U.S. commissioner in San Francisco today.

DANGEROUS DRUGS

He was charged with selling dangerous drugs in violation of federal law after he allegedly participated in the sale of a half-pound of methamphetamine to an agent of the federal bureau of narcotics and dangerous drugs.

While Bell was being arrested in San Francisco, San Rafael police and Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau agents were searching his home on a warrant issued by Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson, Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa reported.

Chiesa said the two events were not connected. He declined to say what triggered the local search.

He reported officers found a plastic bag containing almost 1,000 pills of what appeared to be benzedrine, and more than a pound of what appeared to be methamphetamine (speed).

25 CENTS EACH

He said the pills would sell for about 25 cents each and the speed was worth more than $1,000.

The officers also found a five-gallon container of ether, sometimes used to break down methamphetamine, Chiesa said.

In San Francisco, Bell and a companion, James T. Morrissey of San Francisco, were arrested after they reportedly sold speed to the agent for $625 at 3:50 p.m. on Market Street near Jones Street.

Chiesa said a warrant would be issued for Bell from Marin County.

Bell was indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury in February on two counts of selling methedrine and marijuana and is scheduled to appear in Marin Superior Court Oct. 14 for setting of a trial date.

PROJECT 17 DEMANDS

Mill Valley Council Lists Rec Facilities Sought At New School

By ANNE BARDWELL

Mill Valley city officials last night listed the minimum recreational facilities acceptable to the city for the Project 17-Middle School Development.

Terming the list "extremely reasonable," Councilman Robert H. Andresen said, "there is nothing on this list which the school district shouldn't also want."

At the end of the two-and-a-half-hour special workshop session with the parks and recreation commission, the council called a special meeting with school trustees for 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall to hash out the conflict between the city's desires and the school district's money for the recreational facilities.

In April, city and school officials had agreed to cooperate in the development of the middle school — Project 17 area as a joint school — recreational facility for use by the entire community.

However, architects plans unveiled last week indicated that the city and school district had differing ideas as to each one's financial responsibility in the development.

City officials, reviewing minutes and previous agreements with the school district, last night contended that in exchange for 17 acres of city park lands the school district had taken on the financial responsibility to develop the recreational facilities which the city would share in the maintenance costs.

The city's requirements, which the councilmen last night insisted on in conjuction with the construction of the middle school building, are:

Two baseball diamonds with back stops and foul line fences.

The entire area landscaped as indicated on architects plans

MAO CELEBRATES YEARS IN POWER

Half-Million Chinese Applaud Leader; New Purge On Horizon

TOKYO (AP) — Red China celebrated the start of its 20th year under Mao Tse-tung's Communist rule today with Mao appearing at a giant rally and the press announcing a new purge to "firmly clean out" his enemies.

The new "purifying" purge comes on top of Mao's 26-month-old Great Cultural Revolution purge, which has set off bloody factional clashes in many parts of China.

HUGE TURNOUT

The 74-year-old Communist party chairman and his chosen heir, Defense Minister Lin Piao, received thunderous applause as they appeared on the high red walls of the Gate of Heavenly Peace Square in Peking. Japanese correspondents estimated half a million persons were in the square.

"Chairman Mao is very healthy," Peking radio reported in a live broadcast of the National Day ceremonies.

For the second year in a row, Mao's chief enemy, President Liu Shao-chi, was absent from the ceremonies. Also missing was party General Secretary Teng Hsiao-ping and many now-disgraced backers of Liu and Teng.

An editorial in the People's Daily, the Liberation Army Daily and the theoretical journal Red Flag said they had been "overthrown" and "that part of the power of leadership which they usurped" had been taken back. This suggested they may still retain party membership but have lost other posts.

NEW PURGE

The editorial announced the new purge to purify the ranks of the 17-million member party. It said "the renegades, enemy agents, and all other counter-revolutionaries against whom there is unquestionable proof as well as the die-hard capitalist roaders must be firmly cleaned out."

Way must be made, it added, for "advanced elements among the industrial workers" and "Communists who have stood firmly by Chairman Mao's proletarian revolutionary line." This was an apparent reference to the one-time relative unknowns' such as Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, who have risen to prominence but are not yet members of the party central committee.

The emphasis of workers follows the excesses of millions of students formed into Red Guard units at the start of the cultural revolution purge to agitate against the party, government and military apparatus established by Liu in 1959 after he succeeded Mao as president.

The followers of Mao announced a few weeks ago that the entire country was in Maoist hands following establishment of "revolutionary committees" to govern each of the country's 29 provinces, autonomous regions and municipalities.

But the purge left deep wounds. By the beginning of this year, the Red Guards were making indiscriminate assaults on Chinese people and quarreling among themselves. The army moved in to curb excesses, and encountered divisions within its own ranks.

ATTACKS RUSS, U.S.

Premier Chou En-lai said in a radio speech yesterday, "As far as the Great Cultural Revolution is concerned, the situation throughout the country is excellent. In a few more months, the whole situation will become better still."

He urged the Chinese to intensify their preparedness for war to smash "any invasion launched by U.S. imperialism or Soviet revisionism."

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. R. Wiggins, President Johnson's choice as ambassador to the United Nations, says he has no solution for peace in Vietnam but defends the United States' right to be there.

Wiggins, former editor and executive vice president of the Washington Post, said in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday the goal of the Vietnam war is to let the South Vietnamese select "the type and character of the government under which they wish to live."

Asked by Committee Chairman Sen. J. William Fulbright for suggestions on how to achieve peace, Wiggins said: "I simply do not have a solution for the war in Vietnam."

Fulbright, D-Ark., a prominent critic of Johnson war policies, criticized Wiggins' stand on Vietnam.

Fulbright also questioned how "newspapers can continue to be objective and critical if their leading officials are recruited by the executive branch of the government."

Fulbright asked Wiggins how the Post could be expected to criticize its former editor. Wiggins said his confidence in his former associates would be shaken "if they were inhibited to the least degree in criticizing me if they thought I had made a mistake."

Chileans Repeat Heart Transplant

VALPARAISO, Chile (AP) — Surgeon Jorge Kaplan led an eight-doctor team today in Chile's second heart transplant operation, giving a new heart to 21-year-old Nelson Orellana Sanchez.

"The new heart began to work immediately after two hours of surgery," said Dr. Norman McCowley, spokesman for Admiral Neff Naval Hospital.

The donor was Pedro Contreras Arevalo, 17, who died early today from head wounds.

"After the heart was in place, the doctors faced some problems in suturing," McCowley said, but Orellana Sanchez, appeared to be in good condition.

Slaying Trial Ordered To Ukiah To Hear Injured Girl's Testimony

SAN JOSE (UPI) — A Superior Court judge, after hearing the grim testimony of a physician who examined pretty Susan Bartolomei after she was shot and raped last year, ordered the trial of her accused attackers temporarily moved to the girl's home town to hear her story.

Miss Bartolomei, now 18, has been almost completely paralyzed and unable to talk since the attack, but her physician said she had learned to communicate with sign language and by nodding her head.

Dr. Benjamin Boice of Sonora testified at the start of the sixth week of the trial yesterday that the girl has "made tremendous improvement" since the attack and that "mentally, she is a real sharp girl."

Judge Joseph Kelly ruled Miss Bartolomei's testimony would be taken at Mendocino County Hospital in Ukiah early next week, but indicated he had not yet decided whether the jury would journey there to be present.

Accused of the attack on Miss Bartolomei last August and the slaying of her boy friend, Timothy Luce, 17, are Leonard E. Maine and Thomas E. Braun, both 19 and from Ritzville, Wash.

Dr. Boice told the jury of seven men and five women that his surgery team at Sonora Community Hospital had just finished an operation and were about to begin another when Susan was brought in.

"She was critically injured when they brought her in—pale and in shock," he said. "I tried to question her but I wasn't able to get any response."

The doctor testified his medical team found a bullet wound in the back of the girl's neck, from a gun fired at close range, another wound in the right side of her head, a one and one-half inch wound in the back of her head that could have been inflicted by two or three bullets, and another bullet wound in her left shoulder with a bullet fragment resting against her heart.

Boice also testified it was one of the worst cases of sexual assault he had seen in 20 years of medical practice.

The bullet wounds in the brain, he said, "extensively damaged the motor area that has the connections that let you move your muscles, walk and talk," but that the girl's "thought center" was largely undamaged.

Boice said the right side of the girl's face is still paralyzed, but that she has recovered 25 per cent of the use of her right arm and hand and a slight movement of her left hand.

Hippie Influx Into Fairfax Held Problem

The Fairfax City Council agreed last night to tackle the hippie problem in that city, but took no immediate action.

Councilman Frank J. Egger said the city has to face up to its responsibility or "they'll overrun the town and we'll be faced with the same problem as San Francisco in the Haight-Ashbury area."

Mayor Robert R. Souza said the city has a hippie problem "to the extent that it is causing public concern."

DRUG CHARGES

Egger said there was narcotic traffic in the city, to which police are giving priority attention.

He contended that zoning laws are violated when from 12 to 14 persons live in one house in a single family zone.

Mrs. Priscilla Gray, secretary of the project committee for the Fairfax Congress for Community Progress, said returned questionnaires revealed that of 66 persons listing social problems 47 specified hippies.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson said the law should be applied equally to everyone. If someone is smoking marijuana, hippie or not, he should be treated equally, she said. "I don't think anyone should be harassed because he looks different. If they violate the law, it should be enforced," she said.

NO POLICE STATE

Souza said he wasn't thinking of having a police state where persons who act or dress differently come under police surveillance. He contended however there does "seem to be a correlation between length of hair, type of attire and lack of shoes" and the problems.

Louis Vaccaro of 21 Olema Drive said the hitchhikers rummage through Goodwill Industries collection box at the Cala Market, 2040 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and pick up what they want.

Last night's discussion was by way of a prelude to a full discussion to the hippie problem at a later session, and no action was taken.

Stronger Control On Dogs Sought

The Fairfax City Council called for stronger dog control regulations last night after hearing an urgent plea from an anxious mother.

Mrs. Tilden Hansen of 121 Wood Lane said she and her young children had been attacked by dogs and residents couldn't walk or ride a bicycle down the street.

"What can Fairfax do?" she pleaded. "I dare you to ride a bike or walk down Wood Lane."

She charged that "nothing is done," and asked, "What good is the Humane Society?"

Mayor Robert R. Souza said the city requires that dogs be leashed when downtown or upon public property, but this doesn't apply in residential areas.

The council asked City Atty. Wallace Myers to prepare an ordinance containing a stronger definition of what constitutes a vicious dog or a nuisance and provide that dogs so classified be kept on a leash.

Souza noted there are some people in the city "who don't bother to take care of their dogs," and that a stronger ordinance would offer further protection to residents.

Dog control enforcement is provided to the city by the Humane Society under contract. Councilmen agreed to send the society a letter expressing "strong displeasure" with the current situation and asking for relief.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell said "putting pressure on the Humane Society is talking to the wind."

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson said if the Humane Society doesn't have the manpower to do the job, it might need further subsidy from the public.

Mrs. Priscilla Gray, secretary of the committee for the Fairfax Congress for Community Progress, said dog control has drawn the most answers on a questionnaire sent out to residents. "It seems to be of widespread concern," she said.

O'Connell said the city couldn't afford a poundmaster and truck of its own.

The proposed stronger dog control ordinance is scheduled to be presented to the council Monday.

The future of Tiburon Boulevard will be discussed at the annual Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at Reed School.

Following a report from the transportation committee, Alan S. Hart, chief district engineer with the state Division of Highways, will discuss state plans for Tiburon Boulevard.

Lawrence D. Rose, Tiburon city manager, will discuss city plans for the highway and Ben A. Farlatti, Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce president, will discuss methods to handle commute traffic.

Also speaking will be Edwin J. Drechsel, Belvedere councilman, on past, present and future traffic flow figures, and Joseph C. Marshall, Tiburon Planning Commission chairman on planned growth patterns.

Following the discussion, questions will be answered from the floor.

Cubans Sentence Woman Profiteer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The woman manager of a government store in Cuba has been tried in a public square before 3,000 persons and sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for increasing prices for personal benefit, Radio Havana said Monday night.

The broadcast said Mercedes Mena Linareas, manager of a nationalized clothing store in Cardenas, in the northern part of Matanzas Province.

Ordered to do six months of hard labor at a government farm camp, Her husband, Gilberto Malens Calvo, was given a similar term as an accomplice.

Marinites Named To Cranston Camp

Three Marinites were named today as Northern California co-chairmen of Californians for Cranston.

The three, according to a press release from the organization's San Francisco headquarters, are Mrs. Elizabeth R. Gatov of Kentfield, Robert L. Harmon of Belvedere and Mrs. Lee Sherry of Fairfax, former vice chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

YOM KIPPUR WILL BEGIN AT SUNDOWN

Yom Kippur, the holiest day in the Jewish year, will begin at sundown tonight with services at temples and synagogues.

The chant of Kol Nidre will be recited, beginning a 24-hour fast which will end at sundown tomorrow — with the sounding of the shofar, the ram's horn which in ancient times summoned Jews into battle.

Also known as the Day of Atonement, the solemn holiday marks the end of the 10 Days of Awe which began Sept. 23 with Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year, 5729 on the Hebrew calendar.

'New English' Course Is Set

A 10-week evening course on the "new English" will be offered for Marin elementary school teachers from 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays beginning next Monday in Room 16 of San Clemente Elementary School, Corte Madera.

The three-unit credit course is designed to acquaint teachers with "transformational grammar" — traditional grammar made explicit through the study of phonology, syntax and spelling.

The course is sponsored by University of California Extension in cooperation with Marin County Schools. Additional information is available from the U. C. extension office in Berkeley.

Clash Breaks Uneasy N.Y. School Feuding

NEW YORK (AP) — Parents, pupils and teachers clashed briefly with police today at barricades set up outside a school in the troubled Ocean Hill-Brownsville Experimental School District. The board of education said the situation there was "deteriorating."

The clash showed that the bitter battle over decentralizing the 1.1-million pupil city school system—giving control to local groups—was far from over. It broke a generally peaceful return to classes yesterday and today in the rest of the school system after a three-week teachers strike.

The strike has been marked by racial tensions. The largely Negro and Puerto Rican school district in Brooklyn has charged the mostly-white teachers union and central school administration with trying to sabotage decentralization.

Eggs and some bottles were hurled at police, and some police barriers were toppled during the melee.

It erupted after a number of teachers from Junior High School 271, followed by scores of pupils, marched to Intermediate School 55. A faculty steering committee entered the building.

The others waited outside and were joined by a crowd of parents, teachers and youngsters approaching from another direction. Together, they marched on JHS 271.

Police manning barriers prevented them from entering the school and the brief clash followed.

The chairman of the locally elected school board in Ocean Hill said last night that the board would defy the agreement that ended the teachers' walkout by barring the assignment of 30 disputed teachers from their classrooms today.

A letter was distributed from the JHS 271 faculty steering committee to the returning teachers which said: "Our position is perfectly clear: We do not want these police who must escort you into school; we do not want so-called 'impartial' observers; we do not want the union and we do not want you."

Israel Overrules Prayers Protest

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Defense Minister Moshe Dayan has informed the mayor of occupied Hebron the Israeli government has overruled Moslem objections to Orthodox Jews praying at the Tomb of the Patriarchs on Yom Kippur, the Holy Day of Atonement, tomorrow.

The Orthodox Jews will pray and fast in a cave of Machpelah, said to contain the tomb of Abraham, from dawn until dusk.

Fairfax Festival To City Managership Is Suggested

The City of Fairfax should consider taking over the annual Fairfax Festival, now directed by a citizens group.

This was proposed to the Fairfax City Council last night by Edwin H. McGee, president of the Fairfax Festival Committee, who noted that the city has been doing "the lion's share" of the work.

McGee proposed that the city have jurisdiction over the festival, which, he said, could be administered through the park and recreation department.

Park and Recreation commissioners could appoint an advisory festival committee consisting of members of organizations that participate in the festival, he said.

McGee reported that the third annual festival in mid-September attracted from 12,000 to 15,000 persons to the city and was more successful than previous festivals.

McGee said he would present the proposal to the commission tomorrow night and the council postponed action until it receives a recommendation from the commission.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

ANNEXATION—Passed an ordinance annexing an area along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard north of the city including the White Hill School and Christ the Victor Lutheran Church property.

COUNCIL CHAMBERS — Approved a new council table and microphone system for the council chambers at the Fairfax Women's Club at a cost of $350 by a 4-1 vote with Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson dissenting.

CREEK CLEARING — Denied a request from Gordon B. Adams, 475 Cascade Drive, for a refund of $218 he paid city for clearing the creek through his property. Mayor Robert R. Souza advised that the city has done some emergency creek work, but that from now on owners will be billed for work done and "forced to keep creeks clean."

BULKHEAD—Authorized city crews to assist in the repair of a bulkhead in city right-of-way along Hillside Drive at the request of F. A. Wadsworth, 187 Hillside Drive.

SCHOOL FIELD — Authorized city crews to assist in the clearing of the playing field at White Hill School and the placing of poles as a barrier along the adjacent creek as requested by the Fairfax School District.

UTILITIES — Postponed until Monday setting a public hearing on forming an underground utilities district along Bolinas Road from Broadway to Sherman Street until exact boundaries are specified.

TRANSPORTATION — Notified the Marin County Transit District that there is need for bus service from Fairfax to the Marin Civic Center, but the city cannot commit itself to give any funds for transportation.

FREE WAIVER — Denied a request from Fairfax Hostess Service, a welcoming service for merchants, to waive the $25 business license fee.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Plans Set For New Cub Pack

A meeting to register boys from West Novato who want to be Cub Scouts and to organize a new cub pack to supplement Pack 85 in the area will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 10 at Marion School.

Boys aged 8-10 and attending Pleasant Valley, San Ramon or Our Lady of Loretto schools may register for membership as cubs. They must be accompanied to the meeting by a parent or guardian, according to Pack 85 Cubmaster Robert McCoy.

The new pack will serve cubs in the San Marin area, but parents are needed to serve as den mothers and on the pack council, McCoy said.

Today Was Day For Drop In Sales Tax

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Today was the day that California's sales tax rate was supposed to drop half a cent to 4.5 cents per $1—if the Legislature had not acted sooner to approve a tax revision measure.

The tax measure passed two weeks ago, however, extended the 5-cent rate to June 30, 1969, regardless of whether voters give the necessary approval in November to a constitutional amendment providing the $261 million relief.

If the ballot measure, Proposition 1-A, passes in November, then the extension of the sales tax will be indefinite, according to the tax measure signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

However, if the proposition fails, then revenue from half a cent on the sales tax rate will be accumulated until July 1, and then be put into a special tax relief fund to finance whatever tax relief measure may be tried by the 1969 Legislature.

Seven In Race For Homecoming Queen In Novato

Seven senior girls were nominated last night by the Novato High School football squad as candidates for homecoming queen and two princesses on Oct. 12, according to Edward Kraft, assistant principal.

The student body will vote for them on Oct. 11.

Nominate were Eileen Rouche, Penny Alverson, Pam Alverson, Debbie Linke, Deedee Jones, Thommie Holt and Wendy Kanoff.

The queen and her princesses will ride in the homecoming parade at 11 a.m. Oct. 12 from Diablo Avenue down South Novato Boulevard and Arthur Streets to the high school.

The queen and the princesses will reign at the football game at 2 p.m. with Redwood High School and the coronation ball which will be from 8 to 11 p.m. that night in the old gymnasium, Kraft said.

160 Items On Auction List

About 160 items of used county equipment will go up for public auction at the Civic Center area at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Doug Edelen, county purchasing agent, announced that the items range all the way from road graders to bicycles. Ronald A. Rosberg Co. of San Francisco will conduct the auction and will get 9.25 per cent of the gross receipts.

On sale will be 26 vehicles, several pieces of heavy equipment, office equipment and about 50 bicycles turned in to the sheriff's office.

Last year's annual county auction grossed almost $27,000.

Plea Date Set

Eric Stephen Tainter, 20, of Larkspur, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Suprior Court on charges of possession and sale of marijuana Aug. 23 in Mill Valley. He was ordered to appear Oct. 14 to plead to the charges.

SPOUSE GOES FISHING

Mother Strikes For 'Better Conditions'

STOCKTON (AP) — Not a dish has been washed... or clothing laundered. . . or a bed made . . . or a floor cleaned in three days at the Tom Wagner home in Stockton.

Sandra Wagner, 23, mother of three, is on strike for what she calls "better working conditions in the home. Tom works 40 hours a week for pay; I work 120 for nothing. Then he comes home and asks, 'What you been doing all day?"

"Signs in the front yard proclaim, "Unfair to Wife" and "On Strike."

The strike is three days old, but Sandra didn't put out the signs until yesterday. She had learned sign painting from her 25-year-old husband, who works for a sign company.

She said Tom has a sense of humor, but that it doesn't extend to the signs in the front yard.

But that doesn't stop her printed protests.

"When it gets so I can't stand it in the house—among dirty dishes and all this mess—I just have to go outside and do some picketing," she said.

Neighbor wives approve her strike, but won't join her actively because they fear their husbands' reaction.

Husband Tom laughed yesterday evening when he came home from work and saw the signs in the front lawn.

"He laughed and walked around a bit, but then his good humor ran out and he went fishing," Sandra reported.

One thing Sandra does do. She cooks.

"We all have to eat," she explains.

Not even the clothing of her sons, 6 and 7 years old, get washed. The 18-month-old daughter's do. She's female and a potential housewife.

Preparing for school, the sons picked out their clothing from the dirty clothes pile.

Sandra said she doesn't have any minimum demands; "I just want Tom to sit down and negotiate."

cuts. Evans had bruises on the right knee and face cuts, Miss Johnson had a scalp cut and Lockett had multiple face cuts.

Ozene had back bruises, cuts and scrapes and was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco

Reports of the sheriff's office and the highway patrol clashed on some facts of the crash. Deputies said three cars were racing, including Evans' and Ford's. The highway patrol report indicated two cars were racing and Ford's car was parked with Ford sitting in it. Another car involved fled the scene.

The Evens and Ford cars were destroyed by the crash and fire, and two cars parked at Cole and Drake were damaged. The parked cars were owned by Roscoe McIntosh of 409 Montford Avenue, Mill Valley, and Carl L. Curry of 147 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

Tomales Heating Contract Voted

Pargas of Santa Rosa yesterday was awarded a $9,369.60 contract for the tank and .092 per gallon for the LP gas for the new Tomales High School, according to Supt. Anthony Matulich.

This was the lowest of three bids which were opened last week, he said.

The board inspected the sewage disposal ponds for the new high school and instructed the architect Richard C. Marshall to see that the ponds meet health requirements, Matulich said.

Talkathon Grinds On For Fortas

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate refused today to end a filibuster against considering the nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice. It was a stinging election year rebuke to President Johnson.

The vote on the move to choke off the filibuster was 45 for and 43 against, the "ayes" falling short of the necessary two-thirds by 14 votes.

Fortas' name thus remained on the Senate's nomination calendar, where it will remain, unless withdrawn by Johnson, unless a two-thirds majority can be mustered to stop the talkathon against the nominee. This appeared unlikely.

SECOND TIME

Defeat of a move to invoke cloture—the debate-halting device—came at the hands of a coalition of Republicans and conservative southern Democrats.

It marked the second time in history that the Senate—tentatively at least—turned down a presidential nominee as chief justice. The other time was in 1795 when it refused to confirm George Washington's appointment of John Rutledge.

The vote came after four days and one hour of generally lackadaisical arguments. Republicans and southern Democrats zeroed in most pointedly on the charge that Fortas committed an impropriety by accepting a $15,000 fee for a series of law school lectures.

The money was raised by a former law partner from Fortas' former law clients and business associates.

Opponents also argued: Chief Justice Earl Warren has not actually resgined, thus there is no vacancy for Fortas to fill.

SERIOUS QUESTION

Fortas' positions on court cases were open to serious question in extending criminal defendants rights to lawyers and jury trials and in decisions overturning local and state obscenity laws.

The vote meant that when the Supreme Court convenes for its fall term next Monday, Warren almost certainly will still occupy the center seat reserved for the chief justice. Fortas will still sit in the last seat on Warren's right, the seat reserved for the second most junior member.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., who put together the coalition opposing the nomination, in a speech just before the vote, took a last shot at Warren, who resigned subject to confirmation of a successor.

Bridgeway On Council Agenda

Final plans for the widening of Bridgeway will be reviewed by the Sausalito City Council today at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Also, the Sausalito Planning Commission will report on possible future locations of civic buildings.

Two public hearings are scheduled—on Harbor Carriers request for a landing site north of the Trade Fair and Marsha Owen's (Sally Stanford) request for several variances at the Valhalla restaurant at 201 Bridgeway.

But they may be continued since the council indicated at the last meeting it did not like to conduct public hearings with only three councilmen present. Councilmen George C. Hoffman and Alexander R. Imlay are away on vacation.

Charge Of Grand Theft Dismissed

A charge of grand theft against Jack Arthur Van Allen, 32, of Stinson Beach, was dismissed this morning in Marin Municipal Court on the motion of Deputy Dist. Atty. Ralph Thomas.

Van Allen had been charged with taking a ring valued at $400 Sept. 3 in Stinson Beach. Thomas said restitution had been made.

helicopter, "I thought I was coming into some Southeast Asian port."

Dr. Michael Scholl, county medical officer, reported he has serious doubts that registering houseboats will cut down on hepatitis. "We have them from San Geronimo, Forest Knolls, Mill Valley and Novato," said Dr. Scholl. "It is more a matter of personal cleanliness than sewage disposal."

Other county officers such as William Desmond of environmental health, County Counsel Maloney, County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, and Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said they are going ahead full steam to enforce existing ordinances.

Chairman Kettenhofen, still pushing for an emergency ordinance, likened Richardson Bay to "Hong Kong."

'LIKE RABBITS'

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said the majority of houseboat dwellers are responsible people, "but there are a certain number of drifters who come into the county and who are no damn good to the county . . . regardless of how picturesque they may be, we cannot allow shore to shore houseboats. Houseboats are like rabbits, they multiply."

The supervisors asked the various county departments to continue enforcement to keep in touch with attorney Koolpe to see if the houseboat dwellers will cooperate.

Saigon Claims Enemy Toll Above 400,000

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese military spokesmen said today the number of enemy troops killed in eight years of American involvement in the Vietnam war has passed the 400,000 mark.

The spokesmen thus wrote another chapter in the controversial subject of "the body count," designed to show how many of the Communist-led forces have been downed. The feeling among some military men is that announcements of enemy casualties are exaggerated through estimates when no actual count of of bodies is possible.

In many cases, large numbers of enemy dead are credited to air strikes, helicopter gunships and artillery. But allied commanders argue that a countering factor is that many dead, and wounded men who later die, are removed from battlefields before they can be counted.

The military spokesmen said the 2,866 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops killed last week boosted to 401,589 the toll since Jan. 1, 1961. Loss of government troops in the same period is said to be about 95,000 while the United States lost 28,211 men up to Sept. 21.

In another development, authorities reported a mortar attack on the sprawling U.S. Army headquarters complex at Long Binh, 16 miles northeast of Saigon.

During a 20-minute attack last night, enemy gunners slammed 40 rounds of 82mm mortar shells into the camp. A U.S. spokesman described damage and casualties as light. He said there were no fatalities.

South Vietnamese headquarters, in reporting that the number of enemy troops killed had gone past the 400,000 mark, did not say how many government soldiers had been killed since Jan. 1, 1961. But Vietnamese military sources said that since 1965 about 45,000 government troops have been killed. In the four years before that best estimates put the South Vietnamese losses at 40,000.

Headquarters reported the loss of a fighter-bomber over North Vietnam and two helicopters over South Vietnam, all shot down by enemy ground fire.

Bomb Threat Does Not Halt School

A bomb threat was made at Novato High School yesterday but neither disrupted nor delayed classes, according to Novato police reports.

"I'm not kidding; a bomb will go off at 10:30," a young voice on the telephone told secretary Ruth Roche. She did not know whether or not it was a boy or girl, and the person hung up immediately, according to police reports. Neither did the person say whether it was 10:30 a.m. or p.m., police said.

The threat occurred about 6 p.m. after San Marin High School was out for the day and before adult evening high school classes at 7:30 p.m. A search of the buildings by Novato police and the school janitors did not reveal a bomb, police reported.

Novato High School uses the campus during the morning; San Marin High during the afternoon, and the adult high school during the evening hours.

John Wayne As Wallace Ticket Mate?

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—A television station here last night said it learned from a source close to the National Wallace for President campaign that the former Alabama governor would name actor John Wayne as his vice presidential running mate.

Mention of the internationally known star was one of a number of rumors as to the identity of Wallace's vice presidential candidate sweeping the country. There were also reports that retired Air Force Gen. Curtis Lemay would be named or that radio and TV newscaster Paul Harvey would be Wallace's running mate.

WJXT-TV here said only that it learned from a "source close to Wallace's national campaign" that Wayne would be named by Wallace when he announces his running mate—probably later this week.

Motorcyclist Severely Hurt

Robert K. Childs, 30, of 19 San Rafael Drive, San Anselmo, was reported in fair condition in the intensive care unit of Marin General Hospital following a motorcycle accident at 1 a.m. today.

He was being treated for a head injury and broken left elbow.

Michael D. Garner of Pensacola, Fla., told Sausalito police he was walking along Bridgeway near Olive Street when he heard Childs revving his motorcycle, turned around, and saw the cycle flip in the air and the rider crash to the pavement.

He did not see Childs hit anything before the motorcycle flipped, he said.

Helicopter Crash Kills Two Deputies

WHITTIER (AP)—A sheriff's helicopter crashed today in the Rose Hills Cemetery in the Whittier Hills killing two deputies on board, the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Office said.

The sheriff's office said the craft was a two-seat Hughes helicopter. A spokesman said it is used to patrol the Whittier Hills area.

Deputies said the helicopter was part of a 24-hour general crime patrol, called ARGUS, or Aerial Reconnaissance Ground Unit Support.

The patrol is contracted to the cities of Whittier, Bell Gardens, Commerce, Downey, La Mirada, Norwalk, Pico Rivera and Santa Fe Springs.

A sheriff's spokesman said nobody saw the helicopter fall. He said it was discovered on the ground at about 8 a.m.

Cemetery maintenance men reported the wreckage was in an undeveloped part of the cemetery covered with trees and brush.

Arraignment On Marijuana

Steven Riall Moore, 21, and Edwin Michael Richmond, 20, both of Lagunitas, were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of selling a kilo of marijuana Friday.

Bail was set at $2,500 apiece and both men were to appear in court today for a report on the possibility of release on their own recognizance.

Don Richard Wilcox, 24, who was arrested at the same time and place, was arraigned on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Mexican's Trip To Hunt Jobs Is Fatal Nightmare

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—For 46 Mexicans, the promise of a free ride and jobs in Chicago was worth the asking price of $10 to $12. The bargain turned into a nightmare.

Locked in an unventilated truck van, the group was found abandoned yesterday in San Antonio. One man was dead of suffocation. Twelve others were hospitalized from heat exhaustion and lack of oxygen, with four in critical condition early today. The rest of the group were charged with illegal entry and jailed for questioning.

Immigration and naturalization authorities, who were investigating, said the Mexicans had made their way across the Rio Grande near Eagle Pass, Tex. yesterday and rendezvoused with the rented truck and the driver who had promised to deliver them to Chicago for jobs.

They were found locked in the truck parked outside a home in San Antonio after residents heard pounding and yelling.

THE HUNTERS — Dimes are dropped on the I-J circulation office counter and the want-ads quickly pulled from the paper as eager housing hunters hope this will be the day they find a home. Experienced searchers say there are only about four a week to look at. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

MARIN'S DAILY HUNT

I-J Press Time Sparks Scramble For Scarce Inexpensive Rentals

By JOANNE GRANT

They are quietly searching for inexpensive houses or apartments and if diligence were worth anything all of them would have homes.

Their major problem is money. Most would prefer under $90 a month, unless they are sharing the rental with someone. Then, the rent should average out to about $50 each.

Most Marin real estate firms handle rentals, but several said they rarely have anything for under $100.

Right now, even the real estate firms have few apartments available at any price, a random survey by the Independent-Journal indicated.

Just before press time each day the budget house hunters gather in the Independent-Journal circulation office waiting for the new issue and hopefully, new ads.

When the papers come in, they turn immediately to the rental housing ads and the race is on.

Some have been in the running for a month and are no closer now than when they started.

Michael O'Connor, a College of Marin student who has been living with friends, is one who has been searching a month.

He leaned against the circulation desk and recounted his experience looking for either a one-bedroom apartment or a larger one to share with friends, preferably in Mill Valley.

He said his age — 21 — is against him. "They think it means alcohol and loud stereos," he explained.

Suitable sounding places are snapped up quickly, O'Connor said. He said he has called within five minutes after the paper comes out and they've been rented.

A San Francisco Theological Seminary student from New York, Paul Herskovits and his wife, have also been looking for a month — trying to find an "under-$100 cottage" in Fairfax or San Anselmo.

"We've been running through the woods looking for 'for rent' signs," Mrs. Herskovits said.

She reported finding lots of places empty, with 'for sale' signs. "I wonder how long they sit there?"

"There are just not enough rentals in Marin County," explained Lisa McKinnie from her waiting place — a step in the circulation department.

She said she started looking for an apartment under $90 but after a couple of weeks of fruitless searching, changed to a house, to rent with friends.

That search has been going on for two weeks, too, with the possibilities consistently melting away within minutes after she reads about them.

She said one difficulty is coming up with the first and last months' rent, plus a cleaning deposit required by most landlords.

Judy Axt, who attends nursing school in San Francisco, has only been looking a few days.

Like Lisa McKinnie, she is looking in Mill Valley or Sausalito for easier commuting to San Francisco.

She said she is finding "the rent is too high for what they are," in the places she's seen.

The number of housing hunters at the I-J office range from 10 to several dozen.

Yesterday's group of about 12 had a total of 58 rentals to choose from, but only about six of those came close to meeting their requirements.

Three months ago, 113 rentals were listed. About a dozen were under $100.

Candidates Due

Michael Wornum of Mill Valley and Donald J. O'Leary of Tiburon, candidates for Marin County supervisor from the Third District, will talk and answer questions at a meeting of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Tamalpais Valley Elementary School.

Vatican Calls For Dialogue With Atheists—Even Reds

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican called on all Christians today to promote open talks with atheists—including Communists—to meet the needs of a "humanity come of age."

The appeal, made in a 5,700-word document by the Vatican's Secretariat for Non-Believers, invited Anglicans, Protestants, Moslems and Jews to collaborate with Roman Catholicism in establishing dialogues with all those who do not believe in God."

Coming after a history of official Catholic distrust of contacts with athiests, the new Vatican stand marked a major change in policy. It was seen as a significant victory for progressive prelates in the hierarchy and for theologians who view the Church's awareness of truth as evolving instead of being fixed.

In a news conference to present the document Franziskus Cardinal Koenig, archbishop of Vienna and president of the secretariat, declared: "Let me stress that the very existence of the secretariat indicates a new approach in the Church's way of proceeding, less preoccupied with defending her position than with meeting the grave problems of the modern world."

But the document emphasized such a dialogue program was not specifically directed toward making converts. It said that "even if each of the interlocutors may legitimately aim at persuading the other of the value of his own position, dialogue is not of its nature directed toward this end, but rather toward a mutual enrichment."

Although the document, containing guidelines for dialogue between Catholics and nonbelievers, applies to dialogue with Communists, there is only one specific reference to Communists in the 32-page directive.

It says: "Greater difficulties arise in dialogue with those Marxists who adhere to Communism because of the intimate connection which they establish between theory and practice."

It advised Catholics to be thoroughly drilled on the subject for discussion and not "imprudently endanger one's personal adherence to the faith."

Dialogue between believers and nonbelievers, it continued, "can be brought to bear on all subjects accessible to human reason, such as for example philosophy, religion, politics, ethics, sociology, economics, the arts, and culture in general."

These dialogues could be either private or public, but for public discussions the secretariat advised against "excessive publicity and the presence of an audience not sufficiently well informed."

"As a rule, then, discussions among a few experts on both sides will prove more profitable," it added.

"This collaboration in establishing dialogue with nonbelievers must also be extended to those who belong to the non-Christian religions, especially Jews and Moslems."

School Pays Farewell To Auto Victims

REDDING (AP) — Enterprise High School's flag was at half staff today as the student body paid final tribute to five girls, including a former San Anselman killed in an auto accident while en route to a football game.

As the 1,500 students moved into their gymnasium for final rites, another service was being held in a church across the street for the junior college boy who drove the car which collided with a logging truck on a mountain road near this upper Sacramento Valley town of 15,000.

The girls—four of them cheerleaders — were killed Saturday while going to Susanville for a game against Lassen High School. Notified of the tragedy at half time, the team voted to continue the game since players believed the victims would want it that way. Enterprise won, 7-0.

The girls were Shelley Roberts, the former Marinite: Jennifer Brewen, Kathy Van Doren, Debbie Sue Johnson, and Donna Maddox, all 17. The male driver was Warren Martineau, 18.

The California Highway Patrol said Martineau's car sped around a blind curve at 70 miles per hour, passed another vehicle and skidded into the path of a 15-ton truck-trailer rig.

Arab Ex-Envoy Faces Charges

Queen Asks Editors Not To Run Pictures

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II has asked British editors to refrain from publishing "personal and intimate" photographs which appeared today in a French news magazine, Buckingham Palace said.

The 16 black and white photographs include six of the queen sitting up in bed in the royal bedroom. In four she is holding infant Prince Edward, born in 1964.

It was understood in London before publication of the magazine, Paris Match, that some pictures showed her nursing the infant, but no such pictures appeared.

"The queen has requested that because of the very personal and intimate nature of the photographs they should not be shown in this country," said a palace spokesman.

"No one at the palace has any idea how they came to be available to the French magazine."

A Paris Match spokesman in London said the photographs were "in perfect taste."

He said the photos appeared to have been taken by an amateur, and sources close to the royal court regarded it as inconceivable that any professional cameraman would have been present at such intimate family moments.

There was immediate speculation that the pictures were made by members of the royal family and belong to the queen's private album.

Besides the set showing the queen sitting up in bed, one set of five are labled as including Queen Elizabeth and Queen Ingrid of Denmark at "an intimate reception." The other blurred figures are said to include King Constantine and Queen Anne-Marie of Greece, Don Juan Carlos of Spain and Queen Mother Frederika of Greece. Most of the figures are standing holding cups.

A third set of five show the queen in coat and head scarf; Prince Andrew and Princess Anne standing up against what appears to be a stone garage; the queen's husband, Prince Philip, in a swim suit; Prince Charles holding two large fish; Charles and Andrew in a plastic wading pool, and Edward, with his nurse, Andrew, Charles and Anne.

The royal request not to publish the photographs in Britain is not binding on editors, but they would be likely to respect it out of courtesy to the monarch.

Star Forfeits Traffic Bail

MALIBU (UPI)—Actor Burt Lancaster forfeited $65 bail yesterday rather than pay a $30 fine for driving 65 miles an hour in a 45 m.p.h. zone.

Lancaster, 54, was cited Sept. 23 on the Pacific Coast Highway near here.

He spent the night in jail after he refused to sign the ticket or post bond. He changed his mind in the morning, paid the bail and was released.

The Automobile Club of Southern California said the actor called its Santa Monica office last week and asked if he had to appear in court. The club checked with the court and advised Lancaster he could forfeit the bail instead of appearing to pay the $30 fine.

The California Committee to Legalize Abortion will meet at 8:15 p.m. Oct. 8 at Pacific Day School, Mill Valley, for a rally and organizational get-together.

The committee is also planning a debate on the constitutionality of antiabortion laws to be held Nov. 21 at Olney Hall, College of Marin. An American Civil Liberties Union representative will be one speaker; the other is to be announced.

'A RISK' FOR PEACE

Humphrey Shifts Toward Bomb Halt

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says if elected president he would stop the bombing of North Vietnam as an "acceptable risk" for peace if Hanoi showed willingness to restore the demilitarized zone.

In his first paid nationwide television broadcast last night, and speaking from Salt Lake City before flying here, the Democratic presidential candidate said:

"As president, I would stop the bombing of the North as an acceptable risk for peace because I believe it could lead to success in the negotiations and a shorter war. This would be the best protection for our troops."

Humphrey placed a qualification on his proposed bombing halt, saying that before taking action he would "place key importance on evidence—direct or indirect, by deed or word—of Communist willingness to restore the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam."

His language suggested this was a specific condition but Humphrey aides insisted it was only one example of possible steps Hanoi could take or signal —directly or indirectly—as the pathway to halt the already-limited bombing of North Vietnam.

Humphrey added that "if the government of North Vietnam were to show bad faith, I would reserve the right to resume the bombing."

In Washington, a spokesman for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, whose opposition to the war propelled him into position was Humphrey's chief rival for the nomination, said McCarthy would have no comment on the speech.

But Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, whose late brother, Robert, was another Humphrey rival for Democratic nomination, sent a congratulatory telegram. He wired Humphrey:

"To all who look for peace in Vietnam, you have given great encouragement and hope. To all who seek new and more constructive directions in American foreign policy in the nuclear age, you have taken a position of distinct leadership."

Because of his position as Vice President, and presumably some sense of loyalty to President Johnson—not to mention his own past statements in support of the Vietnam War—Humphrey stopped short of saying flatly that he would stop the bombing of North Vietnam if elected president.

But some of his most confidential advisers went to considerable length to present the case that, in fact, the Democratic candidate is for the total bombing halt that Vietnam doves have been advocating.

And they served up the Kennedy telegram as a sort of certificate that Humphrey indeed was for a bombing halt.

As his speech was written, Humphrey was to have said, "I would be willing to stop the bombing of the North if elected." In speaking, he strengthened the language to say, "I would stop the bombing."

HUBERT HUMPHREY

On other major points, the vice president said:

"The ultimate key to an honorable solution must be free elections in South Vietnam," with the Viet Cong and other dissident groups allowed to participate if "they were willing to abide by peaceful processes."

"I would propose once more an immediate cease-fire—with the United Nations or other international supervision—and supervised withdrawal of all foreign forces from South Vietnam.

"I would sit down with the leaders of South Vietnam to set a specific timetable by which American forces could be systematically reduced while South Vietnamese forces took over more and more of the burden." He said he thought this would be possible next year.

Humphrey said he would apply the lesson of Vietnam, as he put it, and, with a set of fresh advisers, review "other commitments made in other times" to determine which should be retained in the national interest.

In remarks prepared for a courthouse rally in Nashville, Humphrey once again challenged Richard Nixon to meet him in open debate, saying:

"The American people aren't going to buy Brand X in 1968—I think it's time to strip off the wrapper and see what's underneath."

NIXON

DETROIT (AP) — Republican congressional leaders, in a statement relayed by Richard M. Nixon, said today that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's qualified support of a halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam is politically motivated and should be disregarded.

The Republican presidential nominee himself withheld comment on Humphrey's pronouncement until later today, but indicated he was not about to temper his opposition to a bombing halt without some reciprocal move by the Communists.

Nixon talked by telephone with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and then issued in their behalf this response to Humphrey:

"We conclude that his 'new' policies have only a partisan motivation and purpose and should be so regarded and therefore disregarded."

Nixon said Dirksen and Ford told him that in numerous White House conferences on Vietnam "we have never heard the vice president advocate the policies he advocated this evening — never."

On that basis, the Republican leaders said they concluded that Humphrey had partisan motivation.

They asked that Nixon make public their statement.

While he avoided immediate comment on the Humphrey statement, Nixon said "no" when a reporter asked whether he had changed his own position on the bombing issue. He was here last night for another series of his question and answers sessions.

WALLACE

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Third party candidate George C. Wallace stumped today through Michigan, a state he predicts he will win in November if the mail he has received from Michigan voters is an accurate indication.

"If we get as many votes as we have letters, we'll win in Michigan, Wallace told newsmen.

Wallace was greeted by a crowd of more than 1,000 persons when he arrived at Grand Rapids, first of four scheduled stops in the state.

A few anti-Wallace placards were spotted in the crowd, but the overwhelming majority were Wallace supporters. However, he was later greeted by anti-Wallace signs and hecklers during his speech.

The candidate, who campaigned in Chicago yesterday, was to speak in Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Lansing and Flint today.

Wallace spoke to 10,000 persons at an open-air rally in Cicero, a western suburb of Chicago last night.

Earlier yesterday, he was greeted by Chicagoans who lined the sidewalks of State Street during the noon hour to see the former Alabama governor. Police estimated the crowd at 50,000.

Wallace disputed the report that the crowd numbered only 50,000.

"I saw acres and acres of people out there. That's how we measure in Alabama," he joked.

AGNEW

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew urged bankers today to recruit Negroes actively and train them for jobs in their businesses even though the cost might prove considerably greater than if they hired other persons.

In a speech prepared for the American Bankers Association, the Republican vice-presidential nominee said Negroes "cannot simply be invited to come around for a job interview. They must be wooed. They must be actively recruited, often in their own neighborhoods."

The Maryland governor said private business must enter the social action field because government "cannot possibly do the job alone."

A Soviet Trade Bloc Call Made By Reagan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan said last night America and other nations should have "quarantined" the Soviet Union over its invasion of Czechoslovakia.

At a $250-$-plate Republican fund-raising dinner Reagan told more than 400 persons:

"We waited for a voice from our capitol, a voice with the honest anger we wanted to hear. We heard only a whimper."

Reagan said he was not suggesting that America move troops to the border of Czechoslovakia, but, he added, "we could ask the nations of the free world beholden to us in part for their freedom and their economic well-being to join us in quarantining Russia's borders.

"We could have said to the Soviet Union, unless and until you withdraw your troops from Czechoslovakia, there will be no trade, there will be no communication across your borders."

The governor was interrupted by the loudest applause of the evening at that point.

Earlier in his speech Reagan blamed the last eight years of Democratic administration for the increase in crime in the streets, poverty, inflation, the decay of American cities and America's foreign problems.

In pointed references to the Democratic national convention, Reagan said the Democrats promised that there would be "a new day" and he added "you wonder who had been in charge of the old day."

Reagan blamed the Democrats for "big city bosses, politics in the convention hall and rioting in the streets outside that hall."

Reagan was introduced by Republican U.S. Senate candidate Max Rafferty for whose campaign treasury the dinner was given. Rafferty called Reagan "America's greatest public speaker."

Demo Claims Texas Money For Rafferty

Cranston identified two of Rafferty's backers as Texas oilman H. L. Hunt and Richard A. Viguerie of Washington, D.C. who he said does mail advertising for right-wing groups.

Speaking at a campaign fund-raising dinner last night, Cranston said Rafferty has "wealthy forces behind him who are as free with their money as Rafferty is with the truth."

Cranston said Rafferty "insults the intelligence of California's by describing the deep problems of our society in vile and vulgar slogans which indiscriminately and callously smear entire groups of people."

At an earlier news conference Cranston had said Rafferty's statement accusing Cranston of "treason" was an example of his smear tactics.

"Now the people of California can see how wild and unreliable this man really is," Cranston said.

Rafferty had said Saturday that Cranston comes dangerously close to advocating "a policy not only of national suicide but of national treason" because he urged a halt to bombing over North Vietnam.

Striking Longshoremen Halt Most East Shipping

NEW YORK (UPI)—Striking longshoremen on the Atlantic Coast today brought ocean-going shipping to a virtual halt from Maine to Texas except for vital military cargoes.

About 75,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association set up picket lines on docks from Portland, Me., to Brownsville, Tex., despite the invoking of the Taft-Hartley Act yesterday by President Johnson.

The giant port of New York was brought to a near standstill with luxury liner passengers handling their own luggage.

Many areas affected by the East Coast work stoppage saw the strike coming and cleared their ports before the strike call. Only two vessels were left in port in Brownsville, Tex., and only about eight foreign registry ships were affected in the giant Hampton Roads, Va., port.

The ILA, as is its custom, excempted military cargo and ships in several ports where they were being loaded with war material.

In Beaumont, Tex., two military ships entered the channel today and another was standing by off the port. A union spokesman at the nearly deserted port said, "We do not expect any delay in the loading of ships taking on military cargo."

KRON Staffers Out On Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Engineers, studio technicians and outside cameramen at KRON-TV went on strike at midnight yesterday but the station remained on the air.

The striking workers are members of Local 202 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Red Talks Stall On Czech Issue

BUDAPEST (UPI)—Disagreement among the world's Communist parties over the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia today forced a six-week recess of a conference of 58 of the world's Communist parties.

The conference began meetings yesterday to prepare for a World Congress of Communist parties in Moscow Nov. 25. It ended its deliberations after only two brief sessions.

Informed delegation sources said the group agreed to meet again Nov. 17. The date of the next meeting of the preparatory committee made it almost certain the world summit meeting of Nov. 25 would have to be postponed.

THAT TIGER IN HIS TANK JUST JAGUAR

A San Rafael woman, worried about her neighbor's strange, large pet which she thought was a tiger, asked police to investigate last night.

They found Willi Ernest Weber of 3 Park Ridge Road did indeed have an unusual pet — only it was a jaguar, not a tiger.

Weber told officers he was trying to nurse back to health the 200-pound cat named Suki.

He said he is an amateur animal trainer and got the jaguar from a Mill Valley filling station. He told police Suki had been de-fanged, de-clawed and neutered and his vocal chords fixed so he couldn't roar.

Weber said the animal is kept in a steel cage so people won't hurt it. Another neighbor supported Weber, telling police she lets her children play with and feed Suki.

Draft Center Hit By Bomb

MADISON, Wis., (AP) — The Wisconsin state Selective Service headquarters was firebombed last night and some draft records destroyed,officials said today.

Col. Bentley Courtenay, state Selective Service director, said he believed the incident was connected to one in Milwaukee last week in which records were taken from a draft office and burned. Fourteen antiwar protestors, most of them Roman Catholic priests, were arrested.

"I can't disassociate the two," Courtenay said.

The director said Justice Department agents were called in to investigate the matter.

The state headquarters here were doused with gasoline about midnight and a rope was used as a fuse to start the fire, police reported.

Project 17 Facilities Requested By Council

with walkways, grass and trees and six hard surface vollyball-basketball courts.

City control over the recreation use of 3.5 acres of the Project 17 area now occupied by the Southern Marin Horseman's Association show ring until such time as the school district is ready to develop the property.

A core playing area of 70 by 80 feet at the multipurpose building with a 24-foot ceiling and appropriate facilities to provide one standard basketball court and two cross courts.

The council also agreed to urge the school board not to move the city's recreation center at the present time to save the district $20,000 in moving costs and to provide the city with another recreation facility on the middle school site.

School plans call for the building, constructed as a weekend citizen's volunteer project several years ago, to be moved across Sycamore Avenue to a site adjacent to the city's sewer treatment plant. In its place would be constructed a 95-car parking lot.

The school district has agreed to contribute $20,000 toward moving the building, or if that is unfeasible, the construction of a new recreational facility.

Mayor Dean N. Meyer last night said that while it might not be economically feasible to move the building, it still has 10 years of use in it on its present site.

Estimating the building would take up approximately 20 parking spaces, he suggested the district use the sewer treatment plant site for parking and the $20,000 in moving costs for building a larger core play area for the multipurpose building.

City Engineer Stanley M. Bala, noting the building would be several feet below the rest of the filled middle school site, said such a solution would be "aesthetically atrocious."

He added that while it is possible to move the building, it might cost more than the building is worth. He also said it would be impossible for the city to move the building by November, the deadline for starting to fill the middle school site.

However, councilmen and commissioners backed Meyer in urging that the problem of the building again be discussed with the district.

The council also agreed to suggest that the school district delete electrically controlled room dividers from the multipurpose building, saving the district up to about $70,000 in construction costs.

The building, and especially the height of the ceiling, has been a bone of contention between the city and school district during the entire recreation discussion.

City officials have fought for a 24-foot ceiling which would allow indoor recreational activities during the winter season while school officials have said an 18-foot ceiling is more than adequate.

"There is nothing we have asked for that's not necessary for the school children as well," Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos told the group.

He said his proposals had been enthusiastically endorsed by the district's physical education staff which has also written to the school board asking an adequate multipurpose building be constructed.

The school district wants to divide it up into four 25-foot rooms for folk dancing and yoga. That's not adequate for sixth-eighth graders during the rainy weather," Dimitratos said.

Parks and Recreation Commissioner Richard J. Young, an architect, estimated that the most modest multipurpose building proposed by the architects, estimated to cost $216,000, could be made adquate for recreation needs for an additional $27,000. District officials have estimated it would cost an additional $70,000, mainly because of the electric partitions.

Art Commissioner Sali Lieberman urged the city to ask for a larger stage area in the multipurpose building, noting that the planned 20-foot stage should be at least 40 feet deep.

The council agreed to note its concern over the size of the stage but not to ask for a larger one.

A proposal to request tennis courts at the middle school was dropped because of wind conditions on the site.

On the only other item on the agenda, the council agreed to urge the board of supervisors to submit the Richardson Bay master plan to the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission for immediate consideration.

The supervisors three weeks ago agreed not to submit the plan until negotiations for the deposit of spoils called for in the plan had been complete.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon told the council that such an approach would further delay the dredging of the Saucelito Canal and development of the city's proposed yacht harbor for at least another year.

Bench Warrant Seeks Woman

A bench warrant was issued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for Dana Teresa Burchett, 21, of Piedmont, when she failed to appear for preliminary hearing on charges of receiving stolen property, forgery, and possessing a completed travelers check with intent to defraud.

Miss Burchett was arrested Aug. 20 in San Anselmo when she allegedly tried to pass $200 in travelers checks which police said were part of a $180,000 shipment stolen in transit from New York in July.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. ordered her $6,250 bail forfeited and set new bail at $5,000.

GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE

Putting-you-firsts:

Headlight washers

You push the windshield washer knob and hold it, and what happens?
Your headlights come clean.
The spray is strong. It removes up to 80% of accumulated dirt.
The feature is standard on 1969 Corvettes.
It comes with the hidden headlights available on Camaro, Caprice and Kingswood Estate Wagons.
It is available on all other models except Corvair.
Be the first on your block.

Heated glass

In a moment your rear window will self-defrost.
Because we've built onto it a network of tiny ceramic strips capable of heating the entire surface.
Fog and frost disappear quickly and quietly.
You just flick a switch.
The heated rear window is available on the 1969 Caprice Coupe and Impala Custom Coupe.

Pushbutton tire chains

This is ingenious, if we do say so ourselves.
You press a button on the instrument panel and the rear tires get a shot of "liquid tire chain."
You spin your wheels once, wait a moment, and you're off—with traction you wouldn't believe possible on slick ice, or packed snow.
A pressurized container sits up under each rear wheelhousing, and holds about 15 applications.
Which could get you through several winters in some parts of the country.
(Several weeks in others.)
Available on all 1969 big Chevrolets.

Steering wheel lock

When you own a car as desirable as the 1969 Chevrolet, you don't take chances.
When you leave it, you lock it.
Not just the doors.
Our new lock on the steering column takes care of all that.
So even if somebody manages to break in and cross the wires, he'll have a hard time going anywhere.
Standard on all 1969 Chevrolets, Chevelles, Chevy Novas, Camaros and Corvettes.
Sorry, car thieves.

Variable-ratio power steering.
And with no increase in effort on your part.
(And without giving up that nice firm feel on straightaways.)
Variable-ratio power steering is particularly helpful in short, full turns.
And parking becomes unbelievably easy.
You'll see.

Walk-in wagons

Which in itself is no big deal.
But wait, there's more.
We've built a concealed step into the rear bumper.
You simply step up, over, and in.
(The way we build our wagons, you can do it without bumping your head, and without acrobatics.)
Walk into a wagon soon at your Chevrolet dealer's.

CHIC FASHIONS

Gone Are The Days Of Dreary Maternity Clothes

By JOAN LISETOR

"I am so excited about the baby, but I can't stand the thought of getting fat and having to wear those dreary maternity clothes."

Those are often the words of first-time expectant mothers upon entering a maternity shop before they see the latest in maternity fashions.

In making the rounds of maternity shops and maternity departments of department stores in the Bay Area we have been impressed at how far the fashions have come from the days of the dreary smock. The mother-to-be can have a wardrobe as chic as she had before she became pregnant and can start wearing the clothes as soon as she desires without anyone guessing they are maternity clothes.

MANY MATERNITY styles have expansion side seams that release inches of extra fabric with the pull of a stitch. They expand as mother does. Even more revolutionary is the inner belt, which is attached from seam-to-seam and draws the fullness to the back of the dress, almost nipping in at the waist. This belt can be pulled as tight as desired or let out all the way.

"Oh, the thought of those capri pants with open holes in front and all those strings to tie. . . ." Future mother, you have not seen the new maternity pants. Some have a dyed-to-match stretch fabric panel for over the tummy, and others are made of an all around stretch fabric with no panel at all.

We noticed that maternity tops (never called smocks) were longer and were told that this year's tops are three inches longer than ever before.

"The women look more graceful in a longer top," explains the manager of a local maternity shop. "The short tops made them look cut-off, where the extra three inches allows for a slimmer, more proportionate look. The longer line is also more concealing," she adds.

THE REVOLUTION in styling has been influenced and stimulated by maternity wear designers, who suffered for years at the barbs and disapproving comments of observers of the fashion scene. The critics' complaints that good looking maternity fashions were not available forced designers to learn the knack of capturing the look of the contemporary young woman of fashion, with all her grace and chic and translate it into maternity wear. Manufacturers are now able to turn out clothes that keep pace with current trends for around-the clock - wearing, from early morning leisure to after-five glamour.

"Women should not skimp on a maternity wardrobe," says the representative of a leading maternity manufacturer. "That is the time in her life she should look the prettiest for her husband and her own ego. Let's face it, most women only wear a dress for one season, so the life of a maternity dress is just as long as non-maternity."

We were also impressed by the versatility of the clothes. There are many co-ordinated outfits available as well as jumpers that can be worn with or without a blouse and dresses that can be dressed up or down with ease with accessories of jewelry or scarves.

MATERNITY LINGERIE manufacturers are working at a rapid pace to keep up with the manufacturers of maternity outer garments in their race to be current with the fashion world. They are making shorter slips, pettipants and girdles so the under garments will not show under the shorter skirts.

"They are making them so pretty," a salesgirl says, "that it is a shame they have to be hidden."

"Maternity manufacturers, what took you so long?" we asked.

One manufacturer replied, "We needed the genius of a Dior and the expertise of a construction engineer to design for the girl who might gain 30 pounds by her ninth month. We

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Girl Loses Interest, Wants Out But Doesn't Know What To Do

DEAR HELEN:

Last year I went out with a certain fellow about five times. Each time I found him less interesting. Finally I ended it by telling him I was serious about someone else.

Recently his mother called my mother. She was very upset because Bill was going with a girl out of his religious faith, simply because she looked like me. She asked if I would please date him again.

I am a very selfish person. This is the first time I am really concerned for someone else's feelings, perhaps because I too felt that way about a boy once.

Should I go out with Bill, knowing I can never love him, or would it hurt him all the more? Seems terrible to push down the first unselfish thought I've ever had.—U.F.

DEAR U:

This is strictly I.G.A.P. ("I'm Guessing Again Perception"), but isn't it possible Bill's mother fears he'll get serious about a girl of another faith and has chosen you for a romance-wrecker?

Find a better subject for your first unselfish gesture. Otherwise several people might be hurt, including yourself.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

You have had letters about "What is a Boyfriend, Girlfriend, Grandmother, Father?" etc. Now I would like to give you my version of

What Is a Big Sister ? . . .

A big sister is someone who does your hair when you go to a party with a special date. She understands you when you aren't understood by anyone else. She helps you with your homework when you can't figure it out. She takes your part in fights against your brother. She takes you for rides in her convertible. She never forgets your birthday and always buys you a gift with her allowance, but most of all she's your best friend who helps and loves you. —LITTLE SISTER

DEAR LITTLE SISTER:

A lot of little sisters are probably wondering right now, "How did she get so lucky?" Bet it took considerable effort, empathy, and affection on both sides! Wish more brothers and sisters had your recipe.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

The kids are already talking about the big proms. Helen, do you think it's necessary to rent a car, or hire a limousine to take a girl to the Senior Prom when you have a 1960 model of your own?—THINKING BROKE

DEAR T.B.:

I think that's the silliest thing I ever heard of—but you'd be surprised how many members of the affluent generation don't agree with me. They've caught the "new rich" idea: If it costs a lot, it's got class. —H.

Kitchen Now A Paradise

American maledom, with its passion for gadgetry and improved materials, has turned the modern kitchen into a paradise of convenience and efficiency that only a few years ago would have been far beyond the "Little Woman's" wildest imagination.

Self-cleaning ovens, self-defrosting refrigerators, built-in hot plates and ovens, dishwashers, automatic stirrers, towel dispensers, roll-out cabinets, and broad use of decorative but practical materials like ceramic tile on backsplashes, floors and countertops have kept the kitchen technologically apace with the astronaut's capsule.

While the modern kitchen may make cooking a dream of ease, though, it's still often thought of as a "back-of-the-house" place where the cook's isolation is about as complete as the astronaut's in his capsule. That may have been all right when the cook was a hired outsider, but today's housewife-mother-cook usually finds her isolation a frustrating experience.

So, when planning a house, builders should not plan location of the kitchen solely for the convenience of the delivery man, milkman, garbage collector. The kitchen should be placed where it will be easiest for the cook — to be a part of family activities in the "activity" areas of the house.

learned to make allowances for expanding bustlines and armholes that are roomier so the fabric does not cut under the arm as the expectant mother fills out the dress in front. We also learned that by cutting our dresses longer in the front and tapering them at the sides when the woman expands, she picks up the extra fabric and the hemline evens out.

"I suppose it took us longer because our field is so much broader. Most designers specialize, but the maternity designer runs the gamut of imagination in styling: pantsuits, laces for after-five, bathing suits, coat and dress ensembles, sportswear coordinates and practical everyday street wear."

MOST EXPECTANT mothers continue a busy, active life during their pregnancies. There is no longer a need to for them to hide themselves from the public eye when the tummy begins to bulge because the maternity clothes of today conceal the bulge and reveal their condition in a graceful manner.

In the current issue of Mothers-To-Be and Infant Care magazine several of the leading maternity manufacturers were asked what they considered their prime responsibility in designing clothes for the expectant mother of today.

The consensus was to provide clothes that will fit her busy existence and are geared to the expectant mothers who work.

Nun Becomes A U.N. Delegate

By DAVID ROSENZWEIG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — She wears tailored suits, nylon stockings and high heels and in diplomatic circles prefers being called "madame" or "professor" to her other title as Sister Ghislaine Roquet. She is the first nun to serve as a delegate to the U.N. General Assembly.

A Canadian representative to the 23rd assembly session, Sister Ghislaine believes that nuns, like American Negroes, have been wrongly stereotyped, one group by color and the other by garb.

"WE'RE SUPPOSED to be all of the same cut. Well, we're not and you must learn that nuns, too, are individuals, with personal convictions like anyone else," she said in an interview at the Canadian mission offices.

Her speech is usually soft, calm and deliberate—as might befit the stereotype of a sister of the Holy Cross Order—but on matters that seem to touch her most deeply her voice quickens and her large green eyes sparkle.

Like many diplomats attending the session, she is only a part-time envoy. She will return to her post as chairman of the philosophy department at Montreal's Basile-Moreau College when the assembly winds up at the end of this year.

Her first act of diplomacy after her appointment was choosing a convenient title for herself. No one in the Canadian Foreign Ministry raised the subject, but she decided she didn't want to be addressed as "sister" during her diplomatic tour. It might seem she was mixing religion and international politics.

"Madame," is a term the French often use in addressing distinguished Roman Catholic sisters.

But then it might be translated literally into English form— as Mrs. She has settled on "professor" as a first choice.

THOUGH SHE is the first nun to sit in the General Assembly, Sister Ghislaine is not the first religious personage in that role. One of the best known was the Rev. J. C. Beaufort, a Roman Catholic priest, who represented the Netherlands from 1945 until his death in 1965.

Careful to distinguish her job as a representative of the Canadian government here and her life work as a nun, Sister Ghislaine speaks her mind freely on the ferment going on inside the Church and the Vatican's role in international affairs.

Until a decade ago, she said, the Church was widely viewed as an international political organization in its own right and a meddler in national policies of certain countries.

Pope John XXIII started the Church on the road away from that image with his 1963 Pacem in Terris encyclical, calling for the creation of a kind of world government encompassing all nations and suggesting that the United Nations serve as its cornerstone, she explained. Pope Paul VI "put the seal" on that course by his historic visit to the United Nations, she said.

SHE ACKNOWLEDGES that the Church's role as a moral force in international relations is restricted in the face of big-power politics—"Vietnam is a good example"—but believes there is still plenty of room for action within established international organizations.

"I don't want to prophesy," she said, "But I think it would be a logical development for the Church to funnel its aid to the needy people of the world through organizations such as the United Nations."

She welcomes the often controversial drive by young priests and nuns—she counts herself among them—to speak out on individual matters of conscience even in the face of opposition from established authority.

"Very often there is going to be confusion over this," she said, "but I respect the right of the Church to speak for itself and I reserve the right to speak for myself. We must learn to look at priests and sisters as private citizens and as private citizens they are entitled to personal convictions."

But she deplores dissent through violence, and says priests who helped burn draft records recently at Selective Service offices in Milwaukee acted out of line.

In Canada, Sister Ghislaine earned a measure of prominence as a peacemaker while a member of a commission that worked five years to revamp the public education system in Quebec.

She also learned something about diplomacy from her brother, Claude Roquet, who is chief of the West European desk in the Canadian Foreign Ministry.

Barbecuing

The secret of success in barbecuing is a good bed of coals, white hot without flames. You can reduce the heat by raising the grill or rotisserie, by spacing the coals wider apart, or occassionally sprinkling water on the coals. The University of Nebraska Home Extension Service says low to moderate temperatures give the best cooking results.

Policeman Defended In Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "An officer has the right to defend himself," Police Chief Thomas Cahill said in absolving a white policeman who shot a Negro mechanic to death during a scuffle after a minor traffic accident.

All information obtained from an investigation into Sunday's shooting will be turned over to the coroner's jury, Cahill said yesterday.

The victim was identified as George Baskett, 28, one of several persons gathered at the accident scene, an alley in a predominently Negro neighborhood near the Hall of Justice.

Police said patrolmen William O'Brien, 27, and Willis Garriott, 24, were moving their 15-foot boat into a garage. Carl Hawkins, 49, complained he was forced to drive onto the sidewalk and scraped the boat trailer's fender.

Mrs. Hawkins appeared at the scene with a pistol, police said, and fired at O'Brien but missed. The crowd gathered at the scene, knocked O'Brien down and disarmed him.

As Garriott summoned aid, officers said, O'Brien retrieved his gun as Baskett began hitting him on the head with a stick. The gun accidentally discharged, and the bullet struck Baskett in the chest, police said.

Hawkins was charged with assault with a deadly weapon. His wife, her son, Richard Dickerson, and Otis Baskett, the victim's brother, were charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

Sgt. Sunshine Asks Pension For Injury

A city retirement board said yesterday that Bergess, 36, on the force 12 years, contended that a year ago he fell and hit his head on a City Prison bench while changing his pants.

Bergess also said that a month later he suffered a "relapse of reality" from that head injury and fell off a ladder, breaking his wrist. He had been getting disability pay until two weeks ago.

Last April, Bergess was charged with smoking marijuana on the Hall of Justice steps and was subsequently dismissed from the police force.

In July, he was arrested during a disturbance in the Haight-Ashbury hippie area.

The retirement board will decide on whether Bergess will get the pension after the state Workmen's Compensation Board determines the degree of his claimed injury.

Mrs. Edgington Asks Divorce

H. Joe Edgington, superintendent of Reed Union School District, has been sued for divorce by his wife, Leola J. Edgington.

The suit, charging Edgington with cruelty, asks custody of the couple's two daughters, Teresa, 16, and Cynthia, 8, and asks for a division of community property and support for Mrs. Edgington and the children pending settlement.

The Edgingtons, of 22 Apollo Road, Tiburon, were married in June, 1950, in Missouri. He was named Reed superintendent in 1966.

Inmates Acquitted Of Assault Charges

A Marin Superior Court jury has acquitted two San Quentin Prison inmates charged with assault on a fellow prisoner.

The jury returned shortly after midnight Saturday with the verdict clearing Glen H. Thomas, 29, and James R. Arthur, 26, of the charge of throwing boiling water at Raymond Brozovich Dec. 10, then jabbing him in the left eye with a broom handle.

Cal Expo Woes Spark Management Shakeup

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Officials of Cal Expo have decapitated half of the "two-headed monstrosity" which they say caused the revamped state fair and exposition to be such a box office failure this year.

By a 14-4 vote yesterday, the executive committee of the exposition voted to abolish the nonprofit management company which ran the pioneer venture, and was on the verge of firing General Mgr. Eugene R. Lemmon when he resigned.

The action came after Robert L. Herman, secretary-treasurer of the now extinct California Fair and Exposition Corp., gave some dismal attendance and revenue figues in a memorandum to the corporation's board of directors.

Herman said attendance during the 58-day first run at what is eventually to become a $34 million site was 561,925, compared with an anticipated attendance of 1,445,730. Sixty per cent of the attendance was during the 16-day state fair.

The lower attendance converted into a $1,028,252 difference in the actual gate revenue and what had been forecast.

Herman also said preliminary figures show Cal Expo brought in $2,104,000 less than the $4,215,255 which had been projected.

As planned, Cal Expo is not expected to become self-supporting for several years.

Named to replace Lemmon was Thomas E. Bair, chief of the fairs and exposition division of the State Department of Agriculture. Bair accepted the job for no more than two years, saying he wanted to return to his state job as soon as a permanent replacement is found.

Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. is president of San Rafael Board of Education.

Employment Freeze Due Trustee Study

A proposal to place a freeze on personnel employment in the Reed School District will be discussed by the board at 8 p.m. today at Reed School.

Also scheduled is a report on the Reed School program and a discussion of the proposed Watson Amendment (proposition 9) on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Soaring Auto Labor Costs For Small Jobs Attacked

DETROIT (UPI)—Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., told auto engineers today that consumers were getting tired of chrome-shiny cars designed in such a way that it costs $74 in labor just to replace an $8 part.

In a speech prepared for a Detroit meeting of the American Association of Automotive Engineers, Hart said the Senate subcommittee on antitrust and monopoly had just finished a six-month investigation of the auto repair industry.

The subcommittee, headed by Hart, may hold hearings on the subject later this year.

"Consumers are no longer happy merely to have the biggest, chromiest, coolest car parked in their driveway to the envy of the Joneses," Hart said.

"They are becoming more concerned with quality, durability, dependability, ease of maintenance—in short a very full value for their doll.

"Most consumers have encountered the situation where the labor bill may be $74 to replace an $8 part. Couldn't this be overcome by design?"

Hart also complained about Detroit auto bumpers designed for show rather than protection, and hidden headlights that may be sleek but cost more to repair.

The subcommittee also may hold hearings to determine whether Americans are overcharged, through price fixing or other methods in the estimated $10 billion a year they pay in auto repair bills.

Bench Warrant

A bench warrant for the arrest of Phillip James Butcher, 19, of Berkeley, was issued yesterday in Marin Superior Court when he failed to appear to plead to a charge of possessing marijuana April 8 in Novato. Bail of $1,000 was revoked and new bail of $2,500 set.

34 Killed In Crash Of Two Greek Trains

DERVENI, Greece (UPI)—Police said today an accidental yank on an emergency cord caused a speeding passenger train to ram another in a deep gorge Monday night. The wreck killed 34 persons and injured 90 others.

The derailed coaches were stacked up two and three deep in places at the bottom of the gorge, so deep and with sides so steep ambulances could not get in.

SAME TRACK

The trains had left Kyparyssia 10 minutes apart headed for Athens on the same track. The first train stopped in the gorge 31 miles northwest of the Corinth Canal when a woman accidentally pulled an emergency cord, police said.

The trains were filled with more than 1,000 persons returned to Athens after voting in Sunday's constitutional election in their hometowns in other parts of Greece.

Police said the conductor of the first train rushed to set out a red lantern at the rear of the stopped train. But the engineer of the second train failed to see it because of the curve in the tracks and it rammed the stalled train.

NORTHERN AREA

The accident occurred in northern Peloponnesus about 100 miles northwest of Athens.

Police said a woman passenger pulled the emergency cord because another woman fainted.

"It was like a giant hand stopping our train, like an earthquake shaking the land," said Ioannis Triantafyllou, a hotel worker returned to Athens from Messalonghi, where he had voted.

"We were crowded like sardines in a can," he said. "In the first train conditions were not any better."

"It was a gory scene, with metal torn and human bodies cut in pieces and blood all over," Triantafyllou said.

Levi Strauss Asks Patent Order Halt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Levi Strauss & Co., one of the nation's biggest garment makers, wants two subsidiaries of Koracorp Industries, Inc., restrained from enforcing two patents for making durable press clothing.

In a suit filed yesterday in U.S. District Court, Strauss said the subsidiaries, Koret of California and Koratron Co., violated the Sherman Antitrust Act by restraining and monopolizing trade in the durable press garment field.

The two patents should be voided, along with the license agreement between Strauss and the Koracorp subsidiaries, the petition states. Strauss also asked an award of treble damages to be determined by the court.

Strauss alleged Koratron failed to exercise promised quality control under the licensing agreement and entered into at least one secret agreement that placed other licensees at a disadvantage competitively.

Strauss alleged further that the patents are invalid because the process was known and published overseas before patent applications were received.

Injured Firemen Welcomed Home

Novato Fire Captain Richard Beyer, who was critically injured in a fire in Marinwood July 19, returned Friday to his home at 717 Cherry Street and a big welcome from his fellow firemen.

The firemen had painted a big sign, "Welcome Home Dick," and had the new snorkel truck on hand to greet him, said Fire Chief George Caballero. Beyer must still undergo many more weeks of physical therapy before he can return to the job, the chief said.

Cleaver To Begin U.C. Talks Today

BERKELEY (AP) — Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver was to start lecturing at the University of California this afternoon under original plans prohibited by the U.C. regents, says the Center for Participant Education.

That means he will lecture 10 times, on campus and for credit, despite a ruling by the board of regents that no guest lecturer can speak more than once.

The sponsoring center's declaration, which rejected a compromise offered by Chancellor Roger Heyns, was announced by a spokesman, Sam Kaplan, a sociology instructor.

Kaplan said Cleaver would give his opening lecture "somewhere on the campus," but he declined to specify.

The lecture was scheduled for 12:30 p.m.

Heyns suggested yesterday that Cleaver speak 10 times on the campus, but not for academic credit. "That would solve the free speech issue once and for all," he asserted.

Cleaver, charged with attempted murder in a shootout between his militant Negro organization and Oakland police, is free on bail while his attorney appeals the revocation of Cleaver's parole. He previously had been convicted of assault with a deadly weapon.

The center, an experimental organization formed following demands by the 1964 Free Speech Movement for more student political freedom, invited Cleaver to lecture on racism.

Regents voted last week against permitting him 10 lectures and the Academic Senate, the faculty's top legislative group, is scheduled to consider his case on Thursday.

Fill For High-Rise Due Test Thursday

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The master plan for San Francisco Bay adopted last month by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission will get its first test Thursday when the commission hears an application to fill almost 17 acres in Richardson Bay for a $25 million high-rise project.

The hearing will be at 2 p.m. in room 1194 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously Sept. 10 to approve the master plan for the project, proposed by Tom E. Nowell on 28 acres he owns at the south end of the Richardson Bay Bridge.

Nowell's prospects of BCDC approval were improved with commission adoption of the master plan, which specifically allows filling "for bay-oriented commercial-recreation and water-related" purposes that provide "new public access to the bay and for improvement of shoreline appearance." The commission's staff said Nowell's application undoubtedly will be considered in light of this provision.

Before the master plan was adopted, the project would have had to be shown necessary for the health, safety and welfare of the population of the entire Bay Area, or to not adversely affect the plan being prepared.

The master plan, however, stipulates that "a substantial portion of such projects must be built on existing land." Nowell's plan includes a 7.7 acre pier — or island — and a nine-acre island.

The supervisors, urged by Planning Director Paul C. Zucker to limit the proposed nine acre island to three acres, endorsed both, leaving the choice to the BCDC. The commission could approve or deny the fill application, or could modify Nowell's plan.

Nowell plans to dredge 233,000 cubic yards of mud from the bay.

The master plan for his project envisions an 850-room hotel "of approximately 16 stories," a 130-room motel with a tower "of spproximately 10 stories," and a "boatel-motel facility of approximately 450 rooms" up to four stories high. This total of 1,430 rooms compares with the county's present total of 960 to 970 rooms, according to the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

The project also includes a restaurant, cocktail lounge, shops, gas station, shoreline parkway and "transportation center" for boats and helicopters.

San Francisco Opera Honors Lotte Lehman

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wagnerian soprano Lotte Lehman, now 80, came back to the scene of her farewell to the stage Monday night and saw a performance of "Die Walkuere" in which she once starred.

She made her debut with the San Francisco opera in 1934. Her farewell to opera was in the San Francisco Opera performance of "Der Rosenkavalier" in 1946.

Priests' Birth Stand Brings Official Slap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle withdrew today the authority to exercise certain priestly functions from 39 Roman Catholic priests in the controversy over the birth control issue.

In the announcement issued by the Archdiocese of Washington, the cardinal said, "I am taking this step reluctantly and sadly."

O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington, said 31 of the priests are of his diocese, six are members of religious orders here and two are from other dioceses engaged in special work in national offices here.

The birth control dispute here goes back for weeks with originally 47 priests taking a dissenting stand on full acceptance of Pope Paul VI's encyclical banning use of artificial contraception.

O'Boyle said although some of these priests accept the encyclical, they insist on adding a qualifying sentence: "Spouses may responsibly decide according to their own conscience that artificial contraception in some circumstances is permissible and indeed necessary to preserve and foster the values and sacredness of marriage."

O'Boyle said nowhere in the encyclical does the Pope make any provision whatsoever for such an exception.

"Furthermore, some of these priests have created confusion and dissension among our faithful Catholic people by publicly airing and exposing their objections to this authentic teaching of the church," he added.

O'Boyle said he did not wish to coerce the consciences of the priests or of anyone else, "even if such a thing were possible."

"But that is not the issue," he contended. "No Catholic bishop can permit priests to act under his authority in a way that he conscientiously judges to be contrary to the church's authentic teaching."

Any citizen, as such, is free to say whatever he likes about the teachings of the Catholic Church, O'Boyle said.

"But we Catholics, as members of the Church," he added, "speak about and discuss the Church's teachings while accepting them, as Vatican II says, 'with religious submission of mind and will'."

O'Boyle said that if any priest thought his rights had not been fully respected, he could appeal to the Pope.

Irregularties In House Roll Calls To Be Checked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House ethics committee today ordered a preliminary investigation of published reports of roll call irregularities in the House.

The committee, officially known as the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, said the probe would be made by its staff members.

Thomas V. Cooke, the clerk responsible for entering members' votes in the official records, has been suspended.

The investigation was triggered after Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., said he was recorded as voting Sept. 9, 10 and 16, when he was in his home state.

"I asked Mr. Cooke the direct question how the discrepancy had occurred," wrote Pat Jennings, clerk of the House, in a report to Speaker John W. McCormack.

"He stated to me ... that he had marked Congressman Wilson as voting in order to 'help out at the request of Walter Kennedy,'" Republican pair clerk.

Jennings said Wilson was not listed on the records of the clerk who calls the roll in the House chamber, but had been listed as voting when the roll was transcribed to the tally sheet by Cooke.

None of the votes affected the outcome of the roll calls.

Rep. Tim Lee Carter, D-Ky., said yesterday he was recorded as voting Thursday, although he wasn't in the House.

"I feel it was just an error, but in view of these other matters, I feel you can't take any chance on amatter like this," Carter said.

Award To Boost U.S. Film Making

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Samuel Goldwyn Award for "the best picture produced in the United States" will be made annually by the San Francisco International Film Festival.

Making the announcement yesterday, Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said: "A long-time critic of 'runaway' motion picture production, Mr. Goldwyn is sponsoring this award as one effective form of encouraging film production in the United States."

The choice for the award will be made by a festival selection committee made up of recognized authorities in motion pictures.

Petaluma's New Look Due Debate

Is the cost of the proposed Petaluma Core Area Plan too high?

The project, estimated to cost $4 million, would revitalize the city's business section.

Chamber directors agreed last April with the city council that the business district should be improved, but reserved judgment on how to finance the project.

PANEL MEMBERS

Moderating tonight's debate will be Floyd Wynn, chamber president. Speakers will be Robert S. Lipman, city councilman; Frederick Mattei, owner of a men's clothing store; John King, former councilman and a real estate and insurance broker, and Owen Fredericks, past chamber president and owner of a local furniture store.

King and Frederick will argue that the cost of the plan is too high, while Lipman and Mattei will contend that delay will only increase the price.

Hoping more than 100 chamber members will attend, a straw vote to gather opinions will be taken, Ned Davis, chamber manager, said.

William C. McGivern, city planning director, said a plan may be presented to city council setting an assessment district for downtown property owners on which their costs would be based on size of property and improvements needed. This money would provide 400 additional parking spaces at an approximate cost of $4,000 per space.

He said three parking plans have been submitted to property owners who will be given the opportunity to express opinions.

FIRST PHASE

The first phase of the plan to relocate Petaluma Boulevard from D Street to north of Oak Street would cost an estimated $2,440,000 and be supported by a general bond issue.

The roadway relocation will provide space for an esplanade, a combined river route and pedestrian walkway which would include areas for recreation, historical park, boat berthing, and docking facilities, sailing ponds for youngsters, and specialty shops and restaurants.

The plan also calls for a mall and golden concourse on Kentucky Street which would feature small shops, fountains, murals, a small aviary and gaslights for a soft affect. The plan suggests it might also serve as an exhibit area for cultural or artistic displays.

Collage Display

An exhibition, "Anatomy in Collage," by Laura Devendorf of Mill Valley, will be held from Saturday through Nov. 2 at the Atherton Gallery in Menlo Park. The gallery is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

The apricot got its name through popular mispronounciation of "apricock," a derivative of the Latin "persicum praecox," or "early-ripening peach."

DRAMA REVIEW

Two Playlets By Albee Flunk Test

NEW YORK (AP) —The two Edward Albee playlets which had their premier last night at the Billy Rose Theater flunk the reappraisal test, dismally.

"Box," a monologue for an absent actress, and "Quotations from Chairman Mao Tse-tung," a set of unrelated tirades, were originally staged months back at the Studio Arena in Buffalo, N.Y. Audiences thronged, but few critics were conquered by the prize author's proclaimed effort to explore new dramatic interactions. Albee is co-sponsor of this production.

A second look and listen merely confirms an impression that the tandem is a smug doodle, mechanically devised and signifying little.

In the voice-only piece which Ruth White delivers over loudspeakers to open and close the affair, Albee provides some fragmentary impressions of life's inane pressures upon the individual.

A giant ramp slides the four "Mao" participants into the soaring rectangular frame that fills the stage. One impersonates Communist China's leader, another symbolizes age en route to the poorhouse, and the remaining pair represent high society vapidity.

Each concentrates obliviously on separate themes—the imminent collapse of an imperialist Western world, the ingratitude of offspring, frustrated suicide at sea. The talk rotates so that the effect is like switching TV channels continually. And just about as dramatically coherent.

Alan Schneider, as in Buffalo, directs but with a different cast for "Mao." Wyman Pendleton makes a rather subdued Oriental militant; Nancy Kelly does the garrulous dowager, and Sudie Bond recites the rancor of poverty. George Bartenieff just smokes a pipe and says nothing, lucky him.

"A revolution is not a teaparty," says Mao at one point in the proceedings. And a stunt is not a play.

What other press critics said:

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: "... I believe (the plays) represent a steadily interesting experiment by a bold, dramatic explorer ..."

Clive Barnes, New York Times: "... ask me what it meant, I could not answer... Yet I enjoyed it. I don't say I understood it--actually I presumed, perhaps wrongly that there wasn't very much to understand—but I let the words lap over me... heard some of them, let them run around in my mind, and this way or that way gathered an experience. Which, in the theater, is what we are fundamentally talking about."

HUGE PIPES CLOG KENTFIELD TRAFFIC

Large sections of drainage pipe, waiting to be installed in the street widening project on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield present an obstacle to drivers trying to enter the boulevard. In the picture on the left a driver waits slightly back from the boulevard for a chance to enter the stream of cars, his vision blocked. On the right, a closeup view shows the difficulty of maneuvering between the pipes onto Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1968 — 19

Ferryboat Study Brings Many Firms

More than 30 consulting firms including several from England are interested in making a ferryboat feasibility study between Marin and San Francisco.

Seymour Kashin, general manager of the Marin Transit District, said he was "flabbergasted" by the response. Representatives from several firms flocked to his office at Civic Center late yesterday, the deadline for submitting proposals, and more may be coming in by mail, said Kashin.

The proposals, which are piled high on a desk in Kashin's office, will be presented to the San Francisco-Marin Water Transportation Study Committee, which meets at the Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza building tomorrow at 10:30 a.m.

A decision on the 30 proposals is not likely tomorrow, said Kashin. "There's just too much material. I'd say it would take 30 minutes just to pore through one proposal."

A sum of $45,000 has been earmarked for the feasibility study, $30,000 contributed by San Francisco and $15,000 by Marin. The study would show what types of ferryboats could be used, the types of propulsion, speed, the cost, and how many commuters are likely to use this method of travel.

Kashin said that his rough guess is that at least 5,000 to 6,000 commuters must use water transportation to make it feasible.

Date Reset On Landscaping Bids

Marin Hospital District directors yesterday reset the date for opening bids on landscaping for the Community Mental Health Center to 7 p.m. Oct. 29 at the Coral Room, Marin General Hospital.

The original date tentatively had been set for Oct. 15. Funds totalling $50,000 have been budgeted. There was no other business taken up at the special session.

Petaluma Councilmen Give Vague Reasons For Closed Door Session

Petaluma City Council went into closed session last night for reasons that were obscure despite official denials of any violations of the state's antisecret meeting law, the Ralph M. Brown Act.

Mayor Helen Putnam said after the special meeting that it was to discuss "items in relation to personnel and pending items of litigation." The personnel matters were limited to a review of commission appointments which may have expired, she said.

None of the councilmen explained why it was necessary to go into closed session to determine if openings existed on commissions.

Asked by the Independent-Journal if this were not a simple administrative question that could have been referred to the city manager, Councilman Robert S. Lipson said "we've always done it this way."

The state's antisecret meeting law, the Relph M. Brown Act, allows closed meetings of public bodies only to discuss the hiring or firing of an employee or official, or to hear charges against an employee or official.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said the council discussed specific names when it reviewed commission vacancies, but Lipman and Mrs. Putnam said the council only discussed whether vacancies existed.

Meyer said the council also discussed three court suits involving the city, but declined to specify any details of the suits. It would harm the city's legal position if other parties to the suits knew the suits were being discussed by the council, he said.

Vacancies were found on the personnel commission because Craig Miller's term has expired, and on the water commission because Stanley Seidell's term is expiring. He has served for six years, and is ineligible for reappointment.

Mrs. Putnam insisted the closed meeting was legitimate, and did not violate the Brown Act.

The closed session followed a special meeting at which the council reluctantly agreed to assume $2,500 in additional costs to dike the Petaluma River. The work will begin Oct. 14.

The costs arose from a requirement by the contractor, Shellmaker Inc., to flatten the tops of dikes to insure safety for its workmen. This was not provided in the dredging contract awarded by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Mrs. Putnam said the corps should provide more explicit specifications in future contracts.

Somerhalder's Motives Argued By Doctor, Attorney

A San Rafael psychiatrist, who says double killer Johnny Lee Sommerhalder can be rehabilitated, today told a Marin Superior Court jury that no one can be certain why Sommerhalder killed.

The 24-year-old motorcycle gang leader may have killed Curtis and Shirley Ackley because of some allegiance he felt to a group whose code was antisocial — the Grim Reapers, said Dr. Robert Andrew Ott.

On the other hand, the Ackleys may have died because Sommerhalder has always been a lad with pent up anger, who does not know how to give vent to his wrath, the psychiatrist said.

Dr. Ott and Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales spent the court's first hour today fencing with psychological terminology, with Bales attempting to show Sommerhalder as a sociopath, incapable of rehabilitation.

The jury of seven men and five women must decide if Sommerhalder is to be sentenced to death in the gas chamber or life in prison for the Jan. 12 murders of the Ackleys.

Dr. Ott admitted that psychiatrists have not been successful treating sociopaths in the past, but said new, long-range group therapy techniques, such as those practiced at Synanon, could be more effective.

Bagley Leading Drive For Press Support Of GOP

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, today was named chairman of a major statewide committee to seek newspaper and radio and television station endorsement of the Nixon-Agnew presidential ticket.

Bagley was appointed by Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch, California chairman of the GOP presidential campaign.

The committee, named the California Nixon-Agnew Media Relations Committee, "will travel from Siskiyou to San Diego and from Mono to Monterey," said Bagley.

Bagley named seven Republican legislators to the committee: assemblymen Robert E. Badham of Newport Beach, Frank Murphy Jr. of Santa Cruz, Alan G. Pattee of Salinas, Peter F. Schabarum of Covina, John G. Veneman of Modesto and Pete Wilson of San Diego and Sen. George Deukmejian of Long each.

Bagley and Badham were to start the committee's work today in San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz and Monterey counties.

Guns Taken In Window Smash

A tall, thin-faced man boldly smashed a gun case window at Montgomery Ward and Co. yesterday, took three weapons and eluded an employee who chased him to an awaiting car, Corte Madera police reported.

Officers said store officials at Corte Madera Shopping Center said the man took three handguns worth a total of $187 about 4:15 p.m. Frank Guidotti, 38, sporting goods department manager, told police he heard the breaking glass and chased the man outside.

The man entered an awaiting car driven by a second man, however, and escaped, according to the report. He was described as about five feet, 11 inches tall, weighing 160 pounds, and wearing a brown coat and jeans. No description of his companion was obtained.

Father Will Not Keep Drug Case Daughter

The father of an 18-year-old girl charged in connection with the possible drug death of a Corte Madera soldier yesterday told Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. he would not take the girl back into his home pending her trial.

Paul A. Oatis Jr. of Novato said he had three smaller children to rear alone, and that the county probation department recommended against letting Kathleen Ann Oatis rejoin the family.

Goldstein ordered the girl taken from Marin County Jail to Juvenile Hall until some living accommodation can be found. She is charged, along with two others, with being present in a place where narcotics were being used.

She and Monty Leon Miller, 20, and Loreen Gail Edwards, 21, both of San Rafael, were reportedly present when Richard Kenneth Yager, 20, died Saturday of an apparent overdose of methedrine in Miller's apartment.

Marin narcotics agents Friday arrested a San Francisco man, Everett LeForrest Hill, on suspicion of selling the drug thought to have killed Yager. A 17-year-old who accompanied Yager on the drug buy led agents to Hill, according to Inspector William Burgess of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau.

Goldstein releaseed Mrs. Edwards on her own recognizance and ordered all three defendants to appear today for further proceedings.

Rodeo Winners Are Announced

Winners in the third annual Junior Rodeo Sunday were announced today by the Novato Horsemen's Association, which reported the event at the arena on Bugeia Lane drew 161 contestants and 400 spectators from Northern California.

The competition was for boys and girls up to 18 years old.

DEEP Steam CARPET CLEANERS

DEEP STEAM WALL-TO-WALL CARPET CLEANING . . .

★ With DEEP STEAM the soil is extracted, not scrubbed deeper. And, that's the difference!

★ How does it work? Steam, a cleaning agent and a soil retardant are applied under pressure deep into the carpet fibers. Instantly the soil and moisture are removed.

★ The pile doesn't have that washed look . . . looks like new. And, because of the powerful extraction system, the moisture is completely controlled. NO SHRINKAGE IS GUARANTEED.

★ DEEP STEAM is gentle . . . uses no brushes, no scrubbing action, no detergents. It's completely safe for all fabrics. And, it's economical, because thoroughly cleaned carpets wear much longer and they don't have to be cleaned as often.

Now! Your exclusive franchised dealer for DEEP STEAM CARPET CLEANERS is GUNTHER HAGEL . . . known in Marin for 15 years for the finest quality in home and business services.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Women Have Several Methods Open To Get Rid Of Face Hair

VAN DELLEN

Several weeks ago one of our female employees wanted to know about electrolysis. Hairs were growing on her chin and in a thin line along the upper lip. She was tired of tweezing and wanted to permanently remove the unwanted fuzz. I suggested that she contact a skilled electrologist. After all, not many hairs were involved.

Electrolysis is a procedure in which a fine wire is inserted into a follicle and passed to the base where the root is located. A mild electric current kills the hair follicle. Twelve or more hairs are removed at one sitting. The entire process is not too painful.

A DENSE growth involves considerable time and is more expensive. Now and then if a hair or two adjoining the treated follicle begins to grow, it is mistaken for regrowth of the original hair. Extreme care is needed to avoid scarring.

Depilation is removal of the entire hair, except the root; in depilation, chemicals lead to swelling of the shaft with eventual deterioration to a jelly-like consistency that can be wiped off the skin.

Depilatories may also break down the structure of the hair so that it detaches easily from the surface. Some of these products remove hair efficiently in 2 to 5 minutes. These measures lead to a temporary hair loss, in contrast to electrolysis, which is permanent.

A RAZOR is the easiest, but many women find shaving of the face repugnant. Tweezers are most useful for removing hair on the chin and upper part of the neck.

Wax is effective and relatively safe. Bleaching makes the fuzz less visible but is used only if irritation does not ensue. A weak solution of hydrogen peroxide and ammonia is an effective bleaching agent.

The basic origins of unwanted hair in women are more complex. Common factors influencing hirsutism are racial, genetic, or glandular. Special tests determine the latter, but unless the hair pattern is marked, few attempt to find the cause.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

CATARACT AND DIET

N. S. writes: Is cataract related to nutrition? All my life I have eaten sensibly, now, at 59, I have a cataract in one eye.

REPLY

The cause of ordinary cataract is not known, but it is believed to be associated with aging. The cells of the lens gradually lose their transparency, and, when practical vision is lost, removal of the lens is recommended. Cataracts also result from injury.

Now and then, babies are afflicted. This type, congenital, is due to a developmental defect. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on cataract.

DEVELOPMENT OF TWINS

T. A. writes: Do twins develop at a slower rate than the single fetus?

REPLY

No. Twins appear to develop more slowly because they usually are smaller when born. On the other hand, once they get going they grow just as fast as do singletons.

IRON AND PRESSURE

S. P. writes: Could iron deficiency cause low blood pressure?

REPLY

Yes, but blood count and hemoglobin must drop at least a third before hypotension occurs.

ACID AND INDIGESTION

REPLY

No. There is no relationship between the two.

USE OF ANTICOAGULANT

A reader writes: Would you advise a normal, healthy person to take an anticoagulant to prevent the possible formation of blood clots?

REPLY

No, because he does so at the risk of becoming a bleeder. It is better to take an outside chance of developing a clot in the blood vessels, especially if there is no indication that a susceptibility to this condition exists.

WHY PALATE SWELLS

A reader writes: Why does my soft palate swell periodically? I have no sore throat or other symptoms at the time.

REPLY

In the absence of a cold, swelling of the uvula must be due to allergy.

DRY ICE TREATMENT

REPLY

Carbon dioxide snow is used to eradicate surface lesions such as birthmarks. The action of this substance is basically a caustic one induced by refrigeration.

NOTICE OF IMPROVEMENT SAUSALITO STREET IMPROVEMENT PROJECT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on the 27th day of May, 1968, the Town Council of the Town of Corte Madera, California, adopted its Resolution of Intention No. 990 wherein it did declare that in its opinion the public interest and convenience required, and that it was the intention of said Council to order the following acquisitions and improvements in and for said Town, to wit:

(a) The improvement of Sausalito Street from Buena Vista Avenue to Sunnyside Avenue by grading and the installation of required subbase, base and pavement between curbs, the installation of Portland cement concrete curbs and gutters on both sides and the construction and installation of storm drainage pipes, culverts and catch basins, as may be required.

(b) The improvement of Sausalito Street from Sunnyside Avenue to Madrono Avenue by grading and the installation of required subbase base, and pavement for a width of 20 feet, the installation of Portland cement concrete curb and gutter on the upslope side and redwood header on the downslope side except for a small portion, 180 feet, more or less, of Portland cement concrete curb and gutter near Menke Lane and the construction and installation of storm drainage pipes, culverts and catch basins as may be required.

(c) The improvement of Sausalito Street from Madrono Avenue to the South Town limits by grading and the installation of subbase, base and pavement necessary to increase the paved travelled way by approximately three feet, the installation of an asphalt curb on the upslope side and the construction and installation of storm drainage pipes, culverts and catch basins as may be required.

(d) The acquisition of all lands and easements and the performing of all work auxiliary to any of the above necessary to complete the same.

All of said work and improvements are to be constructed at the places and in the particular locations, of the forms, sizes, dimensions and materials and at the lines, grades and elevations shown and delineated on the plans, profiles and specifications preliminarily approved therefor by the Council of said Town and on file for public inspection in the office of the Town Clerk.

Notice is hereby given of the fact that in many cases said work and improvements will bring the finished surface of the ground to a grade different from the surface as it now exists, and that to said extent said grades will be changed and that said work will be done to said changed grades.

Said contemplated acquisitions and improvements, in the opinion of said Council, are of more than local or ordinary public benefit, and the costs and expenses thereof are made chargeable upon an assessment district, the exterior boundaries of which district are the composite and consolidated area as more particularly shown on a map thereof on file in the office of the Clerk, to which reference is hereby made for further particulars. Said map indicates by a boundary line the extent of the territory included in the proposed district and shall govern for all details as to the extent of the assessment district.

The estimated cost of said project is $34,610.25, of which the Town will contribute the estimated amount of $4,000.00.

Notice is hereby given that serial bonds to represent unpaid assessments and bear interest at the rate of not to exceed six percent (6%) per annum, will be issued hereunder in the manner provided in the Improvement Bond Act of 1915 (Division 10 of the Streets and Highways Code), the last installment of which bonds shall mature not to exceed fourteen (14) years from the second day of July next succeeding ten months from their date.

The descriptions of the acquisitions and improvements and the termini of the work contained in the Resolution of Intention are general in nature. All items of work do not necessarily extend for the full length of the description thereof. The plans and profiles of the work, and maps and descriptions, as contained in the Engineer's report, shall be controlling as to the correct and detailed description thereof.

Except as herein otherwise provided for the issuance of bonds, said work shall be done pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913.

Reference is hereby made to proceedings had pursuant to Division 4 of the Streets and Highways Code, all on file in the office of the Town Clerk.

Notice is further given that the Engineer of Work pursuant to said Act and said Resolution of Intention adopted pursuant thereto, did on the 16th day of September, 1968, file with the Clerk of said Town his report in writing on said acquisitions and improvements, consisting of plans, profiles, specifications, estimate of costs and incidental expenses, diagram and assessment, maps and descriptions, and said Council did on said date consider and examine said report and by resolution preliminarily approved and confirmed same and ordered that said report shall stand as the report for the purposes of all subsequent proceedings had pursuant to said Resolution of Intention.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that Monday, the 21st day of October, 1968, at the hour of 7:30 o'clock P.M. of said day, in the regular meeting place of said Council, Council Chambers, Town Hall, Corte Madera, California, are the time and place appointed and fixed by said Council when and where it will consider and finally determine whether the public interest, convenience and necessity require said acquisitions and improvements, and when it will consider and determine whether the owners of a majority of the area of the property in the proposed assessment district have protested against said acquisitions and improvements or any portion thereof, and when and where it will consider and finally act upon the Engineer's report filed pursuant to said Resolution of Intention, and when and where it will hear all protests in relation to said proposed acquisitions and improvements, or to the grades at which said work will be done, or the extent of the assessment district, or to the Engineer's estimate of the costs and expenses thereof, or to the proposed diagram and assessment, or to the maps and descriptions, and that any person interested may file a written protest with the Clerk at or before the time set for the hearing referred to herein.

Reference is hereby made to said Resolution of Intention and said report, including plans, profiles, specifications, estimate of costs, diagram and assessment, and maps and descriptions, for a more particular description of said acquisitions and improvements to be had and done, and for further particulars, all on file in the office of the Town Clerk.

Sewer Union Hearing Set Thursday

A proposed merger of the Town of Corte Madera and the Corte Madera Sanitary District will come up for public hearing before the Local Agnecy Formation Commission Thursday at 8 p.m. in the supervisors' chambers at Civic Center.

Corte Madera officials contend that the merger will bring an annual saving of about $9,000 to the taxpayers.

Executive officer John F. Barrows will submit a resolution calling for the dissolution of the Bolinas Harbor District. Barrows will also give a progress report on negotiations among the 10 sanitary districts in Southern Marin on whether they should form a large sanitation district, have the Marin Municipal Water District take over, or leave the small existing districts unchanged.

Four small annexations to be heard by the LAFC are:

1. Tiburon fire protection district's application to annex 3.5 acres of Fred Zelinsky's land along Tiburon Boulevard. The land was recently transferred from the City of Belvedere to the City of Tiburon to straighten out boundaries.

2. Tiburon's application to annex five parcels of land totaling about three-fourths of an acre, owned by Richard Dawson and other family members, at the intersection of Mar East Street and Linda Vista Avenue.

3. Novato Sanitary District's annexation of William Johnson's property at 1975 Marion Avenue, containing about three-fourths of an acre.

Helicopter Hunt Finds Slain Coed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The body of a strangled college art student was found in the trunk of her car in Los Angeles Wilshire District yesterday.

The discovery was made by her brother-in-law, who hired a helicopter when the girl's parents reported her missing, and flew over the neighborhood looking for her yellow and green car.

Wendy Halison, 22, daughter of a realtor, was found in the auto after it was sighted by the brother-in-law, private detective Gilbert R. Kort, parked at an intersection a little more than a mile from her home.

$43 Coin Theft

Coins totaling $43 were stolen Sunday night from the home of A. C. Rattan, 1416 Lauren Drive, Petaluma, police reported. A screen was removed at the rear of the home to gain entry, police said.

Club Building Plans Upset Neighborhood

The Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club's plan to build a clubhouse on Tennessee Valley Road at Marin Avenue ran into stiff neighborhood opposition yesterday before the Marin County Planning Commission.

"There is talk already that there will be rock bands there," declared Joe H. Stewart, who owns property adjacent to the proposed clubhouse. He said the cars, lights and noise would create a nuisance and depreciate property values.

"Activity at night will be very disturbing," said Mrs. Yobuo Tanaka of 219 Marin Avenue. "It will create absolute havoc."

Mrs. Edith Toal of 243 Marin Avenue said her chief concern is flooding. "Every year I have four inches of water in the patio area during the entire rainy season," said Mrs. Toal. She said she fears a clubhouse with added fill will aggravate the flooding.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney explained that the use permit for the clubhouse was granted in June 1967 and extended last May. The only question before the commission now is design review, Maloney ruled.

The site is 67,000 square feet, on which the club want to build a two-story wood frame structure 40 by 60 feet. Charles Norton, club president, and Joe D. Allen, architect, said they plan an initial parking lot for 14 cars with temporary access from Marin Avenue, with the remainder of the site to be filled and landscaped in the future.

Norton objected to the planning staff's requirement that an area for 36 more parking stalls to take care of overflow be provided on the site. Aside from major events like the Rhubarb Revue, the 14 spaces are sufficient for club activities, Norton contended. He said the club plans to use an adjacent lot owned by the Tamalpais Valley Community Services District for any overflow parking.

Norton told the commissioners his group is willing to put in shrubs and screening around the 14-stall parking area but the club lacks funds to fill, grade and plant for an additional 36 parking spaces immediately.

The planning commissioners postponed a decision until Oct. 28 and asked the planning staff and club officials to bring in more information on planting and parking plans.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

TENTATIVE MAP — Approved a one-year extension, until November of next year, for the Villa Vista subdivision, a six-acre parcel north of Vineyard Road and west of Sutro Avenue in West Novato. Subdivider F. H. Smaw wants to put in 16 lots ranging in size from 10,000 to 20,000 square feet.

VARIANCE — Denied a variance to Jack Blumenfeld of 150 Montecito Road, County Club tract, San Rafael, who wanted to build an addition to his home, which would encroach to within 11.5 feet of the side line where 20 feet is required.

HOUSEBOATS — Recommended to the supervisors that an interim ordinance against houseboats be held up until the present enforcement procedures determine whether existing laws are sufficient, and if not, how the loopholes can be plugged.

Guilty Pleas To Drug Counts

Robert Allen Gerard, 26, of Sausalito, and David Eugene Smith, 18, of Mill Valley, pleaded guilty to two narcotics charges each yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

One other charge pending against Gerard and two charges pending against Smith were dismissed. Gerard pleaded guilty to selling marijuana Dec. 22, 1967, and Jan. 20, 1968. Smith pleaded guilty to selling marijuana Dec. 13 and 22, 1967.

Both were ordered to appear Nov. 12 for sentencing.

Credit Card Fraud Brings Jail Sentence

Kenneth Lloyd Riggs, 18, of San Rafael, was sentenced to six months in Marin County Jail and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court for fraudulent use of a credit card March 2 in San Rafael.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson declared the offense a misdemeanor, and ordered the jail term served concurrently with a term Riggs is serving in a California Youth Authority facility.

Hippie Agrees To Delay On Fund Control

Hippie colonist Donald C. McCoy Jr., conservatively clad in off-white hippie garb and leather headband, made an appearance in Marin Superior Court yesterday and agreed to a two-week delay in a conservatorship case that would take control of his $200,000 estate out of his hands.

McCoy's former father-in-law, Arthur E. Lang of Mill Valley, brought the suit on grounds McCoy was incompetent to handle his own affairs and had squandered more than half the $500,000 he had a year ago in maintaining a colony of 40 to 50 people at the Rancho Olompali near Novato.

McCoy, 37, was a successful Marin businessman and investor before hanging up his gray flannel suit and starting the commune.

McCoy, full-bearded and six feet six, looked something like a birch tree surrounded by beavers as he stood flanked by attorneys in his brief court appearance.

His attorney, Pano Stephens of San Francisco, had no comment on the possibility of an out-of-court settlement of the case during the two week delay sought by Lang's attorney, William O. Weissich.

The court agreed to let McCoy have $200 a week from his frozen assets pending the Oct. 14 hearing. His money is in the hands of Lang, who was appointed temporary conservator last month.

Brundage Defends His Olympics Committee

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Avery Brundage of the International Olympic Committee, in a lengthy news conference, last night scoffed at suggestions his organization was an aristocratic group of elders refusing to operate in a democratic fashion.

What started out as an outline by Brundage of the fine job Mexico has done readying for the Olympic Games, Oct. 12-27, turned into a grilling by some newsmen on such subjects as the self perpetuation of the IOC; its limited membership, and the secrecy of IOC meetings.

Brundage, 81, presided earlier in the day at the opening session of the IOC's nine member executive committee, a prelude to the full meeting of the 72-member IOC Oct. 7-11.

A Cuban newsman said the IOC has been accused of lacking world wide membership and he asked why the IOC was not placed on a democratic basis instead of being a life time membership for old millionaires.

Brundage conceded the IOC may not be democratic "in the present sense of the word," but that loyalty of its members to the principles of amateurism has made the IOC "the most important social force in the world" in a 70-year span.

When the same Cuban newsman asked if IOC members are "angels without nationality," Brundage quipped.

"At my age, I'm almost angel, or at least octogenarian, and I don't like it a bit."

Under questioning from an international group of some 60 press representatives, Brundage variously commented:

—That the IOC would take under advisement any cited violations of the four-week limit on organized high altitude training from mid-July.

—That we'll face that problem when it arrives," in reference to the Olympic ban on South Africa because of its racial policies in connection with the 1972 Games at Munich.

—That the IOC is trying to find new members in the 30-to-40 year-old bracket which he said is difficult since the member must spend considerable time away from his business.

—And that the IOC is not ignoring recommendations by the various national Olympic committees with whom the IOC executive group will start conferring Thursday.

Brundage, who has served as IOC president since 1952, again side-stepped the question of whether he will stand for re-election when the full IOC votes on the office.

"That's a question that will be settled in Mexico pretty soon," said Brundage.

Dinner At Ernie's? No Thanks, Says Lee

DEBUT—George Lee of San Rafael was still undefeated as head coach of the San Francisco Warriors when someone mentioned he was 1-0 in the won-lost column following Saturday night's victory over San Diego at the Cow Palace. But Lee corrected: "Unh, unh. I'm now 2-0. I won an intra-squad game last week." (Lee tasted defeat for the first time last night, 117-95, to the mighty L.A. Lakers.)

Lee, whose wife Nancy was having trouble finding a baby sitter, hitched a ride to the game with Al Tognoli and Al Murray of San Rafael. On the way over, big spender Murray invited Tognoli and Lee to "... dinner at Ernie's."

Said Lee: "Gee, Al, that'll be kind of expensive for you."

"Don't worry about a thing," said Murray as he drove up to Ernie's 24-cent Hamburger Palace on Geneva.

After the game, Tognoli congratulated Lee on his maiden victory and suggested the dinner at Ernie's may have been a lucky omen. "You ought to eat there before every game," said Tognoli.

"No thanks," dead-panned Lee, "I'd rather lose." Pass the Tums, please.

'A Different Team With Hayes'

Some of Lee's observations after Saturday's doubleheader at the Moo Mansion: "Even though we beat San Diego the Rockets will be tough. They're a totally different team with (Elvin) Hayes in there. He has excellent basketball sense and should give a lot of centers in the league a lot of trouble. With that 83-inch arm-spread he'll do all right.

"Seattle looks like it also has improved 100 per cent with the addition of Bob Kaufman, a rugged 6-8, 240-pound rookie forward to go along with Bob Rule and Al Tucker, their two fine rookies from last year."

Of his star center, Nate Thurmond, Lee commented: "Nate, of course, is still great but it will take five or six games to get his timing down to what it was before he was hurt last January."

Presents A Happy Medium

The 32-year-old Lee's deportment on the sidelines during the heat of battle is a cross between that of former Warrior coaches Bill Sharman and Alex Hannum. He has a little of Sharman's cool and a little of Hannum's dramatics although George has much more hair to pull than does Alex, now across the bay with Oakland Oaks.

Familiar faces in the crowd, in their customary front row, courtside seats, were Marinites Judge Peter Smith and son, Norb Hartman, Dr. Marv Gilberg and Dr. Carroll Paulson and wives.

Disc jockey Johnny Holliday of Tiburon, who handles the public address announcing at Warrior games, introduced the fabulous Elvin Hayes from the University of Houston as "Elvin Jones." Johnny can be excused for the boo-boo because Elvin Jones, a noted jazz drummer, is frequently featured on Holliday's deejay show.

McLain, Gibson To Pitch Opener

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Denny McLain, with 31 victories, is the American League's biggest winner in 37 years. Bob Gibson, with an earned run average of 1.12 is the National League's stingiest pitcher ever.

They'll face each other tomorrow when Detroit takes on St. Louis in the frist game of the World Series, but Mayo Smith isn't impressed.

BUILD-UP

"You put two good pitchers against each other, and everybody builds them up as the biggest thing since gangbusters," said Smith, who managed the Tigers to 103 victories this year.

"Then the whole thing ends up disappointing. All pitching duels do. Often one of the pitchers gets bombed out."

In two Series, however, Gibson has yet to be bombed out. In fact he hasn't even been out of a Series game he's started since Oct. 8, 1964 the first time he pitched.

Since losing that encounter with the New York Yankees, the right-hander has posted five straight victories—two over the Yankees and three over the Boston Red Sox last year.

And in those five games, the 31-year-old fireballer allowed an average of only six hits and less than two runs a game.

ANOTHER RECORD

A victory over the Tigers tomorrow would vault Gibson into a tie for the most consecutive games won in a Series, a mark shared by Lefty Gomez and Red Ruffing, both of the New York Yankees.

McLain, on the other hand, has no Series history. The last time the Tigers were in it in 1945, Denny was only one year old.

He did slice off a piece of history this season by winning 31 games—which made him the first pitcher to win that many since Lefty Grove in 1931.

BOB GIBSON

WELL RESTED

Both pitchers should be well rested. Gibson pitched Friday night when he shut out Houston and McLain just missed his 32nd victory against Washington Saturday.

McLain will be facing the same Cardinal line-up that won the National League pennant by nine games.

The three outfielders—Lou Brock, Curt Flood and Roger Maris—will come first, followed by first baseman Orlando Cepeda, catcher Tim McCarver, third baseman Mike Shannon, second baseman Julian Javier and shortstop Dal Maxvill.

For Gibson, the Tigers will have a slightly revised line-up. The revision revolves around the insertion of Mickey Stanley at shortstop. Smith wanted to get Al Kaline into the line-up, and the only way he could do it was by bringing Stanley in from center field.

KALINE

Kaline, long the leading slugger of the Tigers, broke his right arm early in the season, and by the time he was ready to return, the Tigers were going so well Smith didn't want to dis-

Van Brocklin Named Coach Of Falcons

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin, former coach of the Minnesota Vikings, today was named head coach of the Atlanta Falcons, succeeding Norb Hecker, whose contract with the National Football League club runs through 1970.

SINCE 1966

The decision to change coaches after widespread criticism of the Falcons was made by Rankin Smith, owner of the club which had been coached by Hecker since it was formed in 1966.

"I have felt for some time that the club was not making the kind of progress I had anticipated in order for it to become competitive in the NFL," said Smith.

Van Brocklin, one of pro football's most colorful players and coaches, was given a long-term contract to build the Falcons into a contender.

NOT INTERIM

"Although club policy prevents disclosure of exact terms of Van Brocklin's contract, I can say that he definitely will not be an interim coach," Smith said.

Van Brocklin played quarterback for the Los Angeles Rams and the Philadelphia Eagles before he was named coach of Minnesota when the Vikings were formed in 1961. He coached the Vikings through 1966 before he left after a dispute with quarterback Fran Tarkenton, now with the New York Giants.

Barry To Make His Debut With The Oaks—In Salinas

Barry, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer in the 1966-67 season, today officially became a member of the Oakland Oaks in the rival American Basketball Association.

"Now we can really get down to cases and build a championship contending team," said Oakland Coach Alex Hannum. "This is the day we've been waiting for."

Barry was kept out of action by enforcement of his old contract with the San Francisco Warriors after he jumped to the Oaks when his father-in-law, Bruce Hale became coach.

Hale remains as Oakland general manager.

The Warriors failed recently in a court effort to force Barry to continue playing with them.

He will see his first action tonight in an intra-squad game in Salinas. The Oaks begin a nine-game exhibition schedule Thursday in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Berven Wins Tourney

Mrs. Philip Berven captured top honors at the Oakview Rovers Ladies Golf Club's Selma Samuels Memorial Trophy Tournament at Peacock Gap last Sunday.

Mrs. Berven had a 96-28-68, in Class A, followed by Mrs. Bert Zoahner at 96-19-77. Tops in Class B was Mrs. Max Schutte with a net 77, followed by Mrs. Arthur Brodie at 77.

Mrs. Todd Steiger was the top finisher in the Las Gallinas Women's Golf Club's Garat Tournament with a 31-7½—23½. She was followed by Mesdames Jack Goodall, 29-5½—23¾ and Urban Blake, 34-9—25.

49ers Getting Ready For That Ram Line

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — That guy who said that football games are won and lost in the line must have been thinking about next Sunday's San Francisco invasion of Los Angeles.

The 49ers think they have the NFL's best offensive line and everybody knows that the Rams have the top defensive line.

That puts Len Rohde, 250, up against Lamar Lundy, 260, of the Rams in a battle of experience. Young Elmer Collett, 255, has to go against Roger Brown, 300. A couple of potential all-pros slug it out as Howard Mudd, 255, battles Merlin Olsen, 275. Cas Banaszek, 245, is left to try his luck against Dave Jones, 260, possibly the league's greatest pass rusher ever.

The Rams barely whipped San Francisco 21-20 in a final exhibition and the Prospectors have improved plenty since. Of course, Los Angeles belted Cleveland 24-6 in an awesome defensive show last Sunday.

San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan said everybody would be ready to go against the Rams and he praised Dick Witcher for his performance in the 28-13 win over Atlanta last Sunday not only for his seven catches but for his blocking in key running downs.

That Was Tip When Phone Didn't Ring

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — When his phone stopped ringing five weeks ago, says former Oakland Athletics' Manager Bob Kennedy, he knew something was wrong.

Until then, Kennedy said yesterday in a telephone interview from his home in Mesa, owner Charles Finley would call often to discuss the progress of the baseball club.

Kennedy was fired Sunday and replaced by Hank Bauer. Kennedy said the firing was a complete surprise to him.

"It seemed strange," he said. "We had the expansion draft coming up and all of a sudden, no calls.

"It's his ball club. He owns it lock, stock and barrel and can do whatever he wants with it.

SERIES TELECAST ON CHANNEL 4

The World series will be televised (NBC, Channel 4) from St. Louis tomorrow and Thursday at 11 a.m., from Detroit Saturday, Sunday and Monday (if necessary) at 10 a.m. and from St. Louis next Wednesday and Thursday (if necessary) at 11 a.m. Radio station KNBR, 680, will broadcast the series.

S.F. COACHES TURN IN RESIGNATIONS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco Giants coaches Charley Fox, Wes Westrum and Larry Jansen resigned yesterday to give any new Giants manager a free hand to select his own staff.

Tam Jayvees Win

Raiders Get Extra Day Off

OAKLAND (AP)—The unbeaten Oakland Raiders resume practice tomorrow in preparation for Sunday's American Football League battle against the Boston Patriots.

The game is Oakland's home opener following three straight road victories, including last Sunday's 24-15 win over the Houston Oilers in the Astrodome, which extended the Raiders' regular season unbeaten string to 13 games.

The victory over Houston also gave Oakland its first sweep of a road trip and Coach John Rauch repaid his team by giving the players an extra day off today to reacquaint themselves with their families.

Ralston Fears A.F.; San Jose Coach Fears Cal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—John Ralston fears the Air Force, and Harry Anderson isn't for a moment looking forward to playing California.

That, at least, is what the two coaches told the Northern California Football Writers yesterday.

Ralston, after checking chief scout Dutch Fehring's report, said the Air Force is a good running club "and we'll have to sharpen up our defense to contain them. They could be very dangerous."

Ralston, whose Stanford Indians have won two straight behind the pin-point passing of soph quarterback Jim Plunkett, emphasized his point by saying:

"The Air Force made 43 yards rushing against Wyoming last week. That doesn't sound especially frightening until you look back and see that in Wyoming's first two games the Cowboy defense held Nebraska and Utah State to a total of 18 yards rushing in 99 attempts."

Anderson, who saw his San Jose State Spartans wiped out by Stanford, 68-20, two weeks ago and then bounce back to nip Fresno State, 25-21 last Saturday, thinks his team will be in over its head against California this Saturday.

"They are simply tremendous on defense," said Anderson of the Golden Bears. "They have tremendous pursuit and I think they are much better than most people think."

Anderson, has in effect, only one weapon to throw at Cal, and that is all-around halfback Walt Shockley, who scored two touchdowns against Stanford and two more against Fresno State.

Coach Ray Willsey of the Bears, who like Ralston is 2-0 at the moment, praised his defense for its play in shutting out Colorado last Saturday, 10-0.

"I'm very pleased with the play of our defensive unit," he said. "I graded the performance against Colorado as the best I've seen since coming to Cal. Now, ifour offense would perk up a bit I would be much happier."

The writers, meanwhile, selected quarterback Jim Plunkett of Stanford as Back of the Week and end Wayne Stewart of Cal as lineman of the Week. Plunkett threw three TD passes and scored a fourth time on a short run against Oregon while Stewart caught 12 passes for 144 yards against Colorado.

Halfback Jim Wheeler of Sacramento State, who carried the ball 12 times for 195 yards in leading the Hornets to a 26-13 victory over Cal Poly of Pomona, was named college division Back of the Week and defensive end Mike Cowan of Hayward State, who made 12 tackles and deflected three passes in the Hornets' 33-27 win over Occidental, was named Lineman of the Week.

Racial Disturbances In Prep Sports

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Racial disturbances have affected scholastic sports events in a number of states and the District of Columbia, an Associated Press survey disclosed yesterday.

The most serious outbreak occurred in Charlotte, N.C., where one youth knifed another in the face during a high school football game. As a result, the number of off-duty policemen hired for games was increased from four to eight and might go higher. Several squad cars also move into the Memorial Stadium area during games.

All public schools in Washington, D.C., play football on Friday afternoons as a result of violence in past years, and two games this season were switched to a neutral site in a different neighborhood because of threats of more violence.

A disturbance during an Annapolis, Md., high school game Sept. 19 prompted officials to reschedule all remaining games from night to day. But a few days later the remaining contests were changed back to night.

Police said both white and black students took part in the disturbances. No arrests were made but one student suffered a broken jaw.

All games of Dover, Del., High School were switched from night to day because of violence which erupted Friday night, Sept. 20. School officials said some dropouts, but no students, were among more than 50 Negroes involved in fighting behind the stands.

Racial strife hit East High School in Waterloo, Iowa, following a Sept. 13 football game. A scheduled home night game against Mason City High Sept. 27 was transferred to Mason City that afternoon. East officials also are considering rescheduling some other night games for daylight hours.

Officials in Prince Georges County, Md., a suburb of Washington, switched to all day games, although no incidents were reported.

Because of racial unrest in Boston last week, one high school football game was transferred to a less troubled area and another contest was postponed. A league football jamboree and a cross-country meet were canceled.

After a series of disorders in Indianapolis, Ind., police asked city schools to change all games from night to day. Officials, however, said such a move would mean a loss of revenue and they compromised by starting games one half hour earlier to enable youths to get home ahead of an 11 p.m. curfew.

"That was the last straw," said Parker, younger brother of Jim Parker, former Baltimore Colts tackle. "Time and time again over the last three years the officials have ruled against us and the only reason I can find out is racial prejudice."

Nobody's Gonna' Move This High School Defensive Man

Huge Lineman Takes Space Of 2 Players

His defense is built around its own private monster, Carlton "Tiny Tim" Vaughan, 17, who, at 6-feet-2½ and 415 pounds, might be the biggest boy in the nation on a high school field—and possibly any other field.

"They don't come to me too often," he says, "so I try to move around on the plays, and I get around pretty good."

The sight of Vaughan getting around has been enough to unnerve more than one 150-pound quarterback on the fields of this South Virginia hamlet, and Williams keeps him out of the scrimmages most of the time for fear of injuries.

"Whenever coach lets me scrimmage, I just pick them up or tag them," said Vaughan rather sadly. "He won't let me tackle."

The logistical problems of Tiny Tim tax the ingenuity of a rural school like Central, but so far things have worked out.

There was some shopping around for size 16 shoes and a helmet and shoulder pads capable of encompassing his 20-inch neck. His 54-inch waist was more of a problem.

Finally, Williams called on the girls in Central's home economics department, who stitched together three pairs of large size football pants to effect a proper garment for Tiny Tim. He managed to get by with two spliced-together jerseys.

So far this season Central is undefeated, but Williams is still making improvements with Tiny Tim.

"We use him strictly on defense," the coach muses, "but I've been thinking about putting him in on offensive pass situations. He could hold them off."

Umps Won't Strike; At Least Not Yet

CHICAGO (AP) — Major league umpires, angered at the firing of two compatriots, yesterday decided to join forces after ruling out a World Series strike.

Al Salerno and Bill Valentine were fired by American League President Joe Cronin for incompetence two weeks ago and the move led to a meeting of umpires from both leagues in Chicago yesterday.

However, Salerno and Valentine claim they were fired for trying to organize American League umpires.

Salerno and Valentine were instrumental in preventing a strike at the present time which would have hampered the World Series.

But the umpires voted to form a joint association with National League umpires and the move was approved.

If Salerno and Valentine are not reinstated, the new group is expected to strike next spring for exhibition games and early April games.

Cronin, reached in Boston, said he had no comment until he received a formal statement.

In all, 18 of the 20 American League umpires were present at the meeting. Missing was Frank Umont, who was at the bedside of his ailing wife and Ed Runge, whose absence was not explained.

Five directors of the association of the National League umpires were present including Al Barlick, Augie Donatelli, Chris Pelekoudas, Shag Crawford and Tom Gorman.

Word was that the umpires wanted to strike the World Series but Jack Reynolds, a Chicago attorney who helped organize the National League umpires, talked them out of it.

In addition, both Salerno and Valentine issued a joint statement saying, "We do not wish to deprive the American people and baseball fans of their annual classic due to the wrongful conduct of one man."

Good Weather Expected In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — October's bright blue weather is expected to prevail at least through the first two games of the World Series tomorrow and Thursday.

The St. Louis area weather forecast for tomorrow predicts a partly cloudy sky over Busch Stadium with temperatures at game time in the mid 80s.

The forecast says there is about a 10 per cent probability of rain tomorrow.

OSHAWA, Ont. (AP) — The Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League released seven players yesterday, bringing their roster to 22.

Defensive man Bob Lemieux was assigned to Vancouver B.C. of the Western Hockey League.

Released but not assigned were defensive man John Gravel, forward Murray Owen and goaltender Jean-Guy Morrisette.

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Balsis shut out Luther Lassister of Elizabeth City, N.C., by running 150-and-out on the break Monday night in the International Billiards Tournament.

In other matches:

Rule Change At Alcan Tourney

They established two separate cards for the par 74, 7,140-yard layout.

The promoters announced that the 64-man mini-tournament would play a reduced course from forward tees on the back nine. Thie means that the so-called consolation field would be traversing 7,044 yards for a 72-hole prize.

The genuine Alcan championship, restricted to 24 of the top professionals who qualified, will be played over the regular course of par 74 with a yardage of 7,140.

The reason: A year ago the consolation tournament was won at St. Andrews by Peter Thomson of Australia with 281. Over the same course and distance, the major tournament was won by Gay Brewer and Bill Casper, two shots higher at 283. In the playoff, Brewer won. It made a mockery of Thomson's effort, worth 10,000, while Brewer picked up more than double that.

Another irritation to the promoters was a serious worry about the course conditions after a week-long rain.

The Alcan group is offering $132,000 for the Golfer of the Year title. The mini-tournament will be ignored except locally. In the big one, the field of 24 will match stroke for stroke from tomorrow through Saturday for cash only. On the American pro circuit, the Alcan title has no rating.

Mrs. Boston Gets Helping Hand From Merchants

LAUREL, Miss. (AP) — The widowed mother of Olympic long jump champion Ralph Boston will be with him when he competes in the Olympics in Mexico City, thanks to a group of merchants.

Mrs. Eualie L. Boston, 71, will fly from Laurel to Mexico City to be on hand for the opening ceremonies Oct. 12.

"I had been hoping there would be a way for me to go," she said, "and when I was notified the fund with which to send me had been raised, I was so thrilled I was like a little child. I was too happy to sleep much that night."

The fund was the result of efforts by a group of Laurel businessmen headed by Harold Matison. The group is paying all expenses.

Except for a meet in Jamaica in 1964, Mrs. Boston has never seen her 29-year-old son compete in the long jump.

Mrs. Boston said she telephoned the news to Ralph, who is at a training camp in Lake Tahoe.

"Oh, he was so thrilled," Mrs. Boston said. "He told me to be sure and be there for the opening ceremonies."

Speaking for the fund-raising group, Matison said the track star could be wealthy if he had chosen to capitalize on his fame.

"He wouldn't do it," Matison said, "but he has brought worldwide credit to Laurel, his hometown, to his state and to his nation, and we felt that his mother deserves to see him in his third and final Olympic competition."

Willie's Bunt Rated As A Thing Of Beauty

CINCINNATI — Willie Mays doesn't believe he should rate his performances. "That's your job," he tells baseball writers. So the captain of the Giants declined to grade himself on one of his most remarkable hits, a bunt that drove in two runs and clinched second place for the Giants in their 158th game of the 1968 National League campaign.

It was a two-out bunt, exquisitely delicate and perfectly placed. It caught the entire infield of the Astros by surprise, particularly Doug Rader, the third baseman. It capped a four-run eighth inning rally that gave the Giants a 5-4 Astrodome victory.

IN THE FIRST inning Mays hit the first pitch to him over the centerfield wall for his 22nd home run and the 568th of his career. Now, he was up for the last time in the game and the Astros were leading 4-3. Jim Ray had just come on as the fourth Astro pitcher of the eighth inning.

Mays swung mightily and missed Ray's first pitch. It looked like he was trying to hit another homer. But Willie was just setting up the Astros for his surprise bunt. He tapped the ball along the third base line. Rader, playing deep behind the bag, raced onto the infield rug of the Astrodome. Trying for a barehanded pickup, Rader overran the ball.

DAVE MARSHALL scored easily from third base with the tying 4-4 run. Jim Davenport also scored from second base with the winning 5-4 run. Davenport, an old pro, never took his eye off the rolling bunt as he rounded third base.

Rader had overrun the ball midway between third and home and now the ball continued its slow roll for another 45 feet until the pitcher finally caught up with it at third base. By that time Davenport was safely home.

"I'VE BUNTED before," said Mays. "Want me to name you the games this year?"

It was true that Mays had bunted three times in early season games but never in a situation similar to the one in the Astrodome. A two-out bunt isn't exactly a routine way for the National League home run king to get a hit.

EVEN MAYS permitted himself a smile when reminded of that. He had to admit it was unusual. Still, he wouldn't personally rate it as one of his most remarkable hits.

"Like I've said that's your job as a baseball writer," Mays told his interviewer.

"This is not a sentimental gesture to get Al Kaline in the line-up," Smith said. "We're out to win this thing and by putting an extra bat in we think we can do it."

LINE UP

Many of the Cardinals will be playing in their third Series. If they have any advantage, Smith feels that's it—but not for long.

"The biggest edge will be in the first two or three innings," he said. "There is where they will have the edge on us. Our guys will go in there with stars in their eyes."

At the same time, the Tigers will have money on their minds.

Reframm Putt On 16th Hole Wins At Robinson

ROBINSON, Ill. (AP) — Dean Reframm sank a 15-foot eagle putt on the 16th hole Sunday to capture the $25,000 Robinson Open Golf Tournament with a 72-hole total of 270, 18 shots under par.

Reframm fired a seven-under-par 65 in the final round but didn't shake off Mike Hill until he birdied the 15th hole and followed with his eagle 3 on the 505-yard No. 16.

Reframm's triumph was worth $5,000. Hill, finishing with a 69 and 275 total, five strokes off the pace, collected $3,000 as runner-up.

Jim Grant, Rocky Thompson and Jim Wiechers were grouped at 279 and collected $1,400 each.

All of the players who made the 36-hole cut which included the top 70 and ties became exempt from qualifying for the Sahara Invitational at Las Vegas, Nev., this week.

Purdue 21-Point Favorite

NEW YORK (UPI) — After showing Notre Dame who was really No. 1 last week, Purdue, now the nation's top ranked college football team, goes on to meet Northwestern as a 21-point favorite, Saturday.

The Boilermakers, who sent the Irish tumbling to eighth place in the latest ratings with a 37-22 victory, were ranked second last week. Notre Dame also has a Big Ten opponent this week and is favored by 20 points to dump Iowa.

The focal point in the battle of the ratings this week should be Los Angeles as last year's national champ, Southern California, takes on 12th ranked Miami of Florida. The Trojans, who are favored by eight points, are ranked second this week.

Penn State, the only eastern school among the top 20, places its No. 3 ranking on the line against West Virginia as the Nittany Lions are eight point favorites.

Fourth ranked UCLA is only a one point favorite at Syracuse, seventh-ranked Ohio State is a 20-point choice over Oregon, ninth-rated LSU is picked by 17 over Baylor and 10th-ranked Florida is 26 point selection over Mississippi State.

In other leading games around the nation:

EAST — Pennsylvania 8 over Brown; Dartmouth 6 over Holy Cross; Pittsburgh and William & Mary are pick 'em; Princeton 20 over Columbia; Yale 13 over Colgate.

SOUTH — Virginia Tech 7½ over Kansas St.; Georgia Tech 3½ over Clemson; Duke one over Maryland; Mississippi 11½ over Alabama; Vanderbilt 7½ over North Carolina; Georgia 12 over South Carolina; and Florida is rated even with Texas A&M.

MIDWEST — Michigan 16 over Navy; Missouri 10 over Adrmy; Indiana 15 over Illinois; Michigan St. 12 over Wisconsin; Minnesota 10 over Wake Froest; Colorado 13 over Iowa St.

SOUTHWEST — Southern Methodist and North Carolina St. are pick 'em; Texas 13 over Oklahoma St.; Tennessee 7½ over Rice.

Marin Lawmen Win Softball Championship

The Marin officers, comprised of members of the Marin County Sheriff's office, Sausalito, San Rafael and San Anselmo police, won the softball title in Hayward with a pair of victories over the weekend.

Marin downed San Jose Police 4-3 Saturday and defending champ Hayward 3-2 Sunday.

Buzz Keaton's four hits paced the Marin attack in the Saturday 10-inning game. Dave Jones' bases loaded single decided the issue in the 10th. A squeeze bunt by Jim Nunes won the Sunday game. Chuck Tyson pitched both games, striking out 14 in the first one and nine in the second.

Tyson was the winning pitcher in all five Marin victories in the tourney, fanning 58 batters in the process.

MACKIN UNDER PRESSURE

Tamalpais signal caller Don Mackin was the object of Skyline attention last Saturday, as he eludes one tackler during a third down play. Mackin score once, added an extra point, and threw for one touchdown in a 19-13 Indian victory. Tam opens the league season Saturday at Novato. (Independent-Journal photo by Pete Thompson)

Changes Made At Laguna Seca

MONTEREY (UPI) — When the $92,000 Monterey Grand Prix draws an international field of sports cars to the Laguna Seca race circuit Oct. 11-13, the crowds will find many changes.

Since last May, nearly $150,000 has been allocated to a general facelifting of the track. The pit area also has been rebuilt and the stands moved in closer for a better view of the track.

Among the names headed for Monterey will be New Zealand's Bruce McLaren, Denis Hulme and America's Dan Gurney, Jim Hall and Mark Donohue.

Top Drivers To Compete In Monterey Grand Prix

Some of the best drivers in the world, in some of the world's best race cars, have entered the Monterey Grand Prix, first western stop in the six-race Canadian-American Challenge Cup Series.

Sponsored by the Sports Car Racing Association of the Monterey Peninsula at its famed Laguna Seca course, the Oct. 11-13 races offer over $92,000 in prize money.

Already entered are Denny Hulme, former world champion and winner of the Road America Can-Am at Elkhart Lake, Wisc. and Bruce McLaren. Hulme's boss and designer of the McLaren cars they both drive. McLaren was second at Elkhart Lake and last year won the Monterey race as well as the Can-Am championship.

Dan Gurney and his protege Swede Savage are registered to drive their All American Racers cars in the 152-mile contest. Gurney holds a long list of wins on courses all over the world.

Jo Bonnier, Swiss independent and president of the Grand Prix Drivers Association also has posted his entry fee.

Rounding out the list of early entrants is Mark Donohue of Media, Pa. driving Roger Penske's McLaren-Chevy. Donohue won the Laguna Seca race in May, and went on to wrap up the United States Road Racing Championships crown by winning six of the eight races. Not content with this major achievement, Donohue, in the Penske Sunoco-Hilton Camaro, overwhelmed all competition to win the Trans-American sedan championship this year, as well.

He captured the second Can-Am race this fall, at Bridgehampton, N.Y., and must be regarded as one of the very top entries in the upcoming Monterey Grand Prix.

Gilstrap Wins Golf

Vernon Gilstrap of Woodacre shot a 69 last Friday to lead a field of 64 players in the third annual San Geronimo Valley Lions Club golf tournament at the San Geronimo National course. The tournament netted more than $300 for the San Geronimo Valley Lions Club's "Aid to the Blind" charity program.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bridge Player Saved From Ruin By Call To A Spaghetti Feed

"Were you ever saved from a bidding disaster by ap late of spaghetti and meatballs?" asks Mrs. Barbara Kachmar in the latest issue of The Bridge World. To be more accurate, the rescue was brought about by a half-ton of spaghetti and 500 pounds of meat balls, which made it quite a dish to set before a king.

Opening lead — ♣ K

Mrs. Kachmar had just decided to open the South hand with a bid of three diamonds when an official at the national bridge tournament announced over the public address system that spaghetti and meat balls would be served in a few minutes. During the announcement, Mrs. K. decided that two diamonds would be a better opening bid than three diamonds.

Since this weak two-bid showed almost enough strength for an ordinary opening bid, North made sure of getting to game. If South had opened with three diamonds (a desperately weak bid in expert circles), North would have passed.

PERFECT PLAY

Mrs Kachmar played the hand to perfection while 2,000 tournament players got up to eat their spaghetti. She took the black aces, ruffed a club, cashed the queen of hearts, ruffed a spade in dummy and discarded two spades on the top hearts. Declarer then ruffed another club and ruffed her last spade with dummy's remaining trump.

By this time West and South were reduced to four trumps. Declarer led a heart from dummy and ruffed with the queen of trumps.

DIDN'T HELP

Since West would have to lead away from his ten of trumps if he overruffed, he overruffed with the three of trumps. This didn't help. Mrs. Kachmar led the jack of diamonds, and West could get his king but nothing else.

It's enough to make a man give up pasta and take to vino.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠—K J 9 8
♥—J 10 7 3
♦—5
♣—J 10 8 6
What do you say?

Answer: Bid two hearts.

The trouble with bidding one spade is that you will later have to raise the hearts, and the hand isn't quite worth both bids. Raise partner's major suit and leave the next move to him. If his hand warrants further action, you will gladly accept an invitation to game.

Market Closes High After Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher in moderately heavy trading today.

Many prices were near their best at the close. A broad assortment of issues showed changes of several points or more. Many were in the 1-point range.

The market opened on an uptrend and maintained its pace throughout the session.

Prices near the close included Occidental Petroleum off ⅝ at 45⅞; CIT Financial off 4½ at 55¼; INA Corp. up 2¼ at 49¼; Boeing up 4⅜ at 61⅞; MGM up 1 7⁄8at 54¼; United Fruit up 1⅜ at 73⅛; General Motors up ⅞ at 83⅞; Union Carbide up 1⅜ at 44⅝ and Penn Central up 1¼ at 70⅞.

The upsurge, possibly abetted by the aspect of closed markets tomorrow for a continuation of unjamming back office paper work, showed no signs of pausing for an expected consolidation phase.

Steels showed strength, with motors mixed and rubbers higher. Boeing added 3 at 60½ and United Aircraft 2⅛ at 65⅛ among airplane builders.

A GIANT-SIZED PLANE

A receptionist looks over a model of the Lockheed 500 at a recent air cargo show in Chicago's Soldier Field. The new airfreighter will be the largest airplane in the world and is scheduled to be in service by early 1972. High density cargoes of up to 300,000 pounds will form a single load for the craft. Other typical single loads might include six full-size Greyhound buses along with six other large vehicles or 95 small automobiles.

CRANSTON: Author Among The World Federalists

By FRANK ANDERSON

One work is "The Killing of the Peace," published in 1945 and reissued in 1960. Written in diary form, the book covers the 1916-1923 period and records the defeat of the League of Nations in the United States and elsewhere.

The League, similar in aims to the present-day United Nations, was formed after World War I.

The book on the League of Nations got generally good reviews and the New York Times named it one of the "10 best" published in 1945.

But the other title in the public library, "The California Democratic Council," has not fared so well. Today, seven years after its publication, political critics would like to throw the book at Cranston and his co-author, Joseph L. Wyatt Jr., Los Angeles attorney who followed Cranston as CDC president in 1957.

PERHAPS "would like to throw" is too mild a phrase. Indeed, critics of the Cranston record do throw the CDC at him — constantly. But more about that later.

"The Killing of the Peace," as noted, got fairly good reviews. Some samples:

"While well documented and historically in the main correct, the book appears to suffer from a measure of one-sidedness." — Christian Science Monitor.

"Cranston's book is journalistic, not scholarly." — American Political Science Review.

"The result is an excellent, if somewhat one-dimensional, short history of the birth and death (as far as the United States was concerned) of the League of Nations." — Karl Schriftgiesser, New York Times.

It is well to remember the phrases "one-sidedness" and "somewhat one-dimensional" for they will pop up again in criticisms of Cranston's public life.

CRANSTON wrote "The Killing of the Peace" when the United States was on the verge of victory in World War II. In its 1945 preface he said:

"I wrote it in the hope that errors that lost the peace after World War I would be avoided."

His belief that limitation on the sovereignty of nations within an international organization is a requisite of peace was to become an insistent theme throughout his public life. It has since been reflected in the positions he has taken on international issues and in the organizations he has joined.

One such organization was United World Federalists, a nonprofit nonpartisan organization formed in 1947 to help achieve world peace through world law.

Cranston became chairman of the UWF's Northern California branch and served as national president of the organization from 1949 to 1952. He is still a member and is one of 12 honorary vice presidents.

Conservatives view the UWF as pinko and connected with communism. But Cranston said in Long Beach in 1951 that the Communists despise UWF and its aims and term the movement "the figleaf of capitalism."

The United World Federalists was a product of the merger of five organizations, one of them Americans United for World Government, which Cranston served in 1945-46 as director and member of the executive committee.

The organization in its early years had bipartisan support, including some leading conservatives.

One was Rep. Walter H. Judd, R-Minn., who in 1949 co-sponsored with Arkansas Democrat Brooks Hays a House resolution, backed by UWF, aimed at strengthening the United Nations by "making Security Council veto power a more responsible instrument."

"I WORKED closely with UWF," Judd said in a telephone interview from Washington. "But I became somewhat disenchanted with the organization in the 1950s, when it contradicted its stated aims of world peace through enforceable world law and pushed for the admission of Red China to the U. N.

"I thought the UWF's espousal of U. N. membership for Peking violated the U. N. Charter. How can you bring in as a member a lawless nation diametrically opposed to everything the U. N. is supposed to stand for?"

Judd said conservative col-

Some Noble Red Men Teach Us A Lesson

The story appeared in the sports section of Saturday's Independent-Journal, but it richly deserves further comment.

The tribal council of the Gila River Indian Reservation in Arizona voted unanimously to refuse to allow the Cassius Clay-Zora Folley heavyweight boxing match to be held on the reservation.

Said Mrs. Mary Anna Johnson, a member of the council:

"The reason I oppose having this fight here is it would desecrate the land some of our brave boys have walked on."

THE REASON for the Indian' action is this: Cassius Clay, as Mohammed Ali (the name he assumed on espousing the Black Muslim religion) refused induction into the United States armed forced. He claimed exemption as a minister of God. The government rejected this claim. A federal court sentenced Clay to prison as a draft violator. He hasn't gone to prison, though, as the case is on appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

The Pima and Maricopa Indians of the Gila River reservation are patriotic. Many of their young men have given their lives for the United States. They want no part of draft dodgers.

And so, despite the fact the Indians are poor and their youth recreation organization would have received money for a swimming pool from the fight proceeds, the tribal council rejected the proposal that Cassius Clay stage his "comeback" fight on Gila River Indian property.

TO MANY YOUNG black people — and some whites — Mohammed Ali is a hero. These young people, along with plenty of their elders, are disgusted and disheartened with the United States' involvement in the Vietnam War. And, by twisted logic, Cassius Clay's evasion of the draft on the spurious premise that he is a minister becomes commendable in their eyes.

Not so to the Arizona Indians.

These red men, whose ancestors were pushed from their tribal lands onto this inhospitable reservation in a corner of Arizona, see the issue in simple, honorable terms: Cassius Clay refuses to fight for his country. So they want no part of him.

THEY DO NOT — as too many do nowadays — denounce their nation because in past generations their people were mistreated.

In doing so, they have provided a lesson for all of us — white and black as well as red.

It is an old gag, when things go wrong, to suggest, "We ought to give the country back to the Indians."

Maybe we could do worse!

Will GOP State Committee Oust Barham As Disloyal?

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Assemblyman William T. Bagley was assailed for disloyalty to the GOP during the June primary by his opponent, Clay Barham — who now turns out to be somewhat more disloyal by endorsing Wallace for president.

Some of the shine on Barham's credentials comes from his 4-year-old membership on the California Republican Central Committee. It will be interesting to see if the committee dismisses him — a fate instantly announced when a member declared he was supporting Alan Cranston over Max Rafferty for the U. S. Senate.

The standing rules of the committee bar a member from supporting a candidate of an opposition party. Still unknown is whether that means Wallace partisans as well as Democrats.

If the polls showing Nixon the winner prove correct, Bagley, long a strong supporter of Nixon, probably could have his pick of many good federal jobs, including perhaps as an assistant attorney general in the civil rights division of the Justice Department.

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, is taking credit for the administration's war policy, according to a recent press release from his office.

Clausen, noting that he long has advocated replacing American troops with Vietnamese troops, said his approach "finally appears to be catching on."

It's good to know there is so little difference between the major parties.

VICE PRESIDENT Hubert H. Humphrey's arrival last week in San Francisco before the Commonwealth Club brought the crowd of 1,000 persons to its feet — for 20 seconds.

Then they all sat down to listen for 46 minutes, during which they interrupted him with brief applause 19 times.

Former Gov. Edmund G. Brown, sitting four places from Humphrey, drew about five seconds of applause.

Outside, a contingent of about 10 pro-Humphrey youths were outshouted into silence by about 100 hippies protesting the war.

An inspiring day it was not.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Non-Resident Status Held Beneficial

I realize that any newspaper has a right to expound editorially, however it disturbs me when you write editorials without all the facts. I asked for and was granted permission by the city manager and the Sausalito City Council to move out of Sausalito. Frankly my family's welfare and happiness are far more important to me than my job. I did advise the council that if even one person objected to my moving I would not do so. However I felt that it would ultimately influence the kind of job I could do, as well as how long I would stay in Sausalito. My moving was brought up at an open council meeting and it was moved by Councilman Jan Dyk and approved unanimously that the city manager be allowed to approve the residence of any department head.

I felt that I had brought to Sausalito and to Marin County something worthwhile in the field of law enforcement. I believe that our record for the past two years will bear this out and needs no defense. I hope that the residents of Sausalito also believe that what I have done and what the department is doing is worthwhile. I do not believe that I will be any less a chief of police living in Larkspur. In fact, I know I can do a better job knowing that my wife and children are happy.

I do not choose to go into the problems they had to contend with prior to our moving, however I am sure a lesser family would not have endured. One of the reasons I gave the council for moving was that I wished to become a part of Marin County as well as Sausalito and I wished to purchase a home and keep my children in St. Patrick's and Redwood High School where they are happy. We have met some wonderful people in Larkspur, participate in Little League and Babe Ruth Baseball programs and once again feel like neighbors to those around us.

If Sausalito or any city wants to truly professionalize any department they will have to realize that you cannot bring professional people to a city with archaic attitudes towards residence requirements. Contrary to what you editorialize, I will be a better chief of police than I was before simply because of my family's well-being. I have pride in Sausalito and even more pride in the police department which I believe to be the finest in Marin County and no editorials can change that pride.

I would truly hope that the residents of Sausalito agree with me and also show some of that pride in their police department.

(Editor's note: The Sausalito City Council on April 16 of this year granted the city manager permission to authorize department heads to live outside the city. Permission to move to Larkspur was subsequently given Police Chief Kreins by the city manager under this authorization.)

Proposition 9 Wakes Up Politicians

It sure is surprising to see how fast our politicians went to work on a tax cut, "Proposition IA" with the threat of "Proposition 9" about to upset their apple cart!

Then too, the mad scramble of the various school boards and their denunciation of Proposition 9, after submitting budgets in excess of their needs!

I am prepared to take my chances on the dire results promised by the politicians should Proposition 9 pass!

One benefit will be to remove the hands of the school boards and the welfare departments from our pockets.

Financing of schools and welfare by the state might result in long sought economy measures and better administration. . .

Hawks And Doves Misread What's Happening In Vietnam

WASHINGTON — Hawks and Doves in the United States are greatly misreading the state of the Vietnamese war.

Both sides are mistaking appearance for reality.

The reality is that the United States is in the process of disengaging from the defense of South Vietnam and, regardless of who becomes President — Richard Nixon or Hubert Humphrey — this withdrawal will continue until it is completed.

The question isn't whether disengagement will be the policy of the next administration. It will. The uncertain, haunting, unanswered question is whether U. S. disengagement can be carried out with such care, steadiness and patience that we don't throw away all chances for a decent and workable peace.

IT IS EVIDENT that Hawks still tend to think that because most Americans oppose any further one-sided reduction of the bombing of the north and oppose negotiating the Communists into a coalition government in Saigon without elections, the U. S. role in defending South Vietnam will remain as it now is indefinitely.

It won't. Nixon and Humphrey know it won't. President Thieu knows it won't. The South Vietnamese leaders know that they are going to have to take over step by step the great burden of defending their nation during the latter stages of the war — and they are preparing to do so.

The Doves continue to picket and heckle Humphrey — and Nixon somewhat — as though the debate hadn't already been won, as though the issue about what the United States should do in Vietnam is the same today as it was a year ago.

It isn't the same. It is radically different today. The issue is not whether the United States is to disengage from Vietnam, but how best to disengage over a period so that Saigon can safely assume a full-sized role in holding the line and in standing up for a defensible peace.

THIS IS EXACTLY what Nixon and Humphrey are talking about, but they are quite aware that steps to reach this objective cannot be spelled out in detail until one or the other has the authority as President to make policy, not just speeches.

This is what Nixon is saying when he avows that his "highest priority as President will be to end the war in Vietnam."

This is what Humphrey is saying when he tells a TV panel of European editors that he "will reassess the entire situation in Vietnam and take action that the situation requires."

I think it is now clear beyond argument that as President either Nixon or Humphrey will take steps to get serious peace talks under way in Paris and to begin the process of American disengagement from Vietnam.

OBVIOUSLY the South Vietnamese leaders are not happy at this prospect, but my information is that they are reconciled to it and believe that, if the American withdrawal is not carried out in any hasty scuttle-and-run manner, they can hold the Viet Cong in check even during drawn-out peace negotiations.

It would not be surprising to find that they are prepared to do more. There is reason to expect that early next year Saigon itself will propose the beginning steps to enable some U. S. troops to be withdrawn and to enable further disengagement to proceed in a prudent and orderly manner.

The evidence of such a cooperative and confident attitude on the part of the South Vietnamese government would create a favorable response in the United States. It would enable the American people to see their commitment in Vietnam coming to an end and, by doing so, would enable the new President to have time enough to bring it to an end carefully and constructively.

Reasons Obscure For New Fears In Middle East

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Incredible and senseless as it seems, fears are building that the Mideast may be on the verge of another violent explosion between Jews and Arabs.

It is both incredible and senseless since the Israelis long ago won their strategic goals and already hold more land and rebellious peoples than they comfortably can handle. And the Arabs, despite bellicose talk and promises of action to remove the tarnish of the six-day 1967 war, simply are not ready.

But, declared Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad in London, "a new outbreak can be expected in the Middle East at any time."

LITTLE OF THIS talk has come from Israel, where Premier Levi Eshkol appears to have won at least temporarily a test of strength against the more hawkish members of his government who would toughen the line against the Arabs and simply annex all the conquered territories.

It freed Foreign Minister Abba Eban, classed as a dove, to pursue his search for a negotiated peace, leaving the future of certain of the occupied Arab lands negotiable.

The source of these fears, then, becomes obscure.

A part stems from the new hard-line stance of the Soviet Union as seen in Czechoslovakia, the lack of any real assessment of future Russian intent, and a lack of knowledge as to just who is pulling the strings in the Kremlin.

BENEATH the talk of renewed hostilities there also are vague suggestions that both President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and King Hussein of Jordan would like to come to terms with Israel.

Egypt's economy could not stand another war without massive Russian aid. The more time that passes without peace, the more shaky becomes Hussein's throne.

There are compelling reasons for peace in the Mideast, and it may be hoped that these will outweigh passion.

If ignorance and passion are the foes of popular morality, it must be confessed that moral indifference is the malady of the cultivated classes. — Henri-Frederic Amiel.

Novato Learning The Hard Way That Parks Must Be Patrolled

When the $2,250,000 bond issue for parks was being discussed last winter in Novato, two of the main arguments used against it were the high cost of the parks and the cost of maintenance and patrol. The issue was defeated by the voters in January and many people felt that it dragged the street bond issues down to defeat along with it.

At least the city council felt this way and now is trying for a bond issue of $3 million for street improvements, which will be on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Getting back to the arguments against the parks, people who had some experience with parks spread the word that the original cost was only part of it. Maintenance and patrol is a costly item also, they held. The question was raised many times during the campaign.

THE CITY OF NOVATO is learning about patrolling parks the hard way. It has Lions Park below Stafford Dam. The park is far enough outside the city limits so the police do not patrol it. Vandals have done much damage there in the past two years. The parks and recreation commission voted at its latest meeting to close the vehicle entrances to the park. Anyone wanting to use it will have to walk in. The commission hoped that this would reduce the vandalism.

The original park bond issue had $285,000 earmarked for development of Pioneer Memorial Park. Since the bond issue failed, the Novato Civic Foundation has undertaken to develop the park. It persuaded contractors to donate the use of their equipment and paid the $5,000 cost of labor for grading the park. This would have cost about $22,000 if contracted out, according to city estimates.

Now that the second phase of work on the park has been designed and is ready for development, the civic foundation is again ready to carry the elephant's share of the load. The total cost of the next phase was estimated at $8,940. This includes installation of water mains, sewers and drainage.

The civic foundation has asked that the city make some small purchases and lay the drainage pipe in ditches which will be dug and filled at no cost to the city. Total cost of this phase to the city will be $1,725 instead of $8,940.

The city has a park development fund of $30,000. The talk around the city hall now is that, with the help of the civic foundation, the entire park will be completed for less than the $30,000 on hand. This is a far cry from the original $285,000.

THE NOVATO dog control experiment started today. Roaming dogs were such a problem that the city council enacted a strict leash law. It backed this up by hiring a special Marin County Humane Society officer to patrol Novato at odd hours to catch the loose dogs.

Strange, but the officer probably will not have much to do. People are suddenly keeping their dogs in their own yards.

It would seem that it might take just the threat of law enforcement to make people start obeying the law.

CRANSTON

umnist Edgar Ansel Mowrer, a friend of his, had been a member of the UWF board but resigned in protest against "certain policy statements made by the organization" in the 1950s and early 1960s.

The Peking U. N. membership issue arose after Cranston left the presidency of UWF. As president of the CDC, Cranston had expressed opposition to diplomatic recognition of Peking.

IN NEITHER case, Cranston's critics point out, was his for-the-record opposition translated into action preventing the organizations from taking the pro-Red China position, although he was a past president of both of them.

Aside from stating his differences with current UWF positions unrelated to world peace through world law, Judd had nothing detrimental to say about the organization.

The former congressman is today a radio commentator for the American Security Council, with a program called "Washington Report." The program is described by Judd as "the expression of responsible conservatism."

Cranston, in 1949, said the UWF presupposes a legislative body with authority limited to the passage of laws necessary to enforce peace "just as laws are enforced within our borders."

He said the governing body of the organization would not be given authority to do such things as write local traffic laws, control education, religion or deprive people of their civil rights.

A search of the UWF record through the years shows a consistent espousal of the objectives claimed for it by Cranston in 1949.

THE MOSCOW propaganda apparatus has damned the UWF program. But so has the John Birch Society, which has charged UWF with "advocating the surrender of American Sovereignty."

Opposition to the UWF is not monopolized by the extreme right or Moscow. The Daughters of the American Revolution and the Veterans of Foreign Wars also have assailed it as "visionary and perilous in its advocacy."

The man on duty at the American Opinion Library in Canoga Park, greeted inquiry about the UWF with "it's a pinko, commie-type outfit."

But he searched through his racks of John Birch Society literature without being able to produce evidence to support his condemnation of the UWF.

All he could offer was that "Alan Cranston's a member of the UWF."

However, the Birch American Opinion Library did contain reports of the state Senate Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities. Note was made of the UWF on Page 145 of the committee's 1959 report.

It dealt with the trial of a Northern California teacher who sued a radio commentator on grounds she lost her job because he had branded her membership in UWF subversive.

THE COMMITTEE reported it had sent its representative to San Francisco as an expert witness and that he had testified: "... that we had never listed UWF as a subversive organization, had no evidence that it was Communist controlled, and that we did have evidence that it was not Communist-controlled."

Also used against Cranston has been his membership in the American Veterans Committee, which in 1954 termed the Communist Control Act of that year "loosely drawn and hastily adopted without hearings" and urged its prompt reconsideration.

The 1954 Boston AVC convention, which Cranston did not attend, resolved that the Communist Control Act "sets up arbitrary and ill-considered standards for determining membership of participation in the Communist Party ... thus violating traditional American freedom, embodied in the Bill of Rights."

This resolution was accompanied by one commending the U. S. Senate for censuring Red-hunting Sen. Joseph McCarthy, R-Wis., a longtime right-wing hero.

Cranston was a rank-and-file member of the AVC. There is no evidence he was a policymaker.

He makes no apologies for past associations, all of which he says are on the record.

HAVING gotten his feet wet internationally with the OWI, the UWF and the field of foreign correspondence, Cranston in the early 1950s turned to the grass roots of California Democratic politics.

As he worked as president of UWF, hit the banquet circuit as a lecturer and furthered the family building and real estate business in Palo Alto, his methodical mind was conceiving the California Democratic Council.

The plan would reach fruition at Fresno in November 1953 and for the next 15 years Cranston would be measuring his neck for an albatross.

But first there was a November 1952 trip to Washington to testify before a special congressional committee investigating charges he, as an OWI official, had brought pressure during the war to curb some Polish language broadcasters in this country who blamed Russia for the 1943 Katyn Forest massacre of 15,000 Polish intellectuals and army officers.

Hitler's Germany and Stalin's Russia blamed each other for the massacre, and the guilt never was established conclusively.

CRANSTON, who had been chief of the OWI foreign language division, told the committee the general policy of the U. S. government in 1943 was to discourage attacks on Allied unity, and that Russia then was an ally.

The committee, which was headed by Democrat Ray Madden of Indiana, concluded Soviet security police were responsible for the massacre and issued a report to that effect. The report contained recommendations that the Katyn Forest killings be investigated by the U. N. General Assembly, with a view toward seeking World Court action against the Soviet Union for crimes against humanity.

Nothing came of the recommendations.

The committee report was critical of U. S. handling of the massacre issue, but Cranston was not singled out for censure. He was, it appears, following policy set down by his OWI superiors and the White House, then occupied by Franklin Roosevelt.

After his session in the committee's witness chair, California looked good to the returning Cranston. He had political plans and a vehicle for achieving them — the CDC.

Nothing To Write In Biafra —But Oh! Those London Taxis

You don't let go that easily. Not when you've got Frank McCallister wedged into a corner table, drinking coffee, and getting the picture of how it is . . . shuttling supplies into Biafra. Last week I wrote an instant profile on Frank. Now let's talk about what the flying is like in Biafra.

He was describing Annabelle, the airport there.

"It was long enough — 7,500 feet," he said, "but only 70 feet wide. The landing gear on a 'Connie' is 38 feet wide. You can work it out from there. And going in only at night, with flare pots. . ." he paused, shaking his head.

"Where were you based and what was your cargo, Frank?"

"We were out of Lisbon, to Bissau, then to Sao Tome and into Biafra. Mostly we carried ammunition on the 'Connies.' The DC-7's carried primarily food. The 7's belong to the church."

"The Catholic Church?"

"Well, yes, although I think the World Council of Churches is also involved, all working closely together. Those priests . . . those guys!" He laughed.

"YOU APPARENTLY have great respect for them."

"Boy, you just don't know how much! Father Butler, for instance . . . wears a leather jacket, rides motorcycle like a maniac, tears up the town . . . a little bitty ol' slight man . . . been there 35 years. And Father Burns . . . there for 20-odd years. These men, they can outswear you, outdrink you and outfight you and they're the most dedicated men I've ever known. They're not like the priests you see here in church. They're as different as construction workers are from office workers."

"How many airplanes were lost?"

"Let's see . . . two, three, four. Yes, four. One was stolen, someone wanted to collect the $100,000 reward the Nigerians were offering for each aircraft delivered to them. One crashed in Bissau, and the one Auggie Martin was on crashed at Annabelle, and one was sabotaged."

"How many were killed?"

"Four, they were all on Auggie's airplane. Everyone walked away from the one that crashed on Bissau . . . not a scratch."

"DID YOU CARRY cargo out of Annabelle?"

"No, we used to carry some rubber out but stopped it because we needed the manuverability and altitude after they started shooting at us. When you get 10,000 pounds of rubber bouncing around while you're trying to avoid aircraft fire. . ." he smiled, "well, there'd be too much damage to the aircraft."

We made pilot talk for awhile, then I asked him how long he thought the fighting would last in Biafra.

"Don't know," he said and winced. "The Nigerians are whittling away at Biafra at about a mile a day. They've got Biafra down to about 85 miles long now. Pretty tough, you know, hand-to-hand fighting, guerrilla tactics. We bring in the ammo to them but they're getting the rest of their supplies by capturing them. That's a hell of a way to tight a war. It's the hard way, I'll tell you. Are you going to write about all this?"

"Yes, I told you so," I said. "Any objections?"

"No, I just don't know what you can write about. There's no glory, no razzmatazz, nothing. Just a job. No danger to it either. The most dangerous part is the ride in the taxi-cab to the hotel. That taxi ride! Those taxis in Lisbon! You take your life in your hands to get in one of them in Lisbon. Worse than Tokyo . . . worse than any of them in India!"

Subdivisions On Cotati Agenda

Cotati Planning Commission members will discuss provisions for a subdivision ordinance at their regular meeting today at 7:30 p.m. at the Cotati Elementary School Auditorium.

An emergency ordinance covering small subdivisions is in effect, but commissioners believe a permanent ordinance is necessary for future development.

Commissioners will also hold a public hearing on an application to sell beer and wine at the inn of the Beginning Restaurant, 8201 Redwood Highway, and discuss an application by Mrs. Barbara Schenbackler for a minor subdivision on Richardson Lane.

Citrus acreage in Florida has more than doubled in 20 years and now totals 1 million acres.

HOT, DRY OCTOBER EXPECTED

Maps prepared from U.S. Weather Bureau 30-day forecasts indicate that Marin is in for much above average temperatures this month, and less than normal rainfall. Perhaps the month will be a repeat of October, 1967, which was one of the warmest of record and which saw only .44 of an inch of rainfall in San Rafael, with .29 on Oct. 3 during a two-day wind and rain storm. Last year's October high was 90 degrees on Oct. 17 and low was 48 on Oct. 25. Average high was 71; low, 53. (AP Wirephoto maps)

Rusk Toiling At U.N. For Mideast Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk conferred privately with U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring today in an effort to spur Middle East peace negotiations while Israeli and Arab foreign ministers are in New York for the General Assembly.

The two met for breakfast as part of Rusk's intensive diplomatic consultations on world problems. He talked for more than an hour yesterday with Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban and had an appointment to see Jordan's foreign minister, Abdul Monem Rifai, later.

There was no word from either Jarring or Rusk as to details of their conversations, but informed sources said the central point of Rusk's talks so far has been that Jarring, Swedish ambassador to Moscow, should be the main channel for peace negotiations.

Rusk also has been stressing two other main points:

Any settlement must be worked out between Israel and her neighbors, rather than imposeed from the outside.

Jarring, who has been working on the Middle East problem for 10 months, is understood to be consulting quietly with Eban, Rifai and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad. He makes it a policy to say nothing about his meetings, even to the extent of not confirming that they took place.

Eban told reporters he had no plans to talk with any of the Arab foreign ministers here, but added: "We are always ready to talk to anyone." Israeli sources said Israel still insisted that any settlement must be reached through face-to- face negotiations, but procedural and preliminary matters could be discussed through a third party.

Eban ruled out a Soviet plan which called for Big Four guarantees for territorial agreements. He said: "The Middle East is not an area of international protection." He added that Israel could hardly accept Russia's promise of protection in the light of its invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Rusk will deliver a major policy speech before the 125-nation General Assembly Wednesday. He spent much time today working on the final draft.

School Workers Pick Committee For Salary Plan

Reed School District Classified Employees Association board last night named a committee to formulate salary recommendations for the 1969-1970 fiscal year.

Appointed were Mrs. Aurora Garrett, representing librarians; Grace Pastori, representing custodians and gardeners; Amy Inman, representing secretaries, and Betty Newton, representing teacher aides.

The committee was formed, Mrs. Garrett said, upon request of the school board which plans to consider salary requests along with the preliminary budget, usually submitted in November.

The board also discussed the proposed Watson Amendment which would deprive school districts of property tax revenues and named Mrs. Newton to a district committee of teachers, board members and staff to work for defeat of the amendment on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Information Chief Takes New Chore

WASHINGTON (AP) Leonard H. Marks will resign soon as director of the U.S. Information Agency, the White House said today, to head a U.S. delegation arranging for an international telecommunications satellite conference in 1969.

Marks' new assignment will give him the rank of personal ambassador.

He is expected to resign as USIA director sometime in the next four or five weeks. Presidential press secretary George Christian said no successor has yet been indicated in the USIA post, to which Johnson appointed Marks, a communications attorney, in 1965.

The international conference, which will be held in Washington in February 1969, involves 63 nations. They are members of the International Telecommunications Satellite Consortium (Intelsat), which was formed in 1964 to develop a global system of commercial satellite communication.

Marks was appointed by President Kennedy in 1962 as a member of the board of the Communications Satellite Corp. (COMSAT) and served in this post until Johnson appointed him to head the USIA.

Span Crash Hurts Four

Four persons were treated for minor injuries at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Richmond yesterday after a car smacked into the rear of a maintenance truck on the Richmond-San Rafael bridge, the California Highway Patrol said.

The accident occurred at 8:40 a.m., the patrol reported, when a car driven by Richard Brandt DeLew, 26, of 259 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, hit the truck driven by Jerry Louis Lykken, 24, of Oakland, an employee of the state Division of Bay Toll Crossings.

The truck, towing a small paving machine, was moving approximately 10 miles an hour and closing off a lane of traffic. DeLew, according to the highway patrol, said he was blinded by the sun and saw the truck too late.

Marinwood Driver Suffers Crash Cuts

Frank Salvatore Lucchesi, 30, of 884 Flaxberry Road, Marinwood, was treated for multiple cuts and scrapes last night at Marin General Hospital after his car swerved off Lucas Valley Road, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Lucchesi told the patrol an oncoming car ran him off the road at 7:30 p.m.

House Prober Says Cameras Ordered For Brutality Film

"Ten major organizations planned and plotted to disrupt the convention," said James L. Gallagher, a staff investigator for the House Committee on Un-American Activities as a subcommittee panel opened hearings to determine if the violence at last month's Chicago convention was planned by subversives.

HELP FOR HANOI

Gallagher also said the disorder was engineered by dissidents with the intent to support Hanoi in the Vietnam War and to disrupt the American political system.

With costumed youthful protestors crowding the hearing room —and one of them burning incense —Gallagher said the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) "told its members in preparation for the convention to find out your blood types and carry I. D. cards with the type on it."

IN CLEVELAND

He said representatives of the 10 groups met in Cleveland last summer, "where they collectd medical supplies and arranged for a camera crew to take pictures of alleged police brutality."

Gallagher was followed on the stand by two intelligence officers of the Chicago police department —Lt. Joseph Healy and Sgt. Joseph Grubisic —who were testifying when the panel recessed for lunch.

They said since the "latter part of 1967" they had investigated reports of plans to disrupt the Democratic convention.

The first round of the hearings —in a high-ceilinged, chandeliered room —were fairly peaceful compared to some of the committee's confrontations with youth groups in the past.

Outside the room, 45 policemen lined the corridor. On the street and in other parts of the Cannon Office Building about 40 more officers were stationed.

The hearing got under way in a Halloween atmosphere supplied by panel opponents who showed up in assorted costumes running to witches' hats, headbands, and other gear calculated, they said, to demonstrate the "burlesque" nature of the inquiry.

Police ejected, and then later admitted, one group including a scheduled witness, Jerry Rubin, a leader of the Youth International Party (Yippie), who turned up in a topless outfit, attired only in pants and war paint smeared over his head and chest.

Rubin returned to the hearing room after police relieved him of a bandoleer with 20 live rounds of ammunition for a real-looking but toy M16 automatic rifle.

A subcommittee of the highly controversial committee conducted the hearings, which the group said was aimed at identifying groups and persons responsible for the Chicago confrontations.

'Killing Satan' Sends Girl To Napa Hospital

An 18-year-old girl, traveling with a hippie group, was sent to Napa State Hospital Sunday after sheriff's deputies said she stabbed a dog to death while on a bad drug trip.

Deputy Kenneth Froberg said he was called to Muir Beach by persons who reported seeing a girl stabbing a dog in a bus parked near the beach.

When he arrived at the beach, Froberg was confronted by a gathering of about 30 hippies who told him to leave, that they would care for the girl, Froberg said.

The deputy refused and the crowd parted. Froberg said he saw the young, blonde girl kneeling beside a small black and white dog, which had a tire iron sticking through it.

The girl appeared to be high on a drug and was mumbling, then screaming, unable to answer questions, Froberg said.

Later, the girl told the deputy that the dog had Satan in him and the only way to kill the devil was by driving a stake through his heart. Several of her friends at the beach also have Satan in them, she told Froberg.

Houseboats Given Chance To Shape Up

County Aides Decry 'Hong Kong' Trend; New Laws Delayed

By WAT TAKESHITA

County officials today described houseboats on Richardson Bay as "increasing like rabbits," "looking like Hong Kong" and "like some Southeast Asian port," but decided to rely on existing ordinances to control the houseboats, at least for two weeks.

Marin County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously to continue the matter to Oct. 15 to get a report on progress of enforcement and the extent of cooperation from residents.

Attorney Stephen M. Koople of San Rafael, speaking for about 25 houseboat dwellers in the audience, assured the supervisors his clients are willing to cooperate and bring their houseboats to acceptable standards.

RESIDENTS FEARFUL

"People who live there and want to conform do not have a list of requirements," said Koople. He said they are afraid that applying for occupancy permits will bring inspectors who will find violations on almost every boat and oust the occupants.

Writer Dean Jennings, who lives on a houseboat at Gate 5, declared most of the violations can be handled under existing ordinances, and the blame rests with the county for not enforcing them.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen declared that the biggest problem is with houseboats that move from place to place and defy the investigators. He called for an interim emergency ordinance to prohibit bringing in or building houseboats, vans and cars used for habitation. After a two hour discussion, the supervisors decided to continue enforcement under existing ordinances and take another look in two weeks.

DOCTOR'S REPORT

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said the problem is with surveillance and enforcement rather than lack of legal control.

Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, county health officer, reported she sees no alarming increase in hepatitis, and the disease is spread county-wide, not concentrated on Richardson Bay. However, she found some of the conditions in Richardson Bay "appalling."

She saw two dogs swim in the bay and drag the muck back into a houseboat. She noticed pipes leading directly from boats into the water for waste disposal, and at least one of her inspectors fell through rotten boards. The health officer reported garden hose type water lines lying in the mud at low tide, with leaks in them. Although the water pressure may keep the bay pollution from entering the lines, this is always a possibility, she said.

'HEALTH HAZARD'

"Many hulks and debris are a hazard to health and safety," said Dr. Albrecht. She added that when she landed in a

Antiwar Officer Wins Stay Against Journey

Lt. HUGH F. SMITH
Dramatic reprieve

By MARY LEYDECKER

A 26-year-old Hamilton Air Force Base officer who claimed he was being shipped overseas because of his antiwar activities, has an 11th hour reprieve because his attorney tracked down a U.S. Supreme Court justice at his woodsy retreat Sunday.

A temporary stay to prevent the Air Force from transferring Second Lt. Hugh F. Smith to Formosa was granted by Justice William O. Douglas at about the same time Smith was supposed to report for an overseas flight.

Smith's lawyer, Lloyd E. McMurray said he had been prepared to fly to Washington, D. C. to seek out Justice Douglas but that he learned the justice was vacationing about 60 miles from Yakima, Wash., and went there instead.

Reached at his cabin in the woods, Douglas gave McMurray a handwritten document granting the stay.

McMurray explained that Justice Douglas acted with a little-used legal authority, his right to act as a judge of the federal district court of appeals.

ACTING AS ATTORNEY

A copy of the stay was given by McMurray to the U. S. Attorney's office, which is acting as attorney for the Air Force and Lieutenant Smith has been re-assigned to a civil engineering unit at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The terms of the stay require that Smith's case, which was turned down by a federal district court, must be filed with the U. S. District Court of Appeals by Friday, according to McMurray.

The stay will be temporary until this court rules on the merits of Smith's case, McMurray explained.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

Through the attorney Smith has claimed that he is being denied his right of freedom of speech by the Air Force, which he says seeks to prevent him joining a peace march planned for Oct. 12 in San Francisco.

Lieutenant Smith, who also has made headlines by forming a "union" for servicemen, has been one of the organizers of the "GI and Vets March of Peace" which is scheduled to proceed from the Panhandle of Golden Gate Park to the San Francisco Civic Center.

Smith has said he will lead the march in full uniform.

He claims that the Air Force is using the authority it possesses over his person to control his freedom of speech.

Five Hurt In Fiery Drag Race

Five persons were hospitalized last night after a flaming crash that ended a three-car drag race in Marin City, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Marin County sheriff's deputies James Spears and John Earl reported they were pursuing the three cars on Drake Avenue at 10:40 p.m. when they crested a hill and disappeared.

An instant later, the deupties said, they heard an explosion and saw a burst of flame ahead. As the patrol car topped the hill they saw two cars burning, one upside down, at the intersection of Cole Drive, the deputies reported.

Gerald Ford, 21, of 149 Drive Avenue, was standing by his car with his clothing afire, but two passersby beat out the flames.

As Spears and Earl approached they saw several persons inside the overturned car and pulled from the flaming vehicle driver Willie L. Evans, 20, of San Francisco; Stella Johnson, 20, of 720 Drake Avenue, Marin City, and Donald Lee Locket, 16, and George Henry Ozene, 18, both of San Francisco.

All were taken to Marin General Hospital, where four were admitted. Ozene was transferred to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco.

Nixon Says HHH Aids Hanoi View

DETROIT (upi)—Richard M. Nixon said today that Hubert H. Humphrey's expressed willingness to stop the bombing in North Vietnam encourages Hanoi to take a harder stand in the Paris negotiations. (See political stories, page 7.)

The Republican presidential candidate told a news conference, 'I have said before and I say again that we can have only one President at a time. Negotiations are going on in Paris. We may have some success with them."

Neither presidential candidate, Nixon said, should indicate to North Vietnam it could get a better deal from a new administration than that being offered by the negotiators of the Johnson administration.

Nixon called on Humphrey to clarify the stand he took in a speech at Salt Lake City last night. He called it the "fourth or fifth" position his Democratic opponent has taken on the bombing. Nixon said Humphrey's statement had been widely interpreted as a departure from the administration's position that Hanoi should reciprocate before any halt is called in the bombing.

"If he did not intend it to be a departure from his previous position, it has been widely misintrepreted," Nixon said.

He said his own position was in agreement with one of

Narcotics Raid Suspect Faces More Charges

A San Rafael man, suspected to be one of the biggest drug dealers in the Bay Area, found himself under fire in two counties yesterday when an arrest by federal drug agents in San Francisco and a raid on his home in Marin.

James Dewey Bell, 34, of 277 Union Street, out on $5,000 bail since February when he was arrested with more than 60 other persons in the biggest narcotics roundup in Marin County history, was scheduled to appear before the U.S. commissioner in San Francisco today.

DANGEROUS DRUGS

He was charged with selling dangerous drugs in violation of federal law after he allegedly participated in the sale of a half-pound of methamphetamine to an agent of the federal bureau of narcotics and dangerous drugs.

While Bell was being arrested in San Francisco, San Rafael police and Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau agents were searching his home on a warrant issued by Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson, Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa reported.

Chiesa said the two events were not connected. He declined to say what triggered the local search.

He reported officers found a plastic bag containing almost 1,000 pills of what appeared to be benzedrine, and more than a pound of what appeared to be methamphetamine (speed).

25 CENTS EACH

He said the pills would sell for about 25 cents each and the speed was worth more than $1,000.

The officers also found a five-gallon container of ether, sometimes used to break down methamphetamine, Chiesa said.

In San Francisco, Bell and a companion, James T. Morrissey of San Francisco, were arrested after they reportedly sold speed to the agent for $625 at 3:50 p.m. on Market Street near Jones Street.

Chiesa said a warrant would be issued for Bell from Marin County.

Bell was indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury in February on two counts of selling methedrine and marijuana and is scheduled to appear in Marin Superior Court Oct. 14 for setting of a trial date.

PROJECT 17 DEMANDS

Mill Valley Council Lists Rec Facilities Sought At New School

By ANNE BARDWELL

Mill Valley city officials last night listed the minimum recreational facilities acceptable to the city for the Project 17-Middle School Development.

Terming the list "extremely reasonable," Councilman Robert H. Andresen said, "there is nothing on this list which the school district shouldn't also want."

At the end of the two-and-a-half-hour special workshop session with the parks and recreation commission, the council called a special meeting with school trustees for 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall to hash out the conflict between the city's desires and the school district's money for the recreational facilities.

In April, city and school officials had agreed to cooperate in the development of the middle school — Project 17 area as a joint school — recreational facility for use by the entire community.

However, architects plans unveiled last week indicated that the city and school district had differing ideas as to each one's financial responsibility in the development.

City officials, reviewing minutes and previous agreements with the school district, last night contended that in exchange for 17 acres of city park lands the school district had taken on the financial responsibility to develop the recreational facilities which the city would share in the maintenance costs.

The city's requirements, which the councilmen last night insisted on in conjuction with the construction of the middle school building, are:

Two baseball diamonds with back stops and foul line fences.

The entire area landscaped as indicated on architects plans

MAO CELEBRATES YEARS IN POWER

Half-Million Chinese Applaud Leader; New Purge On Horizon

TOKYO (AP) — Red China celebrated the start of its 20th year under Mao Tse-tung's Communist rule today with Mao appearing at a giant rally and the press announcing a new purge to "firmly clean out" his enemies.

The new "purifying" purge comes on top of Mao's 26-month-old Great Cultural Revolution purge, which has set off bloody factional clashes in many parts of China.

HUGE TURNOUT

The 74-year-old Communist party chairman and his chosen heir, Defense Minister Lin Piao, received thunderous applause as they appeared on the high red walls of the Gate of Heavenly Peace Square in Peking. Japanese correspondents estimated half a million persons were in the square.

"Chairman Mao is very healthy," Peking radio reported in a live broadcast of the National Day ceremonies.

For the second year in a row, Mao's chief enemy, President Liu Shao-chi, was absent from the ceremonies. Also missing was party General Secretary Teng Hsiao-ping and many now-disgraced backers of Liu and Teng.

An editorial in the People's Daily, the Liberation Army Daily and the theoretical journal Red Flag said they had been "overthrown" and "that part of the power of leadership which they usurped" had been taken back. This suggested they may still retain party membership but have lost other posts.

NEW PURGE

The editorial announced the new purge to purify the ranks of the 17-million member party. It said "the renegades, enemy agents, and all other counter-revolutionaries against whom there is unquestionable proof as well as the die-hard capitalist roaders must be firmly cleaned out."

Way must be made, it added, for "advanced elements among the industrial workers" and "Communists who have stood firmly by Chairman Mao's proletarian revolutionary line." This was an apparent reference to the one-time relative unknowns' such as Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, who have risen to prominence but are not yet members of the party central committee.

The emphasis of workers follows the excesses of millions of students formed into Red Guard units at the start of the cultural revolution purge to agitate against the party, government and military apparatus established by Liu in 1959 after he succeeded Mao as president.

The followers of Mao announced a few weeks ago that the entire country was in Maoist hands following establishment of "revolutionary committees" to govern each of the country's 29 provinces, autonomous regions and municipalities.

But the purge left deep wounds. By the beginning of this year, the Red Guards were making indiscriminate assaults on Chinese people and quarreling among themselves. The army moved in to curb excesses, and encountered divisions within its own ranks.

ATTACKS RUSS, U.S.

Premier Chou En-lai said in a radio speech yesterday, "As far as the Great Cultural Revolution is concerned, the situation throughout the country is excellent. In a few more months, the whole situation will become better still."

He urged the Chinese to intensify their preparedness for war to smash "any invasion launched by U.S. imperialism or Soviet revisionism."

Mother In Jail; Children Die

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Linda Aicinema returned to her home last night and found her two sons, 3-year-old Raymond and 2-year-old Timothy, dead in the kitchen refrigerator, police said.

Mrs. Aicinema told police she left the children with a babysitter while she went to Tijuana last Sunday and was detained in jail overnight.

Officers said the shelves had been removed from the refrigerator and the children, dressed in pajamas, were in sitting positions.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Striking students moved back into the University of Mexico last night after the army moved out and they vowed to continue a campaign against the government for reforms.

Senators Quiz U.N. Appointee

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. R. Wiggins, President Johnson's choice as ambassador to the United Nations, says he has no solution for peace in Vietnam but defends the United States' right to be there.

Wiggins, former editor and executive vice president of the Washington Post, said in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday the goal of the Vietnam war is to let the South Vietnamese select "the type and character of the government under which they wish to live."

Asked by Committee Chairman Sen. J. William Fulbright for suggestions on how to achieve peace, Wiggins said: "I simply do not have a solution for the war in Vietnam."

Fulbright, D-Ark., a prominent critic of Johnson war policies, criticized Wiggins' stand on Vietnam.

Fulbright also questioned how "newspapers can continue to be objective and critical if their leading officials are recruited by the executive branch of the government."

Fulbright asked Wiggins how the Post could be expected to criticize its former editor. Wiggins said his confidence in his former associates would be shaken "if they were inhibited to the least degree in criticizing me if they thought I had made a mistake."

Chileans Repeat Heart Transplant

VALPARAISO, Chile (AP) — Surgeon Jorge Kaplan led an eight-doctor team today in Chile's second heart transplant operation, giving a new heart to 21-year-old Nelson Orellana Sanchez.

"The new heart began to work immediately after two hours of surgery," said Dr. Norman McCowley, spokesman for Admiral Neff Naval Hospital.

The donor was Pedro Contreras Arevalo, 17, who died early today from head wounds.

"After the heart was in place, the doctors faced some problems in suturing," McCowley said, but Orellana Sanchez, appeared to be in good condition.

Slaying Trial Ordered To Ukiah To Hear Injured Girl's Testimony

SAN JOSE (UPI) — A Superior Court judge, after hearing the grim testimony of a physician who examined pretty Susan Bartolomei after she was shot and raped last year, ordered the trial of her accused attackers temporarily moved to the girl's home town to hear her story.

Miss Bartolomei, now 18, has been almost completely paralyzed and unable to talk since the attack, but her physician said she had learned to communicate with sign language and by nodding her head.

Dr. Benjamin Boice of Sonora testified at the start of the sixth week of the trial yesterday that the girl has "made tremendous improvement" since the attack and that "mentally, she is a real sharp girl."

Judge Joseph Kelly ruled Miss Bartolomei's testimony would be taken at Mendocino County Hospital in Ukiah early next week, but indicated he had not yet decided whether the jury would journey there to be present.

Accused of the attack on Miss Bartolomei last August and the slaying of her boy friend, Timothy Luce, 17, are Leonard E. Maine and Thomas E. Braun, both 19 and from Ritzville, Wash.

Dr. Boice told the jury of seven men and five women that his surgery team at Sonora Community Hospital had just finished an operation and were about to begin another when Susan was brought in.

"She was critically injured when they brought her in—pale and in shock," he said. "I tried to question her but I wasn't able to get any response."

The doctor testified his medical team found a bullet wound in the back of the girl's neck, from a gun fired at close range, another wound in the right side of her head, a one and one-half inch wound in the back of her head that could have been inflicted by two or three bullets, and another bullet wound in her left shoulder with a bullet fragment resting against her heart.

Boice also testified it was one of the worst cases of sexual assault he had seen in 20 years of medical practice.

The bullet wounds in the brain, he said, "extensively damaged the motor area that has the connections that let you move your muscles, walk and talk," but that the girl's "thought center" was largely undamaged.

Boice said the right side of the girl's face is still paralyzed, but that she has recovered 25 per cent of the use of her right arm and hand and a slight movement of her left hand.

TEEN-AGERS TRY TRANSPLANT

Dennis Keefe, 17, a senior at the Hopkinton, Mass., high school, and assistant Cliff Bancroft, transplanted a heart into Bartholomew, a green frog, in their small home laboratory. The youngsters said the operation took two hours and that Bartholomew then opened his eyes and jumped off the table, living for five hours yesterday. (UPI Telephoto)

Hippie Influx Into Fairfax Held Problem

The Fairfax City Council agreed last night to tackle the hippie problem in that city, but took no immediate action.

Councilman Frank J. Egger said the city has to face up to its responsibility or "they'll overrun the town and we'll be faced with the same problem as San Francisco in the Haight-Ashbury area."

Mayor Robert R. Souza said the city has a hippie problem "to the extent that it is causing public concern."

DRUG CHARGES

Egger said there was narcotic traffic in the city, to which police are giving priority attention.

He contended that zoning laws are violated when from 12 to 14 persons live in one house in a single family zone.

Mrs. Priscilla Gray, secretary of the project committee for the Fairfax Congress for Community Progress, said returned questionnaires revealed that of 66 persons listing social problems 47 specified hippies.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson said the law should be applied equally to everyone. If someone is smoking marijuana, hippie or not, he should be treated equally, she said. "I don't think anyone should be harassed because he looks different. If they violate the law, it should be enforced," she said.

NO POLICE STATE

Souza said he wasn't thinking of having a police state where persons who act or dress differently come under police surveillance. He contended however there does "seem to be a correlation between length of hair, type of attire and lack of shoes" and the problems.

Louis Vaccaro of 21 Olema Drive said the hitchhikers rummage through Goodwill Industries collection box at the Cala Market, 2040 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and pick up what they want.

Last night's discussion was by way of a prelude to a full discussion to the hippie problem at a later session, and no action was taken.

Stronger Control On Dogs Sought

The Fairfax City Council called for stronger dog control regulations last night after hearing an urgent plea from an anxious mother.

Mrs. Tilden Hansen of 121 Wood Lane said she and her young children had been attacked by dogs and residents couldn't walk or ride a bicycle down the street.

"What can Fairfax do?" she pleaded. "I dare you to ride a bike or walk down Wood Lane."

She charged that "nothing is done," and asked, "What good is the Humane Society?"

Mayor Robert R. Souza said the city requires that dogs be leashed when downtown or upon public property, but this doesn't apply in residential areas.

The council asked City Atty. Wallace Myers to prepare an ordinance containing a stronger definition of what constitutes a vicious dog or a nuisance and provide that dogs so classified be kept on a leash.

Souza noted there are some people in the city "who don't bother to take care of their dogs," and that a stronger ordinance would offer further protection to residents.

Dog control enforcement is provided to the city by the Humane Society under contract. Councilmen agreed to send the society a letter expressing "strong displeasure" with the current situation and asking for relief.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell said "putting pressure on the Humane Society is talking to the wind."

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson said if the Humane Society doesn't have the manpower to do the job, it might need further subsidy from the public.

Mrs. Priscilla Gray, secretary of the committee for the Fairfax Congress for Community Progress, said dog control has drawn the most answers on a questionnaire sent out to residents. "It seems to be of widespread concern," she said.

O'Connell said the city couldn't afford a poundmaster and truck of its own.

The proposed stronger dog control ordinance is scheduled to be presented to the council Monday.

Boulevard Plans Will Be Studied By Tiburon Panel

The future of Tiburon Boulevard will be discussed at the annual Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at Reed School.

Following a report from the transportation committee, Alan S. Hart, chief district engineer with the state Division of Highways, will discuss state plans for Tiburon Boulevard.

Lawrence D. Rose, Tiburon city manager, will discuss city plans for the highway and Ben A. Farlatti, Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce president, will discuss methods to handle commute traffic.

Also speaking will be Edwin J. Drechsel, Belvedere councilman, on past, present and future traffic flow figures, and Joseph C. Marshall, Tiburon Planning Commission chairman on planned growth patterns.

Following the discussion, questions will be answered from the floor.

Cubans Sentence Woman Profiteer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The woman manager of a government store in Cuba has been tried in a public square before 3,000 persons and sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for increasing prices for personal benefit, Radio Havana said Monday night.

The broadcast said Mercedes Mena Linareas, manager of a nationalized clothing store in Cardenas, in the northern part of Matanzas Province.

Ordered to do six months of hard labor at a government farm camp. Her husband, Gilberto Malens Calvo, was given a similar term as an accomplice.

YOM KIPPUR WILL BEGIN AT SUNDOWN

Yom Kippur, the holiest day in the Jewish year, will begin at sundown tonight with services at temples and synagogues.

The chant of Kol Nidre will be recited, beginning a 24-hour fast which will end at sundown tomorrow — with the sounding of the shofar, the ram's horn which in ancient times summoned Jews into battle.

Also known as the Day of Atonement, the solemn holiday marks the end of the 10 Days of Awe which began Sept. 23 with Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year, 5729 on the Hebrew calendar.

'New English' Course Is Set

A 10-week evening course on the "new English" will be offered for Marin elementary school teachers from 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays beginning next Monday in Room 16 of San Clemente Elementary School, Corte Madera.

The three-unit credit course is designed to acquaint teachers with "transformational grammar" — traditional grammar made explicit through the study of phonology, syntax and spelling.

The course is sponsored by University of California Extension in cooperation with Marin County Schools. Additional information is available from the U. C. extension office in Berkeley.

Clash Breaks Uneasy N.Y. School Feuding

NEW YORK (AP) — Parents, pupils and teachers clashed briefly with police today at barricades set up outside a school in the troubled Ocean Hill-Brownsville Experimental School District. The board of education said the situation there was "deteriorating."

The clash showed that the bitter battle over decentralizing the 1.1-million pupil city school system—giving control to local groups—was far from over. It broke a generally peaceful return to classes yesterday and today in the rest of the school system after a three-week teachers strike.

The strike has been marked by racial tensions. The largely Negro and Puerto Rican school district in Brooklyn has charged the mostly-white teachers union and central school administration with trying to sabotage decentralization.

It erupted after a number of teachers from Junior High School 271, followed by scores of pupils, marched to Intermediate School 55. A faculty steering committee entered the building.

The others waited outside and were joined by a crowd of parents, teachers and youngsters approaching from another direction. Together, they marched on JHS 271.

Police manning barriers prevented them from entering the school and the brief clash followed.

The chairman of the locally elected school board in Ocean Hill said last night that the board would defy the agreement that ended the teachers' walkout by barring the assignment of 80 disputed teachers from their classrooms today.

A letter was distributed from the JHS 271 faculty steering committee to the returning teachers which said: "Our position is perfectly clear: We do not want these police who must escort you into school; we do not want so-called 'impartial' observers; we do not want the union and we do not want you."

Israel Overrules Prayers Protest

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Defense Minister Moshe Dayan has informed the mayor of occupied Hebron the Israeli government has overruled Moslem objections to Orthodox Jews praying at the Tomb of the Patriarchs on Yom Kippur, the Holy Day of Atonement, tomorrow.

The Orthodox Jews will pray and fast in a cave of Machpelah, said to contain the tomb of Abraham, from dawn until dusk.

Fairfax Festival To City Managership Is Suggested

The City of Fairfax should consider taking over the annual Fairfax Festival, now directed by a citizens group.

This was proposed to the Fairfax City Council last night by Edwin H. McGee, president of the Fairfax Festival Committee, who noted that the city has been doing "the lion's share" of the work.

McGee proposed that the city have jurisdiction over the festival, which, he said, could be administered through the park and recreation department.

Park and Recreation commissioners could appoint an advisory festival committee consisting of members of organizations that participate in the festival, he said.

McGee reported that the third annual festival in mid-September attracted from 12,000 to 15,000 persons to the city and was more successful than previous festivals.

McGee said he would present the proposal to the commission tomorrow night and the council postponed action until it receives a recommendation from the commission.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

ANNEXATION—Passed an ordinance annexing an area along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard north of the city including the White Hill School and Christ the Victor Lutheran Church property.

COUNCIL CHAMBERS — Approved a new council table and microphone system for the council chambers at the Fairfax Women's Club at a cost of $350 by a 4-1 vote with Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson dissenting.

CREEK CLEARING — Denied a request from Gordon B. Adams, 475 Cascade Drive, for a refund of $218 he paid city for clearing the creek through his property. Mayor Robert R. Souza advised that the city has done some emergency creek work, but that from now on owners will be billed for work done and "forced to keep creeks clean."

BULKHEAD—Authorized city crews to assist in the repair of a bulkhead in city right-of-way along Hillside Drive at the request of F. A. Wadsworth, 187 Hillside Drive.

SCHOOL FIELD — Authorized city crews to assist in the clearing of the playing field at White Hill School and the placing of poles as a barrier along the adjacent creek as requested by the Fairfax School District.

CONDEMNATION — Authorized filing notice of condemnation on substandard houses at 90 and 96 Forrest Avenue.

UTILITIES — Postponed until Monday setting a public hearing on forming an underground utilities district along Bolinas Road from Broadway to Sherman Street until exact boundaries are specified.

TRANSPORTATION — Notified the Marin County Transit District that there is need for bus service from Fairfax to the Marin Civic Center, but the city cannot commit itself to give any funds for transportation.

FREE WAIVER — Denied a request from Fairfax Hostess Service, a welcoming service for merchants, to waive the $25 business license fee.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Plans Set For New Cub Pack

A meeting to register boys from West Novato who want to be Cub Scouts and to organize a new cub pack to supplement Pack 85 in the area will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 10 at Marion School.

Boys aged 8-10 and attending Pleasant Valley, San Ramon or Our Lady of Loretto schools may register for membership as cubs. They must be accompanied to the meeting by a parent or guardian, according to Pack 85 Cubmaster Robert McCoy.

The new pack will serve cubs in the San Marin area, but parents are needed to serve as den mothers and on the pack council, McCoy said.

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Hassan al Amry of Yemen arrived in Moscow today for a week-long visit expected to include military and economic negotiations with top Kremlin officials.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda published al Amry's picture and biography on the front page and said he is a "supporter of all-round development and strengthening of friendly relations" with the Soviet Union.

Today Was Day For Drop In Sales Tax

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Today was the day that California's sales tax rate was supposed to drop half a cent to 4.5 cents per $1—if the Legislature had not acted sooner to approve a tax revision measure.

The tax measure passed two weeks ago, however, extended the 5-cent rate to June 30, 1969, regardless of whether voters give the necessary approval in November to a constitutional amendment providing the $261 million relief.

If the ballot measure, Proposition 1-A, passes in November, then the extension of the sales tax will be indefinite, according to the tax measure signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

However, if the proposition fails, then revenue from half a cent on the sales tax rate will be accumulated until July 1, and then be put into a special tax relief fund to finance whatever tax relief measure may be tried by the 1969 Legislature.

Seven In Race For Homecoming Queen In Novato

Seven senior girls were nominated last night by the Novato High School football squad as candidates for homecoming queen and two princesses on Oct. 12, according to Edward Kraft, assistant principal.

The student body will vote for them on Oct. 11.

Nominate were Eileen Reuche, Penny Alverson, Pam Alverson, Debbie Linke, Deedee Jones, Thommie Holt and Wendy Kanoff.

The queen and her princesses will ride in the homecoming parade at 11 a.m. Oct. 12 from Diablo Avenue down South Novato Boulevard and Arthur Streets to the high school.

The queen and the princesses will reign at the football game at 2 p.m. with Redwood High School and the coronation ball which will be from 8 to 11 p.m. that night in the old gymnasium, Kraft said.

160 Items On Auction List

About 160 items of used county equipment will go up for public auction at the Civic Center area at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Doug Edelen, county purchasing agent, announced that the items range all the way from road graders to bicycles. Ronald A. Rosberg Co. of San Francisco will conduct the auction and will get 9.25 per cent of the gross receipts.

On sale will be 26 vehicles, several pieces of heavy equipment, office equipment and about 50 bicycles turned in to the sheriff's office.

Last year's annual county auction grossed almost $27,000.

Plea Date Set

SPOUSE GOES FISHING

Mother Strikes For 'Better Conditions'

STOCKTON (AP) — Not a dish has been washed... or clothing laundered. . . or a bed made . . . or a floor cleaned in three days at the Tom Wagner home in Stockton.

Sandra Wagner, 23, mother of three, is on strike for what she calls "better working conditions in the home. Tom works 40 hours a week for pay; I work 120 for nothing. Then he comes home and asks, 'What you been doing all day?'"

"Signs in the front yard proclaim, "Unfair to Wife" and "On Strike."

The strike is three days old, but Sandra didn't put out the signs until yesterday. She had learned sign painting from her 25-year-old husband, who works for a sign company.

She said Tom has a sense of humor, but that it doesn't extend to the signs in the front yard.

But that doesn't stop her printed protests.

"When it gets so I can't stand it in the house—among dirty dishes and all this mess—I just have to go outside and do some picketing," she said.

Neighbor wives approve her strike, but won't join her actively because they fear their husbands' reaction.

Husband Tom laughed yesterday evening when he came home from work and saw the signs in the front lawn.

"He laughed and walked around a bit, but then his good humor ran out and he went fishing," Sandra reported.

One thing Sandra does do. She cooks.

"We all have to eat," she explains.

Not even the clothing of her sons, 6 and 7 years old, get washed. The 18-month-old daughter's do. She's female and a potential housewife.

Preparing for school, the sons picked out their clothing from the dirty clothes pile.

SMITH

Lloyd H. Burke in turning down Smith's request for an injunction to prevent his being transferred disagreed with Smith, saying that it was common military practice "to move a thorn from one unit to another with the hope of never seeing him again."

Smith's attorney said he does not know yet when the district court of appeals will hear the case, but that a motion for an early trial will be filed.

Tomales Heating Contract Voted

Pargas of Santa Rosa yesterday was awarded a $9,369.60 contract for the tank and .092 per gallon for the LP gas for the new Tomales High School, according to Supt. Anthony Matulich.

This was the lowest of three bids which were opened last week, he said.

The board inspected the sewage disposal ponds for the new high school and instructed the architect Richard C. Marshall to see that the ponds meet health requirements, Matulich said.

Testimonial Dinner To Honor Librarian

A testimonial dinner in honor of Mrs. Helen S. Wilson, Larkspur's librarian for 36 years who retired last Friday, will be at 7 p.m. Oct. 18 at the Blue Rock Inn in Larkspur.

The event will be sponsored by the Larkspur City Council, the library board, and Friends of the Larkspur Library. Tickets may be purchased at city hall, a spokesman for the Friends organization said.

cuts. Evans had bruises on the right knee and face cuts. Miss Johnson had a scalp cut and Lockett had multiple face cuts.

Ozene had back bruises, cuts and scrapes and was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco

Reports of the sheriff's office and the highway patrol clashed on some facts of the crash. Deputies said three cars were racing, including Evans' and Ford's. The highway patrol report indicated two cars were racing and Ford's car was parked with Ford sitting in it. Another car involved fled the scene.

The Evens and Ford cars were destroyed by the crash and fire, and two cars parked at Cole and Drake were damaged. The parked cars were owned by Roscoe McIntosh of 409 Montford Avenue, Mill Valley, and Carl L. Curry of 147 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

Humphrey's earlier statements which said, in effect, that Hanoi must not think that a political campaign in the United States will result in American granting North Vietnam concessions.

Nixon met with newsmen after a three-hour conference with Gov. George Romney of Michigan and a group of experts on self-help programs for urban blight.

Nixon described the session as "most valuable in candidate education" about ways in which private enterprise and voluntary services can help cure the problems of the cities.

Talkathon Grinds On For Fortas

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate refused today to end a filibuster against considering the nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice. It was a stinging election year rebuke to President Johnson.

The vote on the move to choke off the filibuster was 45 for and 43 against, the "ayes" falling short of the necessary two-thirds by 14 votes.

Fortas' name thus remained on the Senate's nomination calendar, where it will remain, unless withdrawn by Johnson, unless a two-thirds majority can be mustered to stop the talkathon against the nominee. This appeared unlikely.

SECOND TIME

Defeat of a move to invoke cloture—the debate-halting device—came at the hands of a coalition of Republicans and conservative southern Democrats.

It marked the second time in history that the Senate—tentatively at least—turned down a presidential nominee as chief justice. The other time was in 1795 when it refused to confirm George Washington's appointment of John Rutledge.

The vote came after four days and one hour of generally lackadaisical arguments. Republicans and southern Democrats zeroed in most pointedly on the charge that Fortas committed an impropriety by accepting a $15,000 fee for a series of law school lectures.

The money was raised by a former law partner from Fortas' former law clients and business associates.

Opponents also argued: Chief Justice Earl Warren has not actually resgined, thus there is no vacancy for Fortas to fill.

SERIOUS QUESTION

Fortas' positions on court cases were open to serious question in extending criminal defendants rights to lawyers and jury trials and in decisions overturning local and state obscenity laws.

The vote meant that when the Supreme Court convenes for its fall term next Monday, Warren almost certainly will still occupy the center seat reserved for the chief justice. Fortas will still sit in the last seat on Warren's right, the seat reserved for the second most junior member.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., who put together the coalition opposing the nomination, in a speech just before the vote, took a last shot at Warren, who resigned subject to confirmation of a successor.

Bridgeway On Council Agenda

Final plans for the widening of Bridgeway will be reviewed by the Sausalito City Council today at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Also, the Sausalito Planning Commission will report on possible future locations of civic buildings.

Two public hearings are scheduled—on Harbor Carriers request for a landing site north of the Trade Fair and Marsha Owen's (Sally Stanford) request for several variances at the Valhalla restaurant at 201 Bridgeway.

But they may be continued since the council indicated at the last meeting it did not like to conduct public hearings with only three councilmen present. Councilmen George C. Hoffman and Alexander R. Imlay are away on vacation.

Charge Of Grand Theft Dismissed

A charge of grand theft against Jack Arthur Van Allen, 32, of Stinson Beach, was dismissed this morning in Marin Municipal Court on the motion of Deputy Dist. Atty. Ralph Thomas.

Van Allen had been charged with taking a ring valued at $400 Sept. 3 in Stinson Beach. Thomas said restitution had been made.

helicopter, "I thought I was coming into some Southeast Asian port."

Dr. Michael Scholl, county medical officer, reported he has serious doubts that registering houseboats will cut down on hepatitis. "We have them from San Geronimo, Forest Knolls, Mill Valley and Novato," said Dr. Scholl. "It is more a matter of personal cleanliness than sewage disposal."

Other county officers such as William Desmond of environmental health, County Counsel Maloney, County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, and Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said they are going ahead full steam to enforce existing ordinances.

Chairman Kettenhofen, still pushing for an emergency ordinance, likened Richardson Bay to "Hong Kong."

'LIKE RABBITS'

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said the majority of houseboat dwellers are responsible people, "but there are a certain number of drifters who come into the county and who are no damn good to the county . . . regardless of how picturesque they may be, we cannot allow shore to shore houseboats. Houseboats are like rabbits, they multiply."

The supervisors asked the various county departments to continue enforcement to keep in touch with attorney Koolpe to see if the houseboat dwellers will cooperate.

He was president of the Glendale Construction Co., responsible for subdivisions in Marin, Santa Clara, San Mateo and San Francisco counties.

At the time of his death, the contractor was planning an apartment complex for Novato, reported his wife, Marjorie Popovich of Novato.

Popovich is survived by his wife; his young son Mark of the family home in Novato; another son, James, of San Jose, a daughter, Joan Seely, of Davis; his father, Marcus, of San Francisco; three sisters, Elizabeth Zanessi, of San Francisco, Mary Popovich of Manteca, and Earlene Linden of Philadelphia; and a brother, Thomas Popovich, of Manteca.

Saigon Claims Enemy Toll Above 400,000

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese military spokesmen said today the number of enemy troops killed in eight years of American involvement in the Vietnam war has passed the 400,000 mark.

The spokesmen thus wrote another chapter in the controversial subject of "the body count," designed to show how many of the Communist-led forces have been downed. The feeling among some military men is that announcements of enemy casualties are exaggerated through estimates when no actual count of of bodies is possible.

In many cases, large numbers of enemy dead are credited to air strikes, helicopter gunships and artillery. But allied commanders argue that a countering factor is that many dead, and wounded men who later die, are removed from battlefields before they can be counted.

The military spokesmen said the 2,866 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops killed last week boosted to 401,589 the toll since Jan. 1, 1961. Loss of government troops in the same period is said to be about 95,000 while the United States lost 28,211 men up to Sept. 21.

In another development, authorities reported a mortar attack on the sprawling U.S. Army headquarters complex at Long Binh, 16 miles northeast of Saigon.

During a 20-minute attack last night, enemy gunners slammed 40 rounds of 82mm mortar shells into the camp. A U.S. spokesman described damage and casualties as light. He said there were no fatalities.

South Vietnamese headquarters, in reporting that the number of enemy troops killed had gone past the 400,000 mark, did not say how many government soldiers had been killed since Jan. 1, 1961. But Vietnamese military sources said that since 1965 about 45,000 government troops have been killed. In the four years before that best estimates put the South Vietnamese losses at 40,000.

Bomb Threat Does Not Halt School

A bomb threat was made at Novato High School yesterday but neither disrupted nor delayed classes, according to Novato police reports.

"I'm not kidding; a bomb will go off at 10:30," a young voice on the telephone told secretary Ruth Roche. She did not know whether or not it was a boy or girl, and the person hung up immediately, according to police reports. Neither did the person say whether it was 10:30 a.m. or p.m., police said.

The threat occurred about 6 p.m. after San Marin High School was out for the day and before adult evening high school classes at 7:30 p.m. A search of the buildings by Novato police and the school janitors did not reveal a bomb, police reported.

Novato High School uses the campus during the morning; San Marin High during the afternoon, and the adult high school during the evening hours.

John Wayne As Wallace Ticket Mate?

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—A television station here last night said it learned from a source close to the National Wallace for President campaign that the former Alabama governor would name actor John Wayne as his vice presidential running mate.

Mention of the internationally known star was one of a number of rumors as to the identity of Wallace's vice presidential candidate sweeping the country. There were also reports that retired Air Force Gen. Curtis Lemay would be named or that radio and TV newscaster Paul Harvey would be Wallace's running mate.

WJXT-TV here said only that it learned from a "source close to Wallace's national campaign" that Wayne would be named by Wallace when he announces his running mate—probably later this week.

Motorcyclist Severely Hurt

Robert K. Childs, 30, of 19 San Rafael Drive, San Anselmo, was reported in fair condition in the intensive care unit of Marin General Hospital following a motorcycle accident at 1 a.m. today.

He was being treated for a head injury and broken left elbow.

Michael D. Garner of Pensacola, Fla., told Sausalito police he was walking along Bridgeway near Olive Street when he heard Childs revving his motorcycle, turned around, and saw the cycle flip in the air and the rider crash to the pavement.

He did not see Childs hit anything before the motorcycle flipped, he said.

Helicopter Crash Kills Two Deputies

WHITTIER (AP)—A sheriff's helicopter crashed today in the Rose Hills Cemetery in the Whittier Hills killing two deputies on board, the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Office said.

The sheriff's office said the craft was a two-seat Hughes helicopter. A spokesman said it is used to patrol the Whittier Hills area.

Deputies said the helicopter was part of a 24-hour general crime patrol, called ARGUS, or Aerial Reconnaissance Ground Unit Support.

The patrol is contracted to the cities of Whittier, Bell Gardens, Commerce, Downey, La Mirada, Norwalk, Pico Rivera and Santa Fe Springs.

A sheriff's spokesman said nobody saw the helicopter fall. He said it was discovered on the ground at about 8 a.m.

Cemetery maintenance men reported the wreckage was in an undeveloped part of the cemetery covered with trees and brush.

Arraignment On Marijuana

Steven Riall Moore, 21, and Edwin Michael Richmond, 20, both of Lagunitas, were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of selling a kilo of marijuana Friday.

Bail was set at $2,500 apiece and both men were to appear in court today for a report on the possibility of release on their own recognizance.

Mexican's Trip To Hunt Jobs Is Fatal Nighmare

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—For 46 Mexicans, the promise of a free ride and jobs in Chicago was worth the asking price of $10 to $12. The bargain turned into a nightmare.

Locked in an unventilated truck van, the group was found abandoned yesterday in San Antonio. One man was dead of suffocation. Twelve others were hospitalized from heat exhaustion and lack of oxygen, with four in critical condition early today. The rest of the group were charged with illegal entry and jailed for questioning.

Immigration and naturalization authorities, who were investigating, said the Mexicans had made their way across the Rio Grande near Eagle Pass, Tex. yesterday and rendezvoused with the rented truck and the driver who had promised to deliver them to Chicago for jobs.

They were found locked in the truck parked outside a home in San Antonio after residents heard pounding and yelling.

THE HUNTERS — Dimes are dropped on the I-J circulation office counter and the want-ads quickly pulled from the paper as eager housing hunters hope this will be the day they find a home. Experienced searchers say there are only about four a week to look at. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

MARIN'S DAILY HUNT

I-J Press Time Sparks Scramble For Scarce Inexpensive Rentals

By JOANNE GRANT

They are quietly searching for inexpensive houses or apartments and if diligence were worth anything all of them would have homes.

Their major problem is money. Most would prefer under $90 a month, unless they are sharing the rental with someone. Then, the rent should average out to about $50 each.

Most Marin real estate firms handle rentals, but several said they rarely have anything for under $100.

Right now, even the real estate firms have few apartments available at any price, a random survey by the Independent-Journal indicated.

Just before press time each day the budget house hunters gather in the Independent-Journal circulation office waiting for the new issue and hopefully, new ads.

When the papers come in, they turn immediately to the rental housing ads and the race is on.

Some have been in the running for a month and are no closer now than when they started.

Michael O'Connor, a College of Marin student who has been living with friends, is one who has been searching a month.

He leaned against the circulation desk and recounted his experience looking for either a one-bedroom apartment or a larger one to share with friends, preferably in Mill Valley.

He said his age — 21 — is against him. "They think it means alcohol and loud stereos," he explained.

Suitable sounding places are snapped up quickly, O'Connor said. He said he has called within five minutes after the paper comes out and they've been rented.

A San Francisco Theological Seminary student from New York, Paul Herskovits and his wife, have also been looking for a month — trying to find an "under $100 cottage" in Fairfax or San Anselmo.

"We've been running through the woods looking for 'for rent' signs," Mrs. Herskovits said.

She reported finding lots of places empty, with 'for sale' signs. "I wonder how long they sit there?"

"There are just not enough rentals in Marin County," explained Lisa McKinnie from her waiting place — a step in the circulation department.

She said she started looking for an apartment under $90 but after a couple of weeks of fruitless searching, changed to a house, to rent with friends.

That search has been going on for two weeks, too, with the possibilities consistently melting away within minutes after she reads about them.

She said one difficulty is coming up with the first and last months' rent, plus a cleaning deposit required by most landlords.

Judy Axt, who attends nursing school in San Francisco, has only been looking a few days.

Like Lisa McKinnie, she is looking in Mill Valley or Sausalito for easier commuting to San Francisco.

She said she is finding "the rent is too high for what they are," in the places she's seen.

The number of housing hunters at the I-J office range from 10 to several dozen.

Yesterday's group of about 12 had a total of 58 rentals to choose from, but only about six of those came close to meeting their requirements.

Three months ago, 113 rentals were listed. About a dozen were under $100.

School Pays Farewell To Auto Victims

REDDING (AP) — Enterprise High School's flag was at half staff today as the student body paid final tribute to five girls, including a former San Anselman killed in an auto accident while en route to a football game.

As the 1,500 students moved into their gymnasium for final rites, another service was being held in a church across the street for the junior college boy who drove the car which collided with a logging truck on a mountain road near this upper Sacramento Valley town of 15,000.

The girls—four of them cheerleaders — were killed Saturday while going to Susanville for a game against Lassen High School. Notified of the tragedy at half time, the team voted to continue the game since players believed the victims would want it that way. Enterprise won, 7-0.

The girls were Shelley Roberts, the former Marinite: Jennifer Brewen, Kathy Van Doren, Debbie Sue Johnson, and Donna Maddox, all 17. The male driver was Warren Martineau, 18.

The California Highway Patrol said Martineau's car sped around a blind curve at 70 miles per hour, passed another vehicle and skidded into the path of a 15-ton truck-trailer rig.

Arab Ex-Envoy Faces Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The grand jury has returned grand theft and forgery indictments against Foud H. Serag-Eldin, former vice consul for the United Arab Republic.

Joseph Russoniello, a district attorney's investigator, said the defendant defrauded two financiers of $27,000 by obtaining money to ship foods overseas. The shipments were never made, he said.

The indicemtnt was returned yesterday.

Queen Asks Editors Not To Run Pictures

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II has asked British editors to refrain from publishing "personal and intimate" photographs which appeared today in a French news magazine, Buckingham Palace said.

The 16 black and white photographs include six of the queen sitting up in bed in the royal bedroom. In four she is holding infant Prince Edward, born in 1964.

It was understood in London before publication of the magazine, Paris Match, that some pictures showed her nursing the infant, but no such pictures appeared.

"The queen has requested that because of the very personal and intimate nature of the photographs they should not be shown in this country," said a palace spokesman.

"No one at the palace has any idea how they came to be available to the French magazine."

A Paris Match spokesman in London said the photographs were "in perfect taste."

He said the photos appeared to have been taken by an amateur, and sources close to the royal court regarded it as inconceivable that any professional cameraman would have been present at such intimate family moments.

There was immediate speculation that the pictures were made by members of the royal family and belong to the queen's private album.

Besides the set showing the queen sitting up in bed, one set of five are labled as including Queen Elizabeth and Queen Ingrid of Denmark at "an intimate reception." The other blurred figures are said to include King Constantine and Queen Anne-Marie of Greece, Don Juan Carlos of Spain and Queen Mother Frederika of Greece. Most of the figures are standing holding cups.

A third set of five show the queen in coat and head scarf; Prince Andrew and Princess Anne standing up against what appears to be a stone garage; the queen's husband, Prince Philip, in a swim suit; Prince Charles holding two large fish; Charles and Andrew in a plastic wading pool, and Edward, with his nurse, Andrew, Charles and Anne.

The royal request not to publish the photographs in Britain is not binding on editors, but they would be likely to respect it out of courtesy to the monarch.

Star Forfeits Traffic Bail

MALIBU (UPI)—Actor Burt Lancaster forfeited $65 bail yesterday rather than pay a $30 fine for driving 65 miles an hour in a 45 m.p.h. zone.

Lancaster, 54, was cited Sept. 23 on the Pacific Coast Highway near here.

He spent the night in jail after he refused to sign the ticket or post bond. He changed his mind in the morning, paid the bail and was released.

The Automobile Club of Southern California said the actor called its Santa Monica office last week and asked if he had to appear in court. The club checked with the court and advised Lancaster he could forfeit the bail instead of appearing to pay the $30 fine.

Vatican Calls For Dialogue With Atheists—Even Reds

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican called on all Christians today to promote open talks with atheists—including Communists—to meet the needs of a "humanity come of age."

The appeal, made in a 5,700-word document by the Vatican's Secretariat for Non-Believers, invited Anglicans, Protestants, Moslems and Jews to collaborate with Roman Catholicism in establishing dialogues with all those who do not believe in God."

Coming after a history of official Catholic distrust of contacts with athiests, the new Vatican stand marked a major change in policy. It was seen as a significant victory for progressive prelates in the hierarchy and for theologians who view the Church's awareness of truth as evolving instead of being fixed.

In a news conference to present the document Franziskus Cardinal Koenig, archbishop of Vienna and president of the secretariat, declared: "Let me stress that the very existence of the secretariat indicates a new approach in the Church's way of proceeding, less preoccupied with defending her position than with meeting the grave problems of the modern world."

But the document emphasized such a dialogue program was not specifically directed toward making converts. It said that "even if each of the interlocutors may legitimately aim at persuading the other of the value of his own position, dialogue is not of its nature directed toward this end, but rather toward a mutual enrichment."

Although the document, containing guidelines for dialogue between Catholics and nonbelievers, applies to dialogue with Communists, there is only one specific reference to Communists in the 32-page directive.

It says: "Greater difficulties arise in dialogue with those Marxists who adhere to Communism because of the intimate connection which they establish between theory and practice."

It advised Catholics to be thoroughly drilled on the subject for discussion and not "imprudently endanger one's personal adherence to the faith."

Dialogue between believers and nonbelievers, it continued, "can be brought to bear on all subjects accessible to human reason, such as for example philosophy, religion, politics, ethics, sociology, economics, the arts, and culture in general."

These dialogues could be either private or public, but for public discussions the secretariat advised against "excessive publicity and the presence of an audience not sufficiently well informed."

"As a rule, then, discussions among a few experts on both sides will prove more profitable," it added.

"This collaboration in establishing dialogue with nonbelievers must also be extended to those who belong to the non-Christian religions, especially Jews and Moslems."

'A RISK' FOR PEACE

Humphrey Shifts Toward Bomb Halt

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says if elected president he would stop the bombing of North Vietnam as an "acceptable risk" for peace if Hanoi showed willingness to restore the demilitarized zone.

In his first paid nationwide television broadcast last night, and speaking from Salt Lake City before flying here, the Democratic presidential candidate said:

"As president, I would stop the bombing of the North as an acceptable risk for peace because I believe it could lead to success in the negotiations and a shorter war. This would be the best protection for our troops."

Humphrey placed a qualification on his proposed bombing halt, saying that before taking action he would "place key importance on evidence—direct or indirect, by deed or word—of Communist willingness to restore the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam."

His language suggested this was a specific condition but Humphrey aides insisted it was only one example of possible steps Hanoi could take or signal —directly or indirectly—as the pathway to halt the already-limited bombing of North Vietnam.

Humphrey added that "if the government of North Vietnam were to show bad faith, I would reserve the right to resume the bombing."

In Washington, a spokesman for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, whose opposition to the war propelled him into position was Humphrey's chief rival for the nomination, said McCarthy would have no comment on the speech.

But Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, whose late brother, Robert, was another Humphrey rival for Democratic nomination, sent a congratulatory telegram. He wired Humphrey:

"To all who look for peace in Vietnam, you have given great encouragement and hope. To all who seek new and more constructive directions in American foreign policy in the nuclear age, you have taken a position of distinct leadership."

Because of his position as Vice President, and presumably some sense of loyalty to President Johnson—not to mention his own past statements in support of the Vietnam War—Humphrey stopped short of saying flatly that he would stop the bombing of North Vietnam if elected president.

But some of his most confidential advisers went to considerable length to present the case that, in fact, the Democratic candidate is for the total bombing halt that Vietnam doves have been advocating.

And they served up the Kennedy telegram as a sort of certificate that Humphrey indeed was for a bombing halt.

As his speech was written, Humphrey was to have said, "I would be willing to stop the bombing of the North if elected." In speaking, he strengthened the language to say, "I would stop the bombing."

HUBERT HUMPHREY
Awaiting camera cue

On other major points, the vice president said:

"The ultimate key to an honorable solution must be free elections in South Vietnam," with the Viet Cong and other dissident groups allowed to participate if "they were willing to abide by peaceful processes."

"I would propose once more an immediate cease-fire—with the United Nations or other international supervision—and supervised withdrawal of all foreign forces from South Vietnam.

"I would sit down with the leaders of South Vietnam to set a specific timetable by which American forces could be systematically reduced while South Vietnamese forces took over more and more of the burden." He said he thought this would be possible next year.

Humphrey said he would apply the lesson of Vietnam, as he put it, and, with a set of fresh advisers, review "other commitments made in other times" to determine which should be retained in the national interest.

In remarks prepared for a courthouse rally in Nashville, Humphrey once again challenged Richard Nixon to meet him in open debate, saying:

"The American people aren't going to buy Brand X in 1968—I think it's time to strip off the wrapper and see what's underneath."

NIXON

DETROIT (AP) — Republican congressional leaders, in a statement relayed by Richard M. Nixon, said today that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's qualified support of a halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam is politically motivated and should be disregarded.

The Republican presidential nominee himself withheld comment on Humphrey's pronouncement until later today, but indicated he was not about to temper his opposition to a bombing halt without some reciprocal move by the Communists.

Nixon talked by telephone with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and then issued in their behalf this response to Humphrey:

"We conclude that his 'new' policies have only a partisan motivation and purpose and should be so regarded and therefore disregarded."

Nixon said Dirksen and Ford told him that in numerous White House conferences on Vietnam "we have never heard the vice president advocate the policies he advocated this evening — never."

On that basis, the Republican leaders said they concluded that Humphrey had partisan motivation.

They asked that Nixon make public their statement.

While he avoided immediate comment on the Humphrey statement, Nixon said "no" when a reporter asked whether he had changed his own position on the bombing issue. He was here last night for another series of his question and answers sessions.

WALLACE

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Third party candidate George C. Wallace stumped today through Michigan, a state he predicts he will win in November if the mail he has received from Michigan voters is an accurate indication.

"If we get as many votes as we have letters, we'll win in Michigan, Wallace told newsmen.

Wallace was greeted by a crowd of more than 1,000 persons when he arrived at Grand Rapids, first of four scheduled stops in the state.

A few anti-Wallace placards were spotted in the crowd, but the overwhelming majority were Wallace supporters. However, he was later greeted by anti-Wallace signs and hecklers during his speech.

The candidate, who campaigned in Chicago yesterday, was to speak in Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Lansing and Flint today.

Wallace spoke to 10,000 persons at an open-air rally in Cicero, a western suburb of Chicago last night.

Earlier yesterday, he was greeted by Chicagoans who lined the sidewalks of State Street during the noon hour to see the former Alabama governor. Police estimated the crowd at 50,000.

Wallace disputed the report that the crowd numbered only 50,000.

"I saw acres and acres of people out there. That's how we measure in Alabama," he joked.

AGNEW

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew urged bankers today to recruit Negroes actively and train them for jobs in their businesses even though the cost might prove considerably greater than if they hired other persons.

In a speech prepared for the American Bankers Association, the Republican vice-presidential nominee said Negroes "cannot simply be invited to come around for a job interview. They must be wooed. They must be actively recruited, often in their own neighborhoods."

The Maryland governor said private business must enter the social action field because government "cannot possibly do the job alone."

A Soviet Trade Bloc Call Made By Reagan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan said last night America and other nations should have "quarantined" the Soviet Union over its invasion of Czechoslovakia.

At a $250-$-plate Republican fund-raising dinner Reagan told more than 400 persons:

"We waited for a voice from our capitol, a voice with the honest anger we wanted to hear. We heard only a whimper."

Reagan said he was not suggesting that America move troops to the border of Czechoslovakia, but, he added, "we could ask the nations of the free world beholden to us in part for their freedom and their economic well-being to join us in quarantining Russia's borders.

"We could have said to the Soviet Union, unless and until you withdraw your troops from Czechoslovakia, there will be no trade, there will be no communication across your borders."

The governor was interrupted by the loudest applause of the evening at that point.

Earlier in his speech Reagan blamed the last eight years of Democratic administration for the increase in crime in the streets, poverty, inflation, the decay of American cities and America's foreign problems.

In pointed references to the Democratic national convention, Reagan said the Democrats promised that there would be "a new day" and he added "you wonder who had been in charge of the old day."

Reagan blamed the Democrats for "big city bosses, politics in the convention hall and rioting in the streets outside that hall."

Reagan was introduced by Republican U.S. Senate candidate Max Rafferty for whose campaign treasury the dinner was given. Rafferty called Reagan "America's greatest public speaker."

Demo Claims Texas Money For Rafferty

Cranston identified two of Rafferty's backers as Texas oilman H. L. Hunt and Richard A. Viguerie of Washington, D.C. who he said does mail advertising for right-wing groups.

Speaking at a campaign fund-raising dinner last night, Cranston said Rafferty has "wealthy forces behind him who are as free with their money as Rafferty is with the truth."

Cranston said Rafferty "insults the intelligence of Californians by describing the deep problems of our society in vile and vulgar slogans which indiscriminately and callously smear entire groups of people."

At an earlier news conference Cranston had said Rafferty's statement accusing Cranston of "treason" was an example of his smear tactics.

"Now the people of California can see how wild and unreliable this man really is," Cranston said.

Rafferty had said Saturday that Cranston comes dangerously close to advocating "a policy not only of national suicide but of national treason" because he urged a halt to bombing over North Vietnam.

Striking Longshoremen Halt Most East Shipping

About 75,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association set up picket lines on docks from Portland, Me., to Brownsville, Tex., despite the invoking of the Taft-Hartley Act yesterday by President Johnson.

The giant port of New York was brought to a near standstill with luxury liner passengers handling their own luggage.

Many areas affected by the East Coast work stoppage saw the strike coming and cleared their ports before the strike call. Only two vessels were left in port in Brownsville, Tex., and only about eight foreign registry ships were affected in the giant Hampton Roads, Va., port.

The ILA, as is its custom, excempted military cargo and ships in several ports where they were being loaded with war material.

In Beaumont, Tex., two military ships entered the channel today and another was standing by off the port. A union spokesman at the nearly deserted port said, "We do not expect any delay in the loading of ships taking on military cargo."

KRON Staffers Out On Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Engineers, studio technicians and outside cameramen at KRON-TV went on strike at midnight yesterday but the station remained on the air.

The striking workers are members of Local 202 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Red Talks Stall On Czech Issue

BUDAPEST (UPI)—Disagreement among the world's Communist parties over the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia today forced a six-week recess of a conference of 58 of the world's Communist parties.

The conference began meetings yesterday to prepare for a World Congress of Communist parties in Moscow Nov. 25. It ended its deliberations after only two brief sessions.

Informed delegation sources said the group agreed to meet again Nov. 17. The date of the next meeting of the preparatory committee made it almost certain the world summit meeting of Nov. 25 would have to be postponed.

THAT TIGER IN HIS TANK JUST JAGUAR

A San Rafael woman, worried about her neighbor's strange, large pet which she thought was a tiger, asked police to investigate last night.

They found Willi Ernest Weber of 3 Park Ridge Road did indeed have an unusual pet — only it was a jaguar, not a tiger.

Weber told officers he was trying to nurse back to health the 200-pound cat named Suki.

He said he is an amateur animal trainer and got the jaguar from a Mill Valley filling station. He told police Suki had been de-fanged, de-clawed and neutered and his vocal chords fixed so he couldn't roar.

Weber said the animal is kept in a steel cage so people won't hurt it. Another neighbor supported Weber, telling police she lets her children play with and feed Suki.

Draft Center Hit By Bomb

MADISON, Wis., (AP) — The Wisconsin state Selective Service headquarters was firebombed last night and some draft records destroyed,officials said today.

Col. Bentley Courtenay, state Selective Service director, said he believed the incident was connected to one in Milwaukee last week in which records were taken from a draft office and burned. Fourteen antiwar protestors, most of them Roman Catholic priests, were arrested.

"I can't disassociate the two," Courtenay said.

The director said Justice Department agents were called in to investigate the matter.

The state headquarters here were doused with gasoline about midnight and a rope was used as a fuse to start the fire, police reported.

Project 17 Facilities Requested By Council

with walkways, grass and trees and six hard surface vollyball-basketball courts.

City control over the recreation use of 3.5 acres of the Project 17 area now occupied by the Southern Marin Horseman's Association show ring until such time as the school district is ready to develop the property.

A core playing area of 70 by 80 feet at the multipurpose building with a 24-foot ceiling and appropriate facilities to provide one standard basketball court and two cross courts.

The council also agreed to urge the school board not to move the city's recreation center at the present time to save the district $20,000 in moving costs and to provide the city with another recreation facility on the middle school site.

School plans call for the building, constructed as a weekend citizen's volunteer project several years ago, to be moved across Sycamore Avenue to a site adjacent to the city's sewer treatment plant. In its place would be constructed a 95-car parking lot.

The school district has agreed to contribute $20,000 toward moving the building, or if that is unfeasible, the construction of a new recreational facility.

Mayor Dean N. Meyer last night said that while it might not be economically feasible to move the building, it still has 10 years of use in it on its present site.

Estimating the building would take up approximately 20 parking spaces, he suggested the district use the sewer treatment plant site for parking and the $20,000 in moving costs for building a larger core play area for the multipurpose building.

City Engineer Stanley M. Bala, noting the building would be several feet below the rest of the filled middle school site, said such a solution would be "aesthetically atrocious."

He added that while it is possible to move the building, it might cost more than the building is worth. He also said it would be impossible for the city to move the building by November, the deadline for starting to fill the middle school site.

However, councilmen and commissioners backed Meyer in urging that the problem of the building again be discussed with the district.

The council also agreed to suggest that the school district delete electrically controlled room dividers from the multipurpose building, saving the district up to about $70,000 in construction costs.

The building, and especially the height of the ceiling, has been a bone of contention between the city and school district during the entire recreation discussion.

City officials have fought for a 24-foot ceiling which would allow indoor recreational activities during the winter season while school officials have said an 18-foot ceiling is more than adequate.

"There is nothing we have asked for that's not necessary for the school children as well," Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos told the group.

He said his proposals had been enthusiastically endorsed by the district's physical education staff which has also written to the school board asking an adequate multipurpose building be constructed.

The school district wants to divide it up into four 25-foot rooms for folk dancing and yoga. That's not adequate for sixth-eighth graders during the rainy weather," Dimitratos said.

Parks and Recreation Commissioner Richard J. Young, an architect, estimated that the most modest multipurpose building proposed by the architects, estimated to cost $216,000, could be made adquate for recreation needs for an additional $27,000. District officials have estimated it would cost an additional $70,000, mainly because of the electric partitions.

Art Commissioner Sali Lieberman urged the city to ask for a larger stage area in the multipurpose building, noting that the planned 20-foot stage should be at least 40 feet deep.

The council agreed to note its concern over the size of the stage but not to ask for a larger one.

A proposal to request tennis courts at the middle school was dropped because of wind conditions on the site.

On the only other item on the agenda, the council agreed to urge the board of supervisors to submit the Richardson Bay master plan to the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission for immediate consideration.

The supervisors three weeks ago agreed not to submit the plan until negotiations for the deposit of spoils called for in the plan had been complete.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon told the council that such an approach would further delay the dredging of the Saucelito Canal and development of the city's proposed yacht harbor for at least another year.

Bench Warrant Seeks Woman

A bench warrant was issued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for Dana Teresa Burchett, 21, of Piedmont, when she failed to appear for preliminary hearing on charges of receiving stolen property, forgery, and possessing a completed travelers check with intent to defraud.

Miss Burchett was arrested Aug. 20 in San Anselmo when she allegedly tried to pass $200 in travelers checks which police said were part of a $180,000 shipment stolen in transit from New York in July.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. ordered her $6,250 bail forfeited and set new bail at $5,000.

GM
MARK OF EXCELLENCE

Putting-you-firsts:

Headlight washers

You push the windshield washer knob and hold it, and what happens?

Your headlights come clean.

The feature is standard on 1969 Corvettes.

It comes with the hidden headlights available on Camaro, Caprice and Kingswood Estate Wagons.

It is available on all other models except Corvair.

Be the first on your block.

Heated glass

In a moment your rear window will self-defrost.

Because we've built onto it a network of tiny ceramic strips capable of heating the entire surface.

Fog and frost disappear quickly and quietly.

You just flick a switch.

The heated rear window is available on the 1969 Caprice Coupe and Impala Custom Coupe.

Pushbutton tire chains

This is ingenious, if we do say so ourselves.

You press a button on the instrument panel and the rear tires get a shot of "liquid tire chain."

You spin your wheels once, wait a moment, and you're off—with traction you wouldn't believe possible on slick ice, or packed snow.

Which could get you through several winters in some parts of the country.

(Several weeks in others.)

Available on all 1969 big Chevrolets.

Steering wheel lock

When you own a car as desirable as the 1969 Chevrolet, you don't take chances.

When you leave it, you lock it.

Not just the doors.

Our new lock on the steering column takes care of all that.

So even if somebody manages to break in and cross the wires, he'll have a hard time going anywhere.

Standard on all 1969 Chevrolets, Chevelles, Chevy Novas, Camaros and Corvettes.

Sorry, car thieves.

The 1969 Caprice, Impala and Camaro are available with a new type of power steering.

Variable-ratio power steering.

Variable-ratio power steering is particularly helpful in short, full turns.

And parking becomes unbelievably easy.

You'll see.

Walk-in wagons

The tailgate swings open like a door on most of our 1969 station wagons.

Which in itself is no big deal.

But wait, there's more.

We've built a concealed step into the rear bumper.

You simply step up, over, and in.

(The way we build our wagons, you can do it without bumping your head, and without acrobatics.)

Walk into a wagon soon at your Chevrolet dealer's.

CHIC FASHIONS

Gone Are The Days Of Dreary Maternity Clothes

By JOAN LISETOR

"I am so excited about the baby, but I can't stand the thought of getting fat and having to wear those dreary maternity clothes."

Those are often the words of first-time expectant mothers upon entering a maternity shop before they see the latest in maternity fashions.

In making the rounds of maternity shops and maternity departments of department stores in the Bay Area we have been impressed at how far the fashions have come from the days of the dreary smock. The mother-to-be can have a wardrobe as chic as she had before she became pregnant and can start wearing the clothes as soon as she desires without anyone guessing they are maternity clothes.

MANY MATERNITY styles have expansion side seams that release inches of extra fabric with the pull of a stitch. They expand as mother does. Even more revolutionary is the inner belt, which is attached from seam-to-seam and draws the fullness to the back of the dress, almost nipping in at the waist. This belt can be pulled as tight as desired or let out all the way.

"Oh, the thought of those capri pants with open holes in front and all those strings to tie. . . ." Future mother, you have not seen the new maternity pants. Some have a dyed-to-match stretch fabric panel for over the tummy, and others are made of an all around stretch fabric with no panel at all.

We noticed that maternity tops (never called smocks) were longer and were told that this year's tops are three inches longer than ever before.

"The women look more graceful in a longer top," explains the manager of a local maternity shop. "The short tops made them look cut-off, where the extra three inches allows for a slimmer, more proportionate look. The longer line is also more concealing," she adds.

THE REVOLUTION in styling has been influenced and stimulated by maternity wear designers, who suffered for years at the barbs and disapproving comments of observers of the fashion scene. The critics' complaints that good looking maternity fashions were not available forced designers to learn the knack of capturing the look of the contemporary young woman of fashion, with all her grace and chic and translate it into maternity wear. Manufacturers are now able to turn out clothes that keep pace with current trends for around-the clock - wearing, from early morning leisure to after-five glamour.

"Women should not skimp on a maternity wardrobe," says the representative of a leading maternity manufacturer. "That is the time in her life she should look the prettiest for her husband and her own ego. Let's face it, most women only wear a dress for one season, so the life of a maternity dress is just as long as non-maternity."

We were also impressed by the versatility of the clothes. There are many co-ordinated outfits available as well as jumpers that can be worn with or without a blouse and dresses that can be dressed up or down with ease with accessories of jewelry or scarves.

MATERNITY LINGERIE manufacturers are working at a rapid pace to keep up with the manufacturers of maternity outer garments in their race to be current with the fashion world. They are making shorter slips, pettipants and girdles so the under garments will not show under the shorter skirts.

"They are making them so pretty," a salesgirl says, "that it is a shame they have to be hidden."

"Maternity manufacturers, what took you so long?" we asked.

One manufacturer replied, "We needed the genius of a Dior and the expertise of a construction engineer to design for the girl who might gain 30 pounds by her ninth month. We

MRS. PETER SAGUES of Mill Valley wears a double breasted black and white herringbone tweed jumper for a fresh, new look in maternity clothes. She wears a white, long sleeve shirt with Peter Pan collar for a tailored look. The versatile jumper of a washable bonded acrylic fabric can be dressed up with jewelry in place of the blouse for evening wear.

JANINE SAGUES peeks out from behind pine trees in a very versatile maternity dress. The "go-anywhere" dress is in a wool and orlon bonded fabric. It has the self-belt, which shows in front and can be adjusted depending on where the fullness is needed.

THE FIRST maternity dress to be sold commercially is a far cry from the fashions of today. The photograph is taken from the book Vivilore, published in 1904.

JANINE is ready for an evening on the town in an aqua, rayon/shinto fabric dress. The cumberbund with its delicate row of rhinestones is belted in the front and can be adjusted to draw fullness from the back of the dress as needed.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Girl Loses Interest, Wants Out But Doesn't Know What To Do

DEAR HELEN:

Last year I went out with a certain fellow about five times. Each time I found him less interesting. Finally I ended it by telling him I was serious about someone else.

Recently his mother called my mother. She was very upset because Bill was going with a girl out of his religious faith, simply because she looked like me. She asked if I would please date him again.

I am a very selfish person. This is the first time I am really concerned for someone else's feelings, perhaps because I too felt that way about a boy once.

Should I go out with Bill, knowing I can never love him, or would it hurt him all the more? Seems terrible to push down the first unselfish thought I've ever had.—U.F.

DEAR U:

This is strictly I.G.A.P. ("I'm Guessing Again Perception"), but isn't it possible Bill's mother fears he'll get serious about a girl of another faith and has chosen you for a romance-wrecker?

Find a better subject for your first unselfish gesture. Otherwise several people might be hurt, including yourself.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

You have had letters about "What is a Boyfriend, Girlfriend, Grandmother, Father?" etc. Now I would like to give you my version of

What Is a Big Sister ? . . .

A big sister is someone who does your hair when you go to a party with a special date. She understands you when you aren't understood by anyone else. She helps you with your homework when you can't figure it out. She takes your part in fights against your brother. She takes you for rides in her convertible. She never forgets your birthday and always buys you a gift with her allowance, but most of all she's your best friend who helps and loves you. —LITTLE SISTER

DEAR LITTLE SISTER:

A lot of little sisters are probably wondering right now, "How did she get so lucky?" Bet it took considerable effort, empathy, and affection on both sides! Wish more brothers and sisters had your recipe.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

The kids are already talking about the big proms. Helen, do you think it's necessary to rent a car, or hire a limousine to take a girl to the Senior Prom when you have a 1960 model of your own?—THINKING BROKE

DEAR T.B.:

I think that's the silliest thing I ever heard of—but you'd be surprised how many members of the affluent generation don't agree with me. They've caught the "new rich" idea: If it costs a lot, it's got class. —H.

learned to make allowances for expanding bustlines and armholes that are roomier so the fabric does not cut under the arm as the expectant mother fills out the dress in front. We also learned that by cutting our dresses longer in the front and tapering them at the sides when the woman expands, she picks up the extra fabric and the hemline evens out.

"I suppose it took us longer because our field is so much broader. Most designers specialize, but the maternity designer runs the gamut of imagination in styling: pantsuits, laces for after-five, bathing suits, coat and dress ensembles, sportswear co-ordinates and practical everyday street wear."

MOST EXPECTANT mothers continue a busy, active life during their pregnancies. There is no longer a need to for them to hide themselves from the public eye when the tummy begins to bulge because the maternity clothes of today conceal the bulge and reveal their condition in a graceful manner.

In the current issue of Mothers-To-Be and Infant Care magazine several of the leading maternity manufacturers were asked what they considered their prime responsibility in designing clothes for the expectant mother of today.

The consensus was to provide clothes that will fit her busy existence and are geared to the expectant mothers who work.

Kitchen Now A Paradise

American maledom, with its passion for gadgetry and improved materials, has turned the modern kitchen into a paradise of convenience and efficiency that only a few years ago would have been far beyond the "Little Woman's" wildest imagination.

Self-cleaning ovens, self-defrosting refrigerators, built-in hot plates and ovens, dishwashers, automatic stirrers, towel dispensers, roll-out cabinets, and broad use of decorative but practical materials like ceramic tile on backsplashes, floors and countertops have kept the kitchen technologically apace with the astronaut's capsule.

While the modern kitchen may make cooking a dream of ease, though, it's still often thought of as a "back-of-the-house" place where the cook's isolation is about as complete as the astronaut's in his capsule. That may have been all right when the cook was a hired outsider, but today's housewife-mother-cook usually finds her isolation a frustrating experience.

So, when planning a house, builders should not plan location of the kitchen solely for the convenience of the delivery man, milkman, garbage collector. The kitchen should be placed where it will be easiest for the cook — to be a part of family activities in the "activity" areas of the house.

Nun Becomes A U.N. Delegate

By DAVID ROSENZWEIG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — She wears tailored suits, nylon stockings and high heels and in diplomatic circles prefers being called "madame" or "professor" to her other title as Sister Ghislaine Roquet. She is the first nun to serve as a delegate to the U.N. General Assembly.

A Canadian representative to the 23rd assembly session, Sister Ghislaine believes that nuns, like American Negroes, have been wrongly stereotyped, one group by color and the other by garb.

"WE'RE SUPPOSED to be all of the same cut. Well, we're not and you must learn that nuns, too, are individuals, with personal convictions like anyone else," she said in an interview at the Canadian mission offices.

Her speech is usually soft, calm and deliberate—as might befit the stereotype of a sister of the Holy Cross Order—but on matters that seem to touch her most deeply her voice quickens and her large green eyes sparkle.

Like many diplomats attending the session, she is only a part-time envoy. She will return to her post as chairman of the philosophy department at Montreal's Basile-Moreau College when the assembly winds up at the end of this year.

Her first act of diplomacy after her appointment was choosing a convenient title for herself. No one in the Canadian Foreign Ministry raised the subject, but she decided she didn't want to be addressed as "sister" during her diplomatic tour. It might seem she was mixing religion and international politics.

"Madame," is a term the French often use in addressing distinguished Roman Catholic sisters.

But then it might be translated literally into English form— as Mrs. She has settled on "professor" as a first choice.

THOUGH SHE is the first nun to sit in the General Assembly, Sister Ghislaine is not the first religious personage in that role. One of the best known was the Rev. J. C. Beaufort, a Roman Catholic priest, who represented the Netherlands from 1945 until his death in 1965.

Careful to distinguish her job as a representative of the Canadian government here and her life work as a nun, Sister Ghislaine speaks her mind freely on the ferment going on inside the Church and the Vatican's role in international affairs.

Until a decade ago, she said, the Church was widely viewed as an international political organization in its own right and a meddler in national policies of certain countries.

Pope John XXIII started the Church on the road away from that image with his 1963 Pacem in Terris encyclical, calling for the creation of a kind of world government encompassing all nations and suggesting that the United Nations serve as its cornerstone, she explained. Pope Paul VI "put the seal" on that course by his historic visit to the United Nations, she said.

SHE ACKNOWLEDGES that the Church's role as a moral force in international relations is restricted in the face of big-power politics—"Vietnam is a good example"—but believes there is still plenty of room for action within estiblished international organizations.

"I don't want to prophesy," she said, "But I think it would be a logical development for the Church to funnel its aid to the needy people of the world through organizations such as the United Nations."

She welcomes the often controversial drive by young priests and nuns—she counts herself among them—to speak out on individual matters of conscience even in the face of opposition from established authority.

"Very often there is going to be confusion over this," she said, "but I respect the right of the Church to speak for itself and I reserve the right to speak for myself. We must learn to look at priests and sisters as private citizens and as private citizens they are entitled to personal convictions."

But she deplores dissent through violence, and says priests who helped burn draft records recently at Selective Service offices in Milwaukee acted out of line.

In Canada, Sister Ghislaine earned a measure of prominence as a peacemaker while a member of a commission that worked five years to revamp the public education system in Quebec.

She also learned something about diplomacy from her brother, Claude Roquet, who is chief of the West European desk in the Canadian Foreign Ministry.

Barbecuing

The secret of success in barbecuing is a good bed of coals, white hot without flames. You can reduce the heat by raising the grill or rotisserie, by spacing the coals wider apart, or occassionally sprinkling water on the coals. The University of Nebraska Home Extension Service says low to moderate temperatures give the best cooking results.

Policeman Defended In Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An officer has the right to defend himself," Police Chief Thomas Cahill said in absolving a white policeman who shot a Negro mechanic to death during a scuffle after a minor traffic accident.

All information obtained from an investigation into Sunday's shooting will be turned over to the coroner's jury, Cahill said yesterday.

Police said patrolmen William O'Brien, 27, and Willis Garriott, 24, were moving their 15-foot boat into a garage. Carl Hawkins, 49, complained he was forced to drive onto the sidewalk and scraped the boat trailer's fender.

Mrs. Hawkins appeared at the scene with a pistol, police said, and fired at O'Brien but missed. The crowd gathered at the scene, knocked O'Brien down and disarmed him.

As Garriott summoned aid, officers said, O'Brien retrieved his gun as Baskett began hitting him on the head with a stick. The gun accidentally discharged, and the bullet struck Baskett in the chest, police said.

Hawkins was charged with assault with a deadly weapon. His wife, her son, Richard Dickerson, and Otis Baskett, the victim's brother, were charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

Sgt. Sunshine Asks Pension For Injury

A city retirement board said yesterday that Bergess, 36, on the force 12 years, contended that a year ago he fell and hit his head on a City Prison bench while changing his pants.

Bergess also said that a month later he suffered a "relapse of reality" from that head injury and fell off a ladder, breaking his wrist. He had been getting disability pay until two weeks ago.

Last April, Bergess was charged with smoking marijuana on the Hall of Justice steps and was subsequently dismissed from the police force.

In July, he was arrested during a disturbance in the Haight-Ashbury hippie area.

The retirement board will decide on whether Bergess will get the pension after the state Workmen's Compensation Board determines the degree of his claimed injury.

Mrs. Edgington Asks Divorce

H. Joe Edgington, superintendent of Reed Union School District, has been sued for divorce by his wife, Leola J. Edgington.

The suit, charging Edgington with cruelty, asks custody of the couple's two daughters, Teresa, 16, and Cynthia, 8, and asks for a division of community property and support for Mrs. Edgington and the children pending settlement.

The Edgingtons, of 22 Apollo Road, Tiburon, were married in June, 1950, in Missouri. He was named Reed superintendent in 1966.

Inmates Acquitted Of Assault Charges

A Marin Superior Court jury has acquitted two San Quentin Prison inmates charged with assault on a fellow prisoner.

The jury returned shortly after midnight Saturday with the verdict clearing Glen H. Thomas, 29, and James R. Arthur, 26, of the charge of throwing boiling water at Raymond Brozovich Dec. 10, then jabbing him in the left eye with a broom handle.

Cal Expo Woes Spark Management Shakeup

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Offi- caused the revamped state fair cials of Cal Expo have decapi- and exposition to be such a box tated half of the "two-headed" office failure this year.

monstrosity which they say By a 14-4 vote yesterday, the executive committee of the exposition voted to abolish the nonprofit management company which ran the pioneer venture, and was on the verge of firing General Mgr. Eugene R. Lemmon when he resigned.

The action came after Robert L. Herman, secretary-treasurer of the now extinct California Fair and Exposition Corp., gave some dismal attendance and revenue figues in a memorandum to the corporation's board of directors.

Herman said attendance during the 58-day first run at what is eventually to become a $34 million site was 561,925, compared with an anticipated attendance of 1,445,750. Sixty per cent of the attendance was during the 16-day state fair.

The lower attendance converted into a $1,028,252 difference in the actual gate revenue and what had been forecast.

Herman also said preliminary figures show Cal Expo brought in $2,104,000 less than the $4,215,225 which had been projected.

As planned, Cal Expo is not expected to become self-supporting for several years.

Named to replace Lemmon was Thomas E. Bair, chief of the fairs and exposition division of the State Department of Agriculture. Bair accepted the job for no more than two years, saying he wanted to return to his state job as soon as a permanent replacement is found.

Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. is president of San Rafael Board of Education.

Soaring Auto Labor Costs For Small Jobs Attacked

DETROIT (UPI)—Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., told auto engineers today that consumers were getting tired of chrome-and-shiny cars designed in such a way that it costs $74 in labor just to replace an $8 part.

In a speech prepared for a Detroit meeting of the American Association of Automotive Engineers, Hart said the Senate subcommittee on antitrust and monopoly had just finished a six-month investigation of the auto repair industry.

The subcommittee, headed by Hart, may hold hearings on the subject later this year.

"Consumers are no longer happy merely to have the biggest, chromiest, coolest car parked in their driveway to the envy of the Joneses," Hart said.

"They are becoming more concerned with quality, durability, dependability, ease of maintenance—in short a very full value for their dollar.

"Most consumers have encountered the situation where the labor bill may be $74 to replace an $8 part. Couldn't this be overcome by design?"

Hart also complained about Detroit auto bumpers designed for show rather than protection, and hidden headlights that may be sleek but cost more to repair.

The subcommittee also may hold hearings to determine whether Americans are overcharged through price fixing or other methods in the estimated $10 billion a year they pay in auto repair bills.

34 Killed In Crash Of Two Greek Trains

DERVENI, Greece (UPI)— Police said today an accidental yank on an emergency cord caused a speeding passenger train to ram another in a deep gorge Monday night. The wreck killed 34 persons and injured 90 others.

The derailed coaches were stacked up two and three deep in places at the bottom of the gorge, so deep and with sides so steep ambulances could not get in.

SAME TRACK

The trains had left Kyparyssia 10 minutes apart headed for Athens on the same track. The first train stopped in the gorge 31 miles northwest of the Corinth Canal when a woman accidentally pulled an emergency cord, police said.

The trains were filled with more than 1,000 persons returned to Athens after voting in Sunday's constitutional election in their hometowns in other parts of Greece.

Police said the conductor of the first train rushed to set out a red lantern at the rear of the stopped train. But the engineer of the second train failed to see it because of the curve in the tracks and it rammed the stalled train.

NORTHERN AREA

The accident occurred in northern Peloponnesus about 100 miles northwest of Athens.

Police said a woman passenger pulled the emergency cord because another woman fainted.

"It was like a giant hand stopping our train like an earthquake shaking the land," said Ioannis Triantafyllou, a hotel worker returned to Athens from Messalonghi, where he had voted.

"We were crowded like sardines in a can," he said. "In the first train conditions were not any better."

"It was a gory scene, with metal torn and human bodies cut in pieces and blood all over," Triantafyllou said.

Levi Strauss Asks Patent Order Halt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Levi Strauss & Co., one of the nation's biggest garment makers, wants two subsidiaries of Koracorp Industries, Inc., restrained from enforcing two patents for making durable press clothing.

In a suit filed yesterday in U.S. District Court, Strauss said the subsidiaries, Koret of California and Koratron Co., violated the Sherman Antitrust Act by restraining and monopolizing trade in the durable press garment field.

The two patents should be voided, along with the license agreement between Strauss and the Koracorp subsidiaries, the petition states. Strauss also asked an award of treble damages to be determined by the court.

Strauss alleged Koratron failed to exercise promised quality control under the licensing agreement and entered into at least one secret agreement that placed other licensees at a disadvantage competitively.

Strauss alleged further that the patents are invalid because the process was known and published overseas before patent applications were received.

Injured Firemen Welcomed Home

Novato Fire Captain Richard Beyer, who was critically injured in a fire in Marinwood July 19, returned Friday to his home at 717 Cherry Street and a big welcome from his fellow firemen.

The firemen had painted a big sign, "Welcome Home Dick," and had the new snorkel truck on hand to greet him, said Fire Chief George Caballero. Beyer must still undergo many more weeks of physical therapy before he can return to the job, the chief said.

Cleaver To Begin U.C. Talks Today

BERKELEY (AP) — Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver was to start lecturing at the University of California this afternoon under original plans prohibited by the U.C. regents, says the Center for Participant Education.

That means he will lecture 10 times, on campus and for credit, despite a ruling by the board of regents that no guest lecturer can speak more than once.

The sponsoring center's declaration, which rejected a compromise offered by Chancellor Roger Heyns, was announced by a spokesman, Sam Kaplan, a sociology instructor.

Kaplan said Cleaver would give his opening lecture "somewhere on the campus," but he declined to specify.

The lecture was scheduled for 12:30 p.m.

Heyns suggested yesterday that Cleaver speak 10 times on the campus, but not for academic credit. "That would solve the free speech issue once and for all," he asserted.

Cleaver, charged with attempted murder in a shootout between his militant Negro organization and Oakland police, is free on bail while his attorney appeals the revocation of Cleaver's parole. He previously had been convicted of assault with a deadly weapon.

The center, an experimental organization formed following demands by the 1964 Free Speech Movement for more student political freedom, invited Cleaver to lecture on racism.

Regents voted last week against permitting him 10 lectures and the Academic Senate, the faculty's top legislative group, is scheduled to consider his case on Thursday.

Fill For High-Rise Due Test Thursday

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The master plan for San Francisco Bay adopted last month by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission will get its first test Thursday when the commission hears an application to fill almost 17 acres in Richardson Bay for a $25 million high-rise project.

The hearing will be at 2 p.m. in room 1194 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously Sept. 10 to approve the master plan for the project, proposed by Tom E. Nowell on 28 acres he owns at the south end of the Richardson Bay Bridge.

Nowell's prospects of BCDC approval were improved with commission adoption of the master plan, which specifically allows filling "for bay-oriented commercial-recreation and water-related" purposes that provide "new public access to the bay and for improvement of shoreline appearance." The commission's staff said Nowell's application undoubtedly will be considered in light of this provision.

Before the master plan was adopted, the project would have had to be shown necessary for the health, safety and welfare of the population of the entire Bay Area, or to not adversely affect the plan being prepared.

The master plan, however, stipulates that "a substantial portion of such projects must be built on existing land." Nowell's plan includes a 7.7 acre pier — or island — and a nine-acre island.

The supervisors, urged by Planning Director Paul C. Zucker to limit the proposed nine acre island to three acres, endorsed both, leaving the choice to the BCDC. The commission could approve or deny the fill application, or could modify Nowell's plan.

Nowell plans to dredge 233,000 cubic yards of mud from the bay.

The master plan for his project envisions an 850-room hotel "of approximately 16 stories," a 130-room motel with a tower "of spproximately 10 stories," and a "boatel-motel facility of approximately 450 rooms" up to four stories high. This total of 1,430 rooms compares with the county's present total of 960 to 970 rooms, according to the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

The project also includes a restaurant, cocktail lounge, shops, gas station, shoreline parkway and "transportation center" for boats and helicopters.

San Francisco Opera Honors Lotte Lehman

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wagnerian soprano Lotte Lehman, now 80, came back to the scene of her farewell to the stage Monday night and saw a performance of "Die Walkuere" in which she once starred.

She made her debut with the San Francisco opera in 1934. Her farewell to opera was in the San Francisco Opera performance of "Der Rosenkavalier" in 1946.

Priests' Birth Stand Brings Official Slap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle withdrew today the authority to exercise certain priestly functions from 39 Roman Catholc priests in the controversy over the birth control issue.

In the announcement issued by the Archdiocese of Washington, the cardinal said, "I am taking this step reluctantly and sadly."

O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington, said 31 of the priests are of his diocese, six are members of religious orders here and two are from other dioceses engaged in special work in national offices here.

The birth control dispute here goes back for weeks with originally 47 priests taking a dissenting stand on full acceptance of Pope Paul VI's encyclical banning use of artificial contraception.

O'Boyle said although some of these priests accept the encyclical, they insist on adding a qualifying sentence: "Spouses may responsibly decide according to their own conscience that artificial contraception in some circumstances is permissible and indeed necessary to preserve and foster the values and sacredness of marriage."

O'Boyle said nowhere in the encyclical does the Pope make any provision whatsoever for such an exception.

"Furthermore, some of these priests have created confusion and dissension among our faithful Catholic people by publicly airing and exposing their objections to this authentic teaching of the church," he added.

O'Boyle said he did not wish to coerce the consciences of the priests or of anyone else, "even if such a thing were possible."

"But that is not the issue," he contended. "No Catholic bishop can permit priests to act under his authority in a way that he conscientiously judges to be contrary to the church's authentic teaching."

Any citizen, as such, is free to say whatever he likes about the teachings of the Catholic Church, O'Boyle said.

"But we Catholics, as members of the Church," he added, "speak about and discuss the Church's teachings while accepting them, as Vatican II says, 'with religious submission of mind and will'."

O'Boyle said that if any priest thought his rights had not been fully respected, he could appeal to the Pope.

Irregularties In House Roll Calls To Be Checked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House ethics committee today ordered a preliminary investigation of published reports of roll call irregularities in the House.

The committee, officially known as the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, said the probe would be made by its staff members.

Thomas V. Cooke, the clerk responsible for entering members' votes in the official records, has been suspended.

The investigation was triggered after Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., said he was recorded as voting Sept. 9, 10 and 16, when he was in his home state.

"I asked Mr. Cooke the direct question how the discrepancy had occurred," wrote Pat Jennings, clerk of the House, in a report to Speaker John W. McCormack.

"He stated to me . . . that he had marked Congressman Wilson as voting in order to 'help out at the request of Walter Kennedy,'" Republican pair clerk.

Jennings said Wilson was not listed on the records of the clerk who calls the roll in the House chamber, but had been listed as voting when the roll was transcribed to the tally sheet by Cooke.

None of the votes affected the outcome of the roll calls.

Rep. Tim Lee Carter, D-Ky., said yesterday he was recorded as voting Thursday, although he wasn't in the House.

"I feel it was just an error, but in view of these other matters, I feel you can't take any chance on amatter like this," Carter said.

Award To Boost U.S. Film Making

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Samuel Goldwyn Award for "the best picture produced in the United States" will be made annually by the San Francisco International Film Festival.

Making the announcement yesterday, Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said: "A long-time critic of 'runaway' motion picture production. Mr. Goldwyn is sponsoring this award as one effective form of encouraging film production in the United States."

The choice for the award will be made by a festival selection committee made up of recognized authorities in motion pictures.

An exhibition, "Anatomy in Collage," by Laura Devendorf of Mill Valley, will be held from Saturday through Nov. 2 at the Atherton Gallery in Menlo Park. The gallery is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Petaluma's New Look Due Debate

Is the cost of the proposed Petaluma Core Area Plan too high?

The project, estimated to cost $4 million, would revitalize the city's business section.

Chamber directors agreed last April with the city council that the business district should be improved, but reserved judgment on how to finance the project.

PANEL MEMBERS

Moderating tonight's debate will be Floyd Wynn, chamber president. Speakers will be Robert S. Lipman, city councilman; Frederick Mattei, owner of a men's clothing store; John King, former councilman and a real estate and insurance broker, and Owen Fredericks, past chamber president and owner of a local furniture store.

King and Frederick will argue that the cost of the plan is too high, while Lipman and Mattei will contend that delay will only increase the price.

Hoping more than 100 chamber members will attend, a straw vote to gather opinions will be taken, Ned Davis, chamber manager, said.

William C. McGivern, city planning director, said a plan may be presented to city council setting an assessment district for downtown property owners on which their costs would be based on size of property and improvements needed. This money would provide 400 additional parking spaces at an approximate cost of $4,000 per space.

He said three parking plans have been submitted to property owners who will be given the opportunity to express opinions.

FIRST PHASE

The first phase of the plan to relocate Petaluma Boulevard from D Street to north of Oak Street would cost an estimated $2,440,000 and be supported by a general bond issue.

The roadway relocation will provide space for an esplanade, a combined river route and pedestrian walkway which would include areas for recreation, historical park, boat berthing, and docking facilities, sailing ponds for youngsters, and specialty shops and restaurants.

The plan also calls for a mall and golden concourse on Kentucky Street which would feature small shops, fountains, murals, a small aviary and gaslights for a soft affect. The plan suggests it might also serve as an exhibit area for cultural or artistic displays.

DRAMA REVIEW

Two Playlets By Albee Flunk Test

NEW YORK (AP) —The two Edward Albee playlets which had their premier last night at the Billy Rose Theater flunk the reappraisal test, dismally.

"Box," a monologue for an absent actress, and "Quotations from Chairman Mao Tse-tung," a set of unrelated tirades, were originally staged months back at the Studio Arena in Buffalo, N.Y. Audiences thronged, but few critics were conquered by the prize author's proclaimed effort to explore new dramatic interactions. Albee is co-sponsor of this production.

A second look and listen merely confirms an impression that the tandem is a smug doodle, mechanically devised and signifying little.

In the voice-only piece which Ruth White delivers over loudspeakers to open and close the affair, Albee provides some fragmentary impressions of life's inane pressures upon the individual.

A giant ramp slides the four "Mao" participants into the soaring rectangular frame that fills the stage. One impersonates Communist China's leader, another symbolizes age en route to the poorhouse, and the remaining pair represent high society vapidity.

Each concentrates obliviously on separate themes—the imminent collapse of an imperialist Western world, the ingratitude of offspring, frustrated suicide at sea. The talk rotates so that the effect is like switching TV channels continually. And just about as dramatically coherent.

Alan Schneider, as in Buffalo, directs but with a different cast for "Mao." Wyman Pendleton makes a rather subdued Oriental militant; Nancy Kelly does the garrulous dowager, and Sudie Bond recites the rancor of poverty. George Bartenieff just smokes a pipe and says nothing, lucky him.

"A revolution is not a teaparty," says Mao at one point in the proceedings. And a stunt is not a play.

What other press critics said:

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: "... I believe (the plays) represent a steadily interesting experiment by a bold, dramatic explorer ..."

Clive Barnes, New York Times: "... ask me what it meant, I could not answer... Yet I enjoyed it. I don't say I understood it—actually I presumed, perhaps wrongly that there wasn't very much to understand—but I let the words lap over me... heard some of them, let them run around in my mind, and this way or that way gathered an experience. Which, in the theater, is what we are fundamentally talking about."

HUGE PIPES CLOG KENTFIELD TRAFFIC

Large sections of drainage pipe, waiting to be installed in the street widening project on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield present an obstacle to drivers trying to enter the boulevard. In the picture on the left a driver waits slightly back from the boulevard for a chance to enter the stream of cars, his vision blocked. On the right, a closeup view shows the difficulty of maneuvering between the pipes onto Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1968 — 19

Ferryboat Study Brings Many Firms

More than 30 consulting firms including several from England are interested in making a ferryboat feasibility study between Marin and San Francisco.

Seymour Kashin, general manager of the Marin Transit District, said he was "flabbergasted" by the response. Representatives from several firms flocked to his office at Civic Center late yesterday, the deadline for submitting proposals, and more may be coming in by mail, said Kashin.

The proposals, which are piled high on a desk in Kashin's office, will be presented to the San Francisco-Marin Water Transportation Study Committee, which meets at the Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza building tomorrow at 10:30 a.m.

A decision on the 30 proposals is not likely tomorrow, said Kashin. "There's just too much material. I'd say it would take 30 minutes just to pore through one proposal."

A sum of $45,000 has been earmarked for the feasibility study, $30,000 contributed by San Francisco and $15,000 by Marin. The study would show what types of ferryboats could be used, the types of propulsion, speed, the cost, and how many commuters are likely to use this method of travel.

Kashin said that his rough guess is that at least 5,000 to 6,000 commuters must use water transportation to make it feasible.

Date Reset On Landscaping Bids

Marin Hospital District directors yesterday reset the date for opening bids on landscaping for the Community Mental Health Center to 7 p.m. Oct. 29 at the Coral Room, Marin General Hospital.

The original date tentatively had been set for Oct. 15. Funds totalling $50,000 have been budgeted. There was no other business taken up at the special session.

Petaluma Councilmen Give Vague Reasons For Closed Door Session

Petaluma City Council went into closed session last night for reasons that were obscure despite official denials of any violations of the state's antisecret meeting law, the Ralph M. Brown Act.

Mayor Helen Putnam said after the special meeting that it was to discuss "items in relation to personnel and pending items of litigation." The personnel matters were limited to a review of commission appointments which may have expired, she said.

None of the councilmen explained why it was necessary to go into closed session to determine if openings existed on commissions.

Asked by the Independent-Journal if this were not a simple administrative question that could have been referred to the city manager, Councilman Robert S. Lipson said "we've always done it this way."

The state's antisecret meeting law, the Relph M. Brown Act, allows closed meetings of public bodies only to discuss the hiring or firing of an employee or official, or to hear charges against an employee or official.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said the council discussed specific names when it reviewed commission vacancies, but Lipman and Mrs. Putnam said the council only discussed whether vacancies existed.

Meyer said the council also discussed three court suits involving the city, but declined to specify any details of the suits. It would harm the city's legal position if other parties to the suits knew the suits were being discussed by the council, he said.

Vacancies were found on the personnel commission because Craig Miller's term has expired, and on the water commission because Stanley Seidell's term is expiring. He has served for six years, and is ineligible for reappointment.

Mrs. Putnam insisted the closed meeting was legitimate, and did not violate the Brown Act.

The closed session followed a special meeting at which the council reluctantly agreed to assume $2,500 in additional costs to dike the Petaluma River. The work will begin Oct. 14.

The costs arose from a requirement by the contractor, Shellmaker Inc., to flatten the tops of dikes to insure safety for its workmen. This was not provided in the dredging contract awarded by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Mrs. Putnam said the corps should provide more explicit specifications in future contracts.

Somerhalder's Motives Argued By Doctor, Attorney

A San Rafael psychiatrist, who says double killer Johnny Lee Sommerhalder can be rehabilitated, today told a Marin Superior Court jury that no one can be certain why Sommerhalder killed.

The 24-year-old motorcycle gang leader may have killed Curtis and Shirley Ackley because of some allegiance he felt to a group whose code was antisocial — the Grim Reapers, said Dr. Robert Andrew Ott.

On the other hand, the Ackleys may have died because Sommerhalder has always been a lad with pent up anger, who does not know how to give vent to his wrath, the psychiatrist said.

Dr. Ott and Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales spent the court's first hour today fencing with psychological terminology, with Bales attempting to show Sommerhalder as a sociopath, incapable of rehabilitation.

The jury of seven men and five women must decide if Sommerhalder is to be sentenced to death in the gas chamber or life in prison for the Jan. 12 murders of the Ackleys.

Dr. Ott admitted that psychiatrists have not been successful treating sociopaths in the past, but said new, long-range group therapy techniques, such as those practiced at Synanon, could be more effective.

Bagley Leading Drive For Press Support Of GOP

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, today was named chairman of a major statewide committee to seek newspaper and radio and television station endorsement of the Nixon-Agnew presidential ticket.

Bagley was appointed by Lt Gov. Robert H. Finch, California chairman of the GOP presidential campaign.

The committee, named the California Nixon-Agnew Media Relations Committee, "will travel from Siskiyou to San Diego and from Mono to Monterey," said Bagley.

Bagley named seven Republican legislators to the committee: assemblymen Robert E. Badham of Newport Beach, Frank Murphy Jr. of Santa Cruz, Alan G. Pattee of Salinas, Peter F. Schabarum of Covina, John G. Veneman of Modesto and Pete Wilson of San Diego and Sen. George Deukmejian of Long each.

Bagley and Badham were to start the committee's work today in San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz and Monterey counties.

Guns Taken In Window Smash

A tall, thin-faced man boldly smasned a gun case window at Montgomery Ward and Co. yesterday, took three weapons and eluded an employee who chased him to an awaiting car, Corte Madera police reported.

Officers said store officials at Corte Madera Shopping Center said the man took three handguns worth a total of $187 about 4:15 p.m. Frank Guidotti, 38, sporting goods department manager, told police he heard the breaking glass and chased the man outside.

The man entered an awaiting car driven by a second man, however, and escaped, according to the report. He was described as about five feet, 11 inches tall, weighing 160 pounds, and wearing a brown coat and jeans. No description of his companion was obtained.

Father Will Not Keep Drug Case Daughter

The father of an 18-year-old girl charged in connection with the possible drug death of a Corte Madera soldier yesterday told Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. he would not take the girl back into his home pending her trial.

Paul A. Oatis Jr. of Novato said he had three smaller children to rear alone, and that the county probation department recommended against letting Kathleen Ann Oatis rejoin the family.

Goldstein ordered the girl taken from Marin County Jail to Juvenile Hall until some living accommodation can be found. She is charged, along with two others, with being present in a place where narcotics were being used.

She and Monty Leon Miller, 20, and Loreen Gail Edwards, 21, both of San Rafael, were reportedly present when Richard Kenneth Yager, 20, died Saturday of an apparent overdose of methedrine in Miller's apartment.

Marin narcotics agents Friday arrested a San Francisco man, Everett LeForrest Hill, on suspicion of selling the drug thought to have killed Yager. A 17-year-old who accompanied Yager on the drug buy led agents to Hill, according to Inspector William Burgess of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau.

Goldstein releaseed Mrs. Edwards on her own recognizance and ordered all three defendants to appear today for further proceedings.

Rodeo Winners Are Announced

DEEP Steam CARPET CLEANERS

DEEP STEAM WALL-TO-WALL CARPET CLEANING . . .

★ With DEEP STEAM the soil is extracted, not scrubbed deeper. And, that's the difference!

★ How does it work? Steam, a cleaning agent and a soil retardant are applied under pressure deep into the carpet fibers. Instantly the soil and moisture are removed.

★ The pile doesn't have that washed look . . . looks like new. And, because of the powerful extraction system, the moisture is completely controlled. NO SHRINKAGE IS GUARANTEED.

★ DEEP STEAM is gentle . . . uses no brushes, no scrubbing action, no detergents. It's completely safe for all fabrics. And, it's economical, because thoroughly cleaned carpets wear much longer and they don't have to be cleaned as often.

Now! Your exclusive franchised dealer for DEEP STEAM CARPET CLEANERS is GUNTHER HAGEL . . . known in Marin for 15 years for the finest quality in home and business services.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Several weeks ago one of our female employees wanted to know about electrolysis. Hairs were growing on her chin and in a thin line along the upper lip. She was tired of tweezing and wanted to permanently remove the unwanted fuzz. I suggested that she contact a skilled electrologist. After all, not many hairs were involved.

Electrolysis is a procedure in which a fine wire is inserted into a follicle and passed to the base where the root is located. A mild electric current kills the hair follicle. Twelve or more hairs are removed at one sitting. The entire process is not too painful.

A DENSE growth involves considerable time and is more expensive. Now and then if a hair or two adjoining the treated follicle begins to grow, it is mistaken for regrowth of the original hair. Extreme care is needed to avoid scarring.

Depilation is removal of the entire hair, except the root; in depilation, chemicals lead to swelling of the shaft with eventual deterioration to a jelly-like consistency that can be wiped off the skin.

Depilatories may also break down the structure of the hair so that it detaches easily from the surface. Some of these products remove hair efficiently in 2 to 5 minutes. These measures lead to a temporary hair loss, in contrast to electrolysis, which is permanent.

A RAZOR is the easiest, but many women find shaving of the face repugnant. Tweezers are most useful for removing hair on the chin and upper part of the neck.

Wax is effective and relatively safe. Bleaching makes the fuzz less visible but is used only if irritation does not ensue. A weak solution of hydrogen peroxide and ammonia is an effective bleaching agent.

The basic origins of unwanted hair in women are more complex. Common factors influencing hirsutism are racial, genetic, or glandular. Special tests determine the latter, but unless the hair pattern is marked, few attempt to find the cause.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

CATARACT AND DIET

N. S. writes: Is cataract related to nutrition? All my life I have eaten sensibly, now, at 59, I have a cataract in one eye.

REPLY

The cause of ordinary cataract is not known, but it is believed to be associated with aging. The cells of the lens gradually lose their transparency, and, when practical vision is lost, removal of the lens is recommended. Cataracts also result from injury.

Now and then, babies are afflicted. This type, congenital, is due to a developmental defect. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on cataract.

DEVELOPMENT OF TWINS

T. A. writes: Do twins develop at a slower rate than the single fetus?

REPLY

No. Twins appear to develop more slowly because they usually are smaller when born. On the other hand, once they get going they grow just as fast as do singletons.

IRON AND PRESSURE

S. P. writes: Could iron deficiency cause low blood pressure?

REPLY

Yes, but blood count and hemoglobin must drop at least a third before hypotension occurs.

ACID AND INDIGESTION

REPLY

No. There is no relationship between the two.

USE OF ANTICOAGULANT

A reader writes: Would you advise a normal, healthy person to take an anticoagulant to prevent the possible formation of blood clots?

REPLY

No, because he does so at the risk of becoming a bleeder. It is better to take an outside chance of developing a clot in the blood vessels, especially if there is no indication that a susceptibility to this condition exists.

WHY PALATE SWELLS

A reader writes: Why does my soft palate swell periodically? I have no sore throat or other symptoms at the time.

REPLY

In the absence of a cold, swelling of the uvula must be due to allergy.

DRY ICE TREATMENT

REPLY

Carbon dioxide snow is used to eradicate surface lesions such as birthmarks. The action of this substance is basically a caustic one induced by refrigeration.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on the 27th day of May, 1968, the Town Council of the Town of Corte Madera, California, adopted its Resolution of Intention No. 990 wherein it did declare that in its opinion the public interest and convenience required, and that it was the intention of said Council to order the following acquisitions and improvements in and for said Town, to wit:

(a) The improvement of Sausalito Street from Buena Vista Avenue to Sunnyside Avenue by grading and the installation of required subbase, base and pavement between curbs, the installation of Portland cement concrete curbs and gutters on both sides and the construction and installation of storm drainage pipes, culverts and catch basins, as may be required.

(c) The improvement of Sausalito Street from Madrono Avenue to the South Town limits by grading and the installation of subbase, base and pavement necessary to increase the paved travelled way by approximately three feet, the installation of an asphalt curb on the upslope side and the construction and installation of storm drainage pipes, culverts and catch basins as may be required.

(d) The acquisition of all lands and easements and the performing of all work auxiliary to any of the above necessary to complete the same.

All of said work and improvements are to be constructed at the places and in the particular locations, of the forms, sizes, dimensions and materials and at the lines, grades and elevations shown and delineated on the plans, profiles and specifications preliminarily approved therefor by the Council of said Town and on file for public inspection in the office of the Town Clerk.

Notice is hereby given of the fact that in many cases said work and improvements will bring the finished surface of the ground to a grade different from the surface as it now exists, and that to said extent said grades will be changed and that said work will be done to said changed grades.

Said contemplated acquisitions and improvements, in the opinion of said Council, are of more than local or ordinary public benefit, and the costs and expenses thereof are made chargeable upon an assessment district, the exterior boundaries of which district are the composite and consolidated area as more particularly shown on a map thereof on file in the office of the Clerk, to which reference is hereby made for further particulars. Said map indicates by a boundary line the extent of the territory included in the proposed district and shall govern for all details as to the extent of the assessment district.

The estimated cost of said project is $34,610.25, of which the Town will contribute the estimated amount of $4,000.00.

Notice is hereby given that serial bonds to represent unpaid assessments and bear interest at the rate of not to exceed six percent (6%) per annum, will be issued hereunder in the manner provided in the Improvement Bond Act of 1915 (Division 10 of the Streets and Highways Code), the last installment of which bonds shall mature not to exceed fourteen (14) years from the second day of July next succeeding ten months from their date.

The descriptions of the acquisitions and improvements and the termini of the work contained in the Resolution of Intention are general in nature. All items of work do not necessarily extend for the full length of the description thereof. The plans and profiles of the work, and maps and descriptions, as contained in the Engineer's report, shall be controlling as to the correct and detailed description thereof.

Except as herein otherwise provided for the issuance of bonds, said work shall be done pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913.

Reference is hereby made to proceedings had pursuant to Division 4 of the Streets and Highways Code, all on file in the office of the Town Clerk.

Notice is further given that the Engineer of Work pursuant to said Act and said Resolution of Intention adopted pursuant thereto, did on the 16th day of September, 1968, file with the Clerk of said Town his report in writing on said acquisitions and improvements, consisting of plans, profiles, specifications, estimate of costs and incidental expenses, diagram and assessment, maps and descriptions, and said Council did on said date consider and examine said report and by resolution preliminarily approved and confirmed same and ordered that said report shall stand as the report for the purposes of all subsequent proceedings had pursuant to said Resolution of Intention.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that Monday, the 21st day of October, 1968, at the hour of 7:30 o'clock P.M. of said day, in the regular meeting place of said Council, Council Chambers, Town Hall, Corte Madera, California, are the time and place appointed and fixed by said Council when and where it will consider and finally determine whether the public interest, convenience and necessity require said acquisitions and improvements, and when it will consider and determine whether the owners of a majority of the area of the property in the proposed assessment district have protested against said acquisitions and improvements or any portion thereof, and when and where it will consider and finally act upon the Engineer's report filed pursuant to said Resolution of Intention, and when and where it will hear all protests in relation to said proposed acquisitions and improvements, or to the grades at which said work will be done, or the extent of the assessment district, or to the Engineer's estimate of the costs and expenses thereof, or to the proposed diagram and assessment, or to the maps and descriptions, and that any person interested may file a written protest with the Clerk at or before the time set for the hearing referred to herein.

Reference is hereby made to said Resolution of Intention and said report, including plans, profiles, specifications, estimate of costs, diagram and assessment, and maps and descriptions, for a more particular description of said acquisitions and improvements to be had and done, and for further particulars, all on file in the office of the Town Clerk.

Sewer Union Hearing Set Thursday

A proposed merger of the Town of Corte Madera and the Corte Madera Sanitary District will come up for public hearing before the Local Agnecy Formation Commission Thursday at 8 p.m. in the supervisors' chambers at Civic Center.

Corte Madera officials contend that the merger will bring an annual saving of about $9,000 to the taxpayers.

Executive officer John F. Barrows will submit a resolution calling for the dissolution of the Bolinas Harbor District. Barrows will also give a progress report on negotiations among the 10 sanitary districts in Southern Marin on whether they should form a large sanitation district, have the Marin Municipal Water District take over, or leave the small existing districts unchanged.

Four small annexations to be heard by the LAFC are:

1. Tiburon fire protection district's application to annex 3.5 acres of Fred Zelinsky's land along Tiburon Boulevard. The land was recently transferred from the City of Belvedere to the City of Tiburon to straighten out boundaries.

2. Tiburon's application to annex five parcels of land totaling about three-fourths of an acre, owned by Richard Dawson and other family members, at the intersection of Mar East Street and Linda Vista Avenue.

3. Novato Sanitary District's annexation of William Johnson's property at 1975 Marion Avenue, containing about three-fourths of an acre.

Helicopter Hunt Finds Slain Coed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The body of a strangled college art student was found in the trunk of her car in Los Angeles Wilshire District yesterday.

The discovery was made by her brother-in-law, who hired a helicopter when the girl's parents reported her missing, and flew over the neighborhood looking for her yellow and green car.

Wendy Halison, 22, daughter of a realtor, was found in the auto after it was sighted by the brother-in-law, private detective Gilbert R. Kort, parked at an intersection a little more than a mile from her home.

$43 Coin Theft

Coins totaling $43 were stolen Sunday night from the home of A. C. Rattan, 1416 Lauren Drive, Petaluma, police reported. A screen was removed at the rear of the home to gain entry, police said.

Club Building Plans Upset Neighborhood

The Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club's plan to build a clubhouse on Tennessee Valley Road at Marin Avenue ran into stiff neighborhood opposition yesterday before the Marin County Planning Commission.

"There is talk already that there will be rock bands there," declared Joe H. Stewart, who owns property adjacent to the proposed clubhouse. He said the cars, lights and noise would create a nuisance and depreciate property values.

"Activity at night will be very disturbing," said Mrs. Yobuo Tanaka of 219 Marin Avenue. "It will create absolute havoc."

Mrs. Edith Toal of 243 Marin Avenue said her chief concern is flooding. "Every year I have four inches of water in the patio area during the entire rainy season," said Mrs. Toal. She said she fears a clubhouse with added fill will aggravate the flooding.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney explained that the use permit for the clubhouse was granted in June 1967 and extended last May. The only question before the commission now is design review, Maloney ruled.

The site is 67,000 square feet, on which the club want to build a two-story wood frame structure 40 by 60 feet. Charles Norton, club president, and Joe D. Allen, architect, said they plan an initial parking lot for 14 cars with temporary access from Marin Avenue, with the remainder of the site to be filled and landscaped in the future.

Norton objected to the planning staff's requirement that an area for 36 more parking stalls to take care of overflow be provided on the site. Aside from major events like the Rhubarb Revue, the 14 spaces are sufficient for club activities, Norton contended. He said the club plans to use an adjacent lot owned by the Tamalpais Valley Community Services District for any overflow parking.

Norton told the commissioners his group is willing to put in shrubs and screening around the 14-stall parking area but the club lacks funds to fill, grade and plant for an additional 36 parking spaces immediately.

The planning commissioners postponed a decision until Oct. 28 and asked the planning staff and club officials to bring in more information on planting and parking plans.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

TENTATIVE MAP — Approved a one-year extension, until November of next year, for the Villa Vista subdivision, a six-acre parcel north of Vineyard Road and west of Sutro Avenue in West Novato. Subdivider F. H. Smaw wants to put in 16 lots ranging in size from 10,000 to 20,000 square feet.

VARIANCE — Denied a variance to Jack Blumenfeld of 150 Montecito Road, County Club tract, San Rafael, who wanted to build an addition to his home, which would encroach to within 11.5 feet of the side line where 20 feet is required.

HOUSEBOATS — Recommended to the supervisors that an interim ordinance against houseboats be held up until the present enforcement procedures determine whether existing laws are sufficient, and if not, how the loopholes can be plugged.

Guilty Pleas To Drug Counts

Robert Allen Gerard, 26, of Sausalito, and David Eugene Smith, 18, of Mill Valley, pleaded guilty to two narcotics charges each yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

One other charge pending against Gerard and two charges pending against Smith were dismissed. Gerard pleaded guilty to selling marijuana Dec. 22, 1967, and Jan. 20, 1968. Smith pleaded guilty to selling marijuana Dec. 13 and 22, 1967.

Both were ordered to appear Nov. 12 for sentencing.

Credit Card Fraud Brings Jail Sentence

Kenneth Lloyd Riggs, 18, of San Rafael, was sentenced to six months in Marin County Jail and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court for fraudulent use of a credit card March 2 in San Rafael.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson declared the offense a misdemeanor, and ordered the jail term served concurrently with a term Riggs is serving in a California Youth Authority facility.

Hippie Agrees To Delay On Fund Control

Hippie colonist Donald C. McCoy Jr., conservatively clad in off-white hippie garb and leather headband, made an appearance in Marin Superior Court yesterday and agreed to a two-week delay in a conservatorship case that would take control of his $200,000 estate out of his hands.

McCoy's former father-in-law Arthur E. Lang of Mill Valley, brought the suit on grounds McCoy was incompetent to handle his own affairs and had squandered more than half the $500,000 he had a year ago in maintaining a colony of 40 to 50 people at the Rancho Olompali near Novato.

McCoy, 37, was a successful Marin businessman and investor before hanging up his gray flannel suit and starting the commune.

McCoy, full-bearded and six feet six, looked something like a birch tree surrounded by beavers as he stood flanked by attorneys in his brief court appearance.

His attorney, Pano Stephens of San Francisco, had no comment on the possibility of an out-of-court settlement of the case during the two week delay sought by Lang's attorney, William O. Weissich.

The court agreed to let McCoy have $200 a week from his frozen assets pending the Oct. 14 hearing. His money is in the hands of Lang, who was appointed temporary conservator last month.

Brundage Defends His Olympics Committee

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Avery Brundage of the International Olympic Committee, in a lengthy news conference, last night scoffed at suggestions his organization was an aristocratic group of elders refusing to operate in a democratic fashion.

What started out as an outline by Brundage of the fine job Mexico has done readying for the Olympic Games, Oct. 12-27, turned into a grilling by some newsmen on such subjects as the self perpetuation of the IOC; its limited membership, and the secrecy of IOC meetings.

Brundage, 81, presided earlier in the day at the opening session of the IOC's nine member executive committee, a prelude to the full meeting of the 72-member IOC Oct. 7-11.

A Cuban newsman said the IOC has been accused of lacking world wide membership and he asked why the IOC was not placed on a democratic basis instead of being a life time membership for old millionaires.

Brundage conceded the IOC may not be democratic "in the present sense of the word," but that loyalty of its members to the principles of amateurism has made the IOC "the most important social force in the world" in a 70-year span.

When the same Cuban newsman asked if IOC members are "angels without nationality," Brundage quipped.

"At my age, I'm almost angel, or at least octogenarian, and I don't like it a bit."

Under questioning from an international group of some 60 press representatives, Brundage variously commented:

—That the IOC would take under advisement any cited violations of the four-week limit on organized high altitude training from mid-July.

—That we'll face that problem when it arrives," in reference to the Olympic ban on South Africa because of its racial policies in connection with the 1972 Games at Munich.

—That the IOC is trying to find new members in the 30-to-40 year-old bracket which he said is difficult since the member must spend considerable time away from his business.

—And that the IOC is not ignoring recommendations by the various national Olympic committees with whom the IOC executive group will start conferring Thursday.

Brundage, who has served as IOC president since 1952, again side-stepped the question of whether he will stand for re-election when the full IOC votes on the office.

"That's a question that will be settled in Mexico pretty soon," said Brundage.

Dinner At Ernie's? No Thanks, Says Lee

DEBUT—George Lee of San Rafael was still undefeated as head coach of the San Francisco Warriors when someone mentioned he was 1-0 in the won-lost column following Saturday night's victory over San Diego at the Cow Palace. But Lee corrected: "Unh, unh. I'm now 2-0. I won an intra-squad game last week." (Lee tasted defeat for the first time last night, 117-95, to the mighty L.A. Lakers.)

Lee, whose wife Nancy was having trouble finding a baby sitter, hitched a ride to the game with Al Tognoli and Al Murray of San Rafael. On the way over, big spender Murray invited Tognoli and Lee to "... dinner at Ernie's."

Said Lee: "Gee, Al, that'll be kind of expensive for you."

"Don't worry about a thing," said Murray as he drove up to Ernie's 24-cent Hamburger Palace on Geneva.

After the game, Tognoli congratulated Lee on his maiden victory and suggested the dinner at Ernie's may have been a lucky omen. "You ought to eat there before every game," said Tognoli.

"No thanks," dead-panned Lee, "I'd rather lose." Pass the Tums, please.

'A Different Team With Hayes'

Some of Lee's observations after Saturday's doubleheader at the Moo Mansion: "Even though we beat San Diego the Rockets will be tough. They're a totally different team with (Elvin) Hayes in there. He has excellent basketball sense and should give a lot of centers in the league a lot of trouble. With that 83-inch arm-spread he'll do all right.

"Seattle looks like it also has improved 100 per cent with the addition of Bob Kaufman, a rugged 6-8, 240-pound rookie forward to go along with Bob Rule and Al Tucker, their two fine rookies from last year."

Of his star center, Nate Thurmond, Lee commented: "Nate, of course, is still great but it will take five or six games to get his timing down to what it was before he was hurt last January."

Presents A Happy Medium

The 32-year-old Lee's deportment on the sidelines during the heat of battle is a cross between that of former Warrior coaches Bill Sharman and Alex Hannum. He has a little of Sharman's cool and a little of Hannum's dramatics although George has much more hair to pull than does Alex, now across the bay with Oakland Oaks.

Familiar faces in the crowd, in their customary front row, courtside seats, were Marinites Judge Peter Smith and son, Norb Hartman, Dr. Marv Gilberg and Dr. Carroll Paulson and wives.

Disc jockey Johnny Holliday of Tiburon, who handles the public address announcing at Warrior games, introduced the fabulous Elvin Hayes from the University of Houston as "Elvin Jones." Johnny can be excused for the boo-boo because Elvin Jones, a noted jazz drummer, is frequently featured on Holliday's deejay show.

McLain, Gibson To Pitch Opener

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Denny McLain, with 31 victories, is the American League's biggest winner in 37 years. Bob Gibson, with an earned run average of 1.12 is the National League's stingiest pitcher ever.

They'll face each other tomorrow when Detroit takes on St. Louis in the frist game of the World Series, but Mayo Smith isn't impressed.

BOB GIBSON

BUILD-UP

"You put two good pitchers against each other, and everybody builds them up as the biggest thing since gangbusters," said Smith, who managed the Tigers to 103 victories this year.

"Then the whole thing ends up disappointing. All pitching duels do. Often one of the pitchers gets bombed out."

In two Series, however, Gibson has yet to be bombed out. In fact he hasn't even been out of a Series game he's started since Oct. 8, 1964 the first time he pitched.

Since losing that encounter with the New York Yankees, the right-hander has posted five straight victories—two over the Yankees and three over the Boston Red Sox last year.

And in those five games, the 31-year-old fireballer allowed an average of only six hits and less than two runs a game.

ANOTHER RECORD

A victory over the Tigers tomorrow would vault Gibson into a tie for the most consecutive games won in a Series, a mark shared by Lefty Gomez and Red Ruffing, both of the New York Yankees.

McLain, on the other hand, has no Series history. The last time the Tigers were in it in 1945, Denny was only one year old.

He did slice off a piece of history this season by winning 31 games—which made him the first pitcher to win that many since Lefty Grove in 1931.

Despite what his manager says, the match-up is one of the most glamorous in Series play.

WELL RESTED

Both pitchers should be well rested. Gibson pitched Friday night when he shut out Houston and McLain just missed his 32nd victory against Washington Saturday.

McLain will be facing the same Cardinal line-up that won the National League pennant by nine games.

The three outfielders—Lou Brock, Curt Flood and Roger Maris—will come first, followed by first baseman Orlando Cepeda, catcher Tim McCarver, third baseman Mike Shannon, second baseman Julian Javier and shortstop Dal Maxvill.

For Gibson, the Tigers will have a slightly revised line-up. The revision revolves around the insertion of Mickey Stanley at shortstop. Smith wanted to get Al Kaline into the line-up, and the only way he could do it was by bringing Stanley in from center field.

KALINE

Kaline, long the leading slugger of the Tigers, broke his right arm early in the season, and by the time he was ready to return, the Tigers were going so well Smith didn't want to dis-

Van Brocklin Named Coach Of Falcons

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin, former coach of the Minnesota Vikings, today was named head coach of the Atlanta Falcons, succeeding Norb Hecker, whose contract with the National Football League club runs through 1970.

SINCE 1966

The decision to change coaches after widespread criticism of the Falcons was made by Rankin Smith, owner of the club which had been coached by Hecker since it was formed in 1966.

"I have felt for some time that the club was not making the kind of progress I had anticipated in order for it to become competitive in the NFL," said Smith.

Van Brocklin, one of pro football's most colorful players and coaches, was given a long-term contract to build the Falcons into a contender.

NOT INTERIM

"Although club policy prevents disclosure of exact terms of Van Brocklin's contract, I can say that he definitely will not be an interim coach," Smith said.

Van Brocklin played quarterback for the Los Angeles Rams and the Philadelphia Eagles before he was named coach of Minnesota when the Vikings were formed in 1961. He coached the Vikings through 1966 before he left after a dispute with quarterback Fran Tarkenton, now with the New York Giants.

49ers Getting Ready For That Ram Line

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — That guy who said that football games are won and lost in the line must have been thinking about next Sunday's San Francisco invasion of Los Angeles.

The 49ers think they have the NFL's best offensive line and everybody knows that the Rams have the top defensive line.

That puts Len Rohde, 250, up against Lamar Lundy, 260, of the Rams in a battle of experience. Young Elmer Collett, 255, has to go against Roger Brown, 300. A couple of potential all-pros slug it out as Howard Mudd, 255, battles Merlin Olsen, 275. Cas Banaszek, 245, is left to try his luck against Dave Jones, 260, possibly the league's greatest pass rusher ever.

The Rams barely whipped San Francisco 21-20 in a final exhibition and the Prospectors have improved plenty since. Of course, Los Angeles belted Cleveland 24-6 in an awesome defensive show last Sunday.

San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan said everybody would be ready to go against the Rams and he praised Dick Witcher for his performance in the 28-13 win over Atlanta last Sunday not only for his seven catches but for his blocking in key running downs.

That Was Tip When Phone Didn't Ring

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — When his phone stopped ringing five weeks ago, says former Oakland Athletics' Manager Bob Kennedy, he knew something was wrong.

Until then, Kennedy said yesterday in a telephone interview from his home in Mesa, owner Charles Finley would call often to discuss the progress of the baseball club.

Kennedy was fired Sunday and replaced by Hank Bauer. Kennedy said the firing was a complete surprise to him.

"It seemed strange," he said. "We had the expansion draft coming up and all of a sudden, no calls.

"It's his ball club. He owns it lock, stock and barrel and can do whatever he wants with it.

Barry To Make His Debut With The Oaks—In Salinas

Barry, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer in the 1966-67 season, today officially became a member of the Oakland Oaks in the rival American Basketball Association.

"Now we can really get down to cases and build a championship contending team," said Oakland Coach Alex Hannum. "This is the day we've been waiting for."

Barry was kept out of action by enforcement of his old contract with the San Francisco Warriors after he jumped to the Oaks when his father-in-law, Bruce Hale became coach.

Hale remains as Oakland general manager.

The Warriors failed recently in a court effort to force Barry to continue playing with them.

He will see his first action tonight in an intra-squad game in Salinas. The Oaks begin a nine-game exhibition schedule Thursday in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Berven Wins Tourney

Mrs. Philip Berven captured top honors at the Oakview Rovers Ladies Golf Club's Selma Samuels Memorial Trophy Tournament at Peacock Gap last Sunday.

Mrs. Berven had a 96-28-68, in Class A, followed by Mrs. Bert Zoahner at 96-19-77. Tops in Class B was Mrs. Max Schutte with a net 77, followed by Mrs. Arthur Brodie at 77.

Mrs. Todd Steiger was the top finisher in the Las Gallinas Women's Golf Club's Garat Tournament with a 31-7½—23½. She was followed by Mesdames Jack Goodall, 29-5½—23¾ and Urban Blake, 34-9—25.

S.F. COACHES TURN IN RESIGNATIONS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco Giants coaches Charley Fox, Wes Westrum and Larry Jansen resigned yesterday to give any new Giants manager a free hand to select his own staff.

Tam Jayvees Win

Raiders Get Extra Day Off

OAKLAND (AP)—The unbeaten Oakland Raiders resume practice tomorrow in preparation for Sunday's American Football League battle against the Boston Patriots.

The game is Oakland's home opener following three straight road victories, including last Sunday's 24-15 win over the Houston Oilers in the Astrodome, which extended the Raiders' regular season unbeaten string to 13 games.

The victory over Houston also gave Oakland its first sweep of a road trip and Coach John Rauch repaid his team by giving the players an extra day off today to reacquaint themselves with their families.

Ralston Fears A.F.; San Jose Coach Fears Cal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—John Ralston fears the Air Force, and Harry Anderson isn't for a moment looking forward to playing California.

That, at least, is what the two coaches told the Northern California Football Writers yesterday.

Ralston, after checking chief scout Dutch Fehring's report, said the Air Force is a good running club "and we'll have to sharpen up our defense to contain them. They could be very dangerous."

Ralston, whose Stanford Indians have won two straight behind the pin-point passing of soph quarterback Jim Plunkett, emphasized his point by saying:

"The Air Force made 43 yards rushing against Wyoming last week. That doesn't sound especially frightening until you look back and see that in Wyoming's first two games the Cowboy defense held Nebraska and Utah State to a total of 18 yards rushing in 99 attempts."

Anderson, who saw his San Jose State Spartans wiped out by Stanford, 68-20, two weeks ago and then bounce back to nip Fresno State, 25-21 last Saturday, thinks his team will be in over its head against California this Saturday.

"They are simply tremendous on defense," said Anderson of the Golden Bears. "They have tremendous pursuit and I think they are much better than most people think."

Anderson, has in effect, only one weapon to throw at Cal, and that is all-around halfback Walt Shockley, who scored two touchdowns against Stanford and two more against Fresno State.

Coach Ray Willsey of the Bears, who like Ralston is 2-0 at the moment, praised his defense for its play in shutting out Colorado last Saturday, 10-0.

"I'm very pleased with the play of our defensive unit," he said. "I graded the performance against Colorado as the best I've seen since coming to Cal. Now, ifour offense would perk up a bit I would be much happier."

The writers, meanwhile, selected quarterback Jim Plunkett of Stanford as Back of the Week and end Wayne Stewart of Cal as lineman of the Week. Plunkett threw three TD passes and scored a fourth time on a short run against Oregon while Stewart caught 12 passes for 144 yards against Colorado.

Halfback Jim Wheeler of Sacramento State, who carried the ball 12 times for 195 yards in leading the Hornets to a 26-13 victory over Cal Poly of Pomona, was named college division Back of the Week and defensive end Mike Cowan of Hayward State, who made 12 tackles and deflected three passes in the Hornets' 33-27 win over Occidental, was named Lineman of the Week.

Racial Disturbances In Prep Sports

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Racial disturbances have affected scholastic sports events in a number of states and the District of Columbia, an Associated Press survey disclosed yesterday.

The most serious outbreak occurred in Charlotte, N.C., where one youth knifed another in the face during a high school football game. As a result, the number of off-duty policemen hired for games was increased from four to eight and might go higher. Several squad cars also move into the Memorial Stadium area during games.

All public schools in Washington, D.C., play football on Friday afternoons as a result of violence in past years, and two games this season were switched to a neutral site in a different neighborhood because of threats of more violence.

A disturbance during an Annapolis, Md., high school game Sept. 19 prompted officials to reschedule all remaining games from night to day. But a few days later the remaining contests were changed back to night.

Police said both white and black students took part in the disturbances. No arrests were made but one student suffered a broken jaw.

All games of Dover, Del., High School were switched from night to day because of violence which erupted Friday night, Sept. 20. School officials said some dropouts, but no students, were among more than 50 Negroes involved in fighting behind the stands.

Racial strife hit East High School in Waterloo, Iowa, following a Sept. 13 football game. A scheduled home night game against Mason City High Sept. 27 was transferred to Mason City that afternoon. East officials also are considering rescheduling some other night games for daylight hours.

Officials in Prince Georges County, Md., a suburb of Washington, switched to all day games, although no incidents were reported.

Because of racial unrest in Boston last week, one high school football game was transferred to a less troubled area and another contest was postponed. A league football jamboree and a cross-country meet were canceled.

After a series of disorders in Indianapolis, Ind., police asked city schools to change all games from night to day. Officials, however, said such a move would mean a loss of revenue and they compromised by starting games one half hour earlier to enable youths to get home ahead of an 11 p.m. curfew.

"That was the last straw," said Parker, younger brother of Jim Parker, former Baltimore Colts tackle. "Time and time again over the last three years the officials have ruled against us and the only reason I can find out is racial prejudice."

Huge Lineman Takes Space Of 2 Players

His defense is built around its own private monster, Carlton "Tiny Tim" Vaughan, 17, who, at 6-feet-2½ and 415 pounds, might be the biggest boy in the nation on a high school field—and possibly any other field.

"They don't come to me too often," he says, "so I try to move around on the plays, and I get around pretty good."

The sight of Vaughan getting around has been enough to unnerve more than one 150-pound quarterback on the fields of this South Virginia hamlet, and Williams keeps him out of the scrimmages most of the time for fear of injuries.

"Whenever coach lets me scrimmage, I just pick them up or tag them," said Vaughan rather sadly. "He won't let me tackle."

The logistical problems of Tiny Tim tax the ingenuity of a rural school like Central, but so far things have worked out.

There was some shopping around for size 16 shoes and a helmet and shoulder pads capable of encompassing his 20-inch neck. His 54-inch waist was more of a problem.

Finally, Williams called on the girls in Central's home economics department, who stitched together three pairs of large size football pants to effect a proper garment for Tiny Tim. He managed to get by with two spliced-together jerseys.

So far this season Central is undefeated, but Williams is still making improvements with Tiny Tim.

"We use him strictly on defense," the coach muses, "but I've been thinking about putting him in on offensive pass situations. He could hold them off."

Umps Won't Strike; At Least Not Yet

CHICAGO (AP) — Major league umpires, angered at the firing of two compatriots, yesterday decided to join forces after ruling out a World Series strike.

Al Salerno and Bill Valentine were fired by American League President Joe Cronin for incompetence two weeks ago and the move led to a meeting of umpires from both leagues in Chicago yesterday.

However, Salerno and Valentine claim they were fired for trying to organize American League umpires.

Salerno and Valentine were instrumental in preventing a strike at the present time which would have hampered the World Series.

But the umpires voted to form a joint association with National League umpires and the move was approved.

If Salerno and Valentine are not reinstated, the new group is expected to strike next spring for exhibition games and early April games.

Cronin, reached in Boston, said he had no comment until he received a formal statement.

In all, 18 of the 20 American League umpires were present at the meeting. Missing was Frank Umont, who was at the bedside of his ailing wife and Ed Runge, whose absence was not explained.

Five directors of the association of the National League umpires were present including Al Barlick, Augie Donatelli, Chris Pelekoudas, Shag Crawford and Tom Gorman.

Word was that the umpires wanted to strike the World Series but Jack Reynolds, a Chicago attorney who helped organize the National League umpires, talked them out of it.

In addition, both Salerno and Valentine issued a joint statement saying, "We do not wish to deprive the American people and baseball fans of their annual classic due to the wrongful conduct of one mar.."

Good Weather Expected In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — October's bright blue weather is expected to prevail at least through the first two games of the World Series tomorrow and Thursday.

The St . Louis area weather forecast for tomorrow predicts a partly cloudy sky over Busch Stadium with temperatures at game time in the mid 80s.

The forecast says there is about a 10 per cent probability of rain tomorrow.

OSHAWA, Ont. (AP) — The Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League released seven players yesterday, bringing their roster to 22.

Assigned to the Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League were defensive men Aut Erickson and Stan Fuller and center Mike Laughton.

Defensive man Bob Lemieux was assigned to Vancouver B.C. of the Western Hockey League.

Released but not assigned were defensive man John Gravel, forward Murray Owen and goaltender Jean-Guy Morrisette.

Balsis Runs 150 On Lassister

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Balsis shut out Luther Lassister of Elizabeth City, N.C., by running 150-and-out on the break Monday night in the International Billiards Tournament.

In other matches:

Irving Crane of Rochester, N.Y., defeated Lassiter 150-51, and Steve Mizerak of Perth Amboy, N.J., topped Lou Butera of Kingston, Pa., 150-57.

Rule Change At Alcan Tourney

They established two separate cards for the par 74, 7,140-yard layout.

The promoters announced that the 64-man mini-tournament would play a reduced course from forward tees on the back nine. Thie means that the so-called consolation field would be traversing 7,044 yards for a 72-hole prize.

The genuine Alcan championship, restricted to 24 of the top professionals who qualified, will be played over the regular course of par 74 with a yardage of 7,140.

The reason: A year ago the consolation tournament was won at St. Andrews by Peter Thomson of Australia with 281. Over the same course and distance, the major tournament was won by Gay Brewer and Bill Casper, two shots higher at 283. In the playoff, Brewer won. It made a mockery of Thomson's effort, worth 10,000, while Brewer picked up more than double that.

Another irritation to the promoters was a serious worry about the course conditions after a week-long rain.

The Alcan group is offering $132,000 for the Golfer of the Year title. The mini-tournament will be ignored except locally. In the big one, the field of 24 will match stroke for stroke from tomorrow through Saturday for cash only. On the American pro circuit, the Alcan title has no rating.

Mrs. Boston Gets Helping Hand From Merchants

LAUREL, Miss. (AP) — The widowed mother of Olympic long jump champion Ralph Boston will be with him when he competes in the Olympics in Mexico City, thanks to a group of merchants.

Mrs. Eualie L. Boston, 71, will fly from Laurel to Mexico City to be on hand for the opening ceremonies Oct. 12.

"I had been hoping there would be a way for me to go," she said, "and when I was notified the fund with which to send me had been raised, I was so thrilled I was like a little child. I was too happy to sleep much that night."

The fund was the result of efforts by a group of Laurel businessmen headed by Harold Matison. The group is paying all expenses.

Except for a meet in Jamaica in 1964, Mrs. Boston has never seen her 29-year-old son compete in the long jump.

Mrs. Boston said she telephoned the news to Ralph, who is at a training camp in Lake Tahoe.

"Oh, he was so thrilled," Mrs. Boston said. "He told me to be sure and be there for the opening ceremonies."

Speaking for the fund-raising group, Matison said the track star could be wealthy if he had chosen to capitalize on his fame.

"He wouldn't do it," Matison said, "but he has brought worldwide credit to Laurel, his hometown, to his state and to his nation, and we felt that his mother deserves to see him in his third and final Olympic competition."

Willie's Bunt Rated As A Thing Of Beauty

CINCINNATI — Willie Mays doesn't believe he should rate his performances. "That's your job," he tells baseball writers. So the captain of the Giants declined to grade himself on one of his most remarkable hits, a bunt that drove in two runs and clinched second place for the Giants in their 158th game of the 1968 National League campaign.

It was a two-out bunt, exquisitely delicate and perfectly placed. It caught the entire infield of the Astros by surprise, particularly Doug Rader, the third baseman. It capped a four-run eighth inning rally that gave the Giants a 5-4 Astrodome victory.

IN THE FIRST inning Mays hit the first pitch to him over the centerfield wall for his 22nd home run and the 568th of his career. Now, he was up for the last time in the game and the Astros were leading 4-3. Jim Ray had just come on as the fourth Astro pitcher of the eighth inning.

Mays swung mightily and missed Ray's first pitch. It looked like he was trying to hit another homer. But Willie was just setting up the Astros for his surprise bunt. He tapped the ball along the third base line. Rader, playing deep behind the bag, raced onto the infield rug of the Astrodome. Trying for a barehanded pickup, Rader overran the ball.

DAVE MARSHALL scored easily from third base with the tying 4-4 run. Jim Davenport also scored from second base with the winning 5-4 run. Davenport, an old pro, never took his eye off the rolling bunt as he rounded third base.

Rader had overrun the ball midway between third and home and now the ball continued its slow roll for another 45 feet until the pitcher finally caught up with it at third base. By that time Davenport was safely home.

"I'VE BUNTED before," said Mays. "Want me to name you the games this year?"

It was true that Mays had bunted three times in early season games but never in a situation similar to the one in the Astrodome. A two-out bunt isn't exactly a routine way for the National League home run king to get a hit.

EVEN MAYS permitted himself a smile when reminded of that. He had to admit it was unusual. Still, he wouldn't personally rate it as one of his most remarkable hits.

"Like I've said that's your job as a baseball writer," Mays told his interviewer.

"This is not a sentimental gesture to get Al Kaline in the line-up," Smith said. "We're out to win this thing and by putting an extra bat in we think we can do it."

LINE UP

Many of the Cardinals will be playing in their third Series. If they have any advantage, Smith feels that's it—but not for long.

"The biggest edge will be in the first two or three innings," he said. "There is where they will have the edge on us. Our guys will go in there with stars in their eyes."

At the same time, the Tigers will have money on their minds.

BOWLING TIPS

BY MARION LADEWIG

The correct grip finds the thumb inserted in its hole all the way. The two middle fingers should go in their holes, as ullustrated, so that the inside edge of the holes comes comes to a point between the knuckles. The forefinger and little finger are then spread slightly. Make certain that your ball is drilled so that your hand and fingers fit in this manner.

Reframe Putt On 16th Hole Wins At Robinson

ROBINSON, Ill. (AP) — Dean Reframe sank a 15-foot eagle putt on the 16th hole Sunday to capture the $25,000 Robinson Open Golf Tournament with a 72-hole total of 270, 18 shots under par.

Reframe fired a seven-under-par 65 in the final round but didn't shake off Mike Hill until he birdied the 15th hole and followed with his eagle 3 on the 505-yard No. 16.

Reframe's triumph was worth $5,000. Hill, finishing with a 69 and 275 total, five strokes off the pace, collected $3,000 as runner-up.

Jim Grant, Rocky Thompson and Jim Wiechers were grouped at 279 and collected $1,400 each.

All of the players who made the 36-hole cut which included the top 70 and ties became exempt from qualifying for the Sahara Invitational at Las Vegas, Nev., this week.

Purdue 21-Point Favorite

NEW YORK (UPI) — After showing Notre Dame who was really No. 1 last week, Purdue, now the nation's top ranked college football team, goes on to meet Northwestern as a 21-point favorite, Saturday.

The Boilermakers, who sent the Irish tumbling to eighth place in the latest ratings with a 37-22 victory, were ranked second last week. Notre Dame also has a Big Ten opponent this week and is favored by 20 points to dump Iowa.

The focal point in the battle of the ratings this week should be Los Angeles as last year's national champ, Southern Calikfornia, takes on 12th ranked Miami of Florida. The Trojans, who are favored by eight points, are ranked second this week.

Penn State, the only eastern school among the top 20, places its No. 3 ranking on the line against West Virginia as the Nittany Lions are eight point favorites.

Fourth ranked UCLA is only a one point favorite at Syracuse, seventh-ranked Ohio State is a 20-point choice over Oregon, ninth-rated LSU is picked by 17 over Baylor and 10th-ranked Florida is 26 point selection over Mississippi State.

In other leading games around the nation:

EAST — Pennsylvania 8 over Brown; Dartmouth 6 over Holy Cross; Pittsburgh and William & Mary are pick 'ems; Princeton 20 over Columbia; Yale 13½ over Colgate.

SOUTH —Virginia Tech 7½ over Kansas St.; Georgia Tech 3½ over Clemson; Duke one over Maryland; Mississippi 11½ over Alabama; Vanderbilt 7½ over North Carolina; Georgia 12 over South Carolina; and Florida is rated even with Texas A&M.

Marin Lawmen Win Softball Championship

The Marin officers, comprised of members of the Marin County Sheriff's office, Sausalito, San Rafael and San Anselmo police, won the softball title in Hayward with a pair of victories over the weekend.

Marin downed San Jose Police 4-3 Saturday and defending champ Hayward 3-2 Sunday.

Buzz Keaton's four hits paced the Marin attack in the Saturday 10-inning game. Dave Jones' bases loaded single decided the issue in the 10th. A squeeze bunt by Jim Nunes won the Sunday game. Chuck Tyson pitched both games, striking out 14 in the first one and nine in the second.

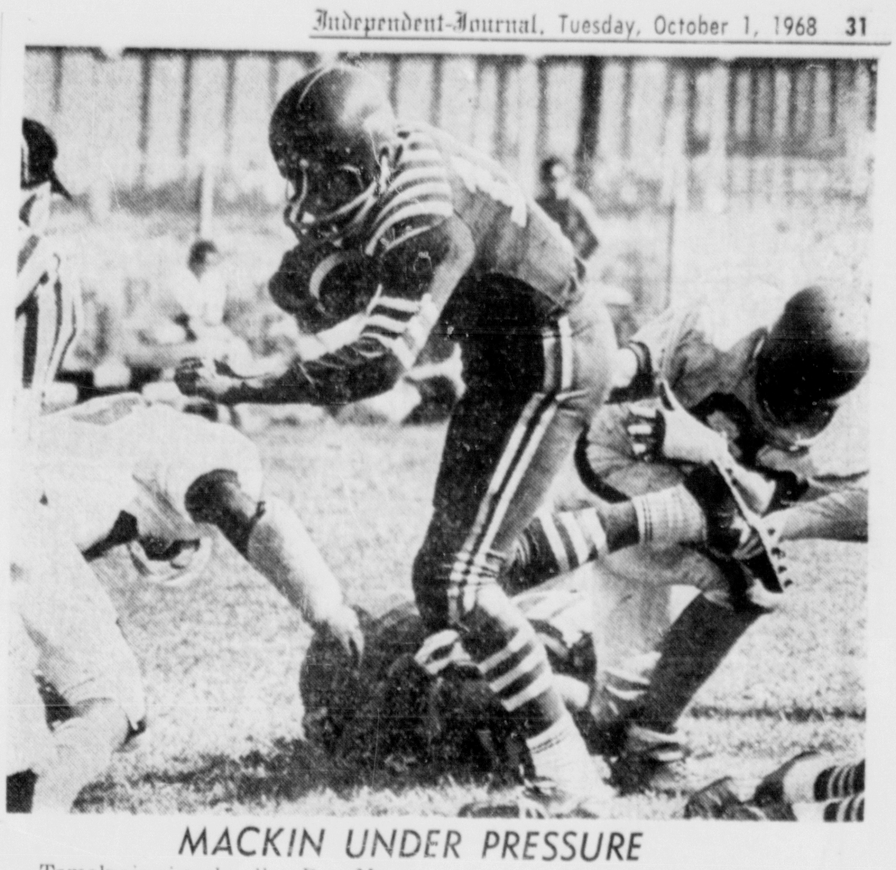
Tyson was the winning pitcher in all five Marin victories in the tourney, fanning 58 batters in the process.

Changes Made At Laguna Seca

MONTEREY (UPI) — When the $92,000 Monterey Grand Prix draws an international field of sports cars to the Laguna Seca race circuit Oct. 11-13, the crowds will find many changes.

Since last May, nearly $150,000 has been allocated to a general facelifting of the track. The pit area also has been rebuilt and the stands moved in closer for a better view of the track.

Among the names headed for Monterey will be New Zealand's Bruce McLaren, Denis Hulme and America's Dan Gurney, Jim Hall and Mark Donohue.



MACKIN UNDER PRESSURE

Tamalpais signal caller Don Mackin was the object of Skyline attention last Saturday, as he eludes one tackler during a third down play. Mackin score once, added an extra point, and threw for one touchdown in a 19-13 Indian victory. Tam opens the league season Saturday at Novato. (Independent-Journal photo by Pete Thompson)

Top Drivers To Compete In Monterey Grand Prix

Some of the best drivers in the world, in some of the world's best race cars, have entered the Monterey Grand Prix, first western stop in the six-race Canadian-American Challenge Cup Series.

Sponsored by the Sports Car Racing Association of the Monterey Peninsula at its famed Laguna Seca course, the Oct. 11-13 races offer over $92,000 in prize money.

Already entered are Denny Hulme, former world champion and winner of the Road America Can-Am at Elkhart Lake, Wisc. and Bruce McLaren, Hulme's boss and designer of the McLaren cars they both drive. McLaren was second at Elkhart Lake and last year won the Monterey race as well as the Can-Am championship.

Dan Gurney and his protege Swede Savage are registered to drive their All American Racers cars in the 152-mile contest. Gurney holds a long list of wins on courses all over the world.

Jo Bonnier, Swiss independent and president of the Grand Prix Drivers Association also has posted his entry fee.

Rounding out the list of early entrants is Mark Donohue of Media, Pa. driving Roger Penske's McLaren-Chevy. Donohue won the Laguna Seca race in May, and went on to wrap up the United States Road Racing Championships crown by winning six of the eight races. Not content with this major achievement, Donohue, in the Penske Sunoco-Hilton Camaro, overwhelmed all competition to win the Trans-American sedan championship this year, as well.

He captured the second Can-Am race this fall, at Bridgehampton, N.Y., and must be regarded as one of the very top entries in the upcoming Monterey Grand Prix.

Gilstrap Wins Golf

Vernon Gilstrap of Woodacre shot a 69 last Friday to lead a field of 64 players in the third annual San Geronimo Valley Lions Club golf tournament at the San Geronimo National course. The tournament netted more than $300 for the San Geronimo Valley Lions Club's "Aid to the Blind" charity program.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bridge Player Saved From Ruin By Call To A Spaghetti Feed

"Were you ever saved from a bidding disaster by ap late of spaghetti and meatballs?" asks Mrs. Barbara Kachmar in the latest issue of The Bridge World. To be more accurate, the rescue was brought about by a half-ton of spaghetti and 500 pounds of meat balls, which made it quite a dish to set before a king.

Opening lead — ♣ K

Mrs. Kachmar had just decided to open the South hand with a bid of three diamonds when an official at the national bridge tournament announced over the public address system that spaghetti and meat balls would be served in a few minutes. During the announcement, Mrs. K. decided that two diamonds would be a better opening bid than three diamonds.

Since this weak two-bid showed almost enough strength for an ordinary opening bid, North made sure of getting to game. If South had opened with three diamonds (a desperately weak bid in expert circles), North would have passed.

PERFECT PLAY

Mrs Kachmar played the hand to perfection while 2,000 tournament players got up to eat their spaghetti. She took the black aces, ruffed a club, cashed the queen of hearts, ruffed a spade in dummy and discarded two spades on the top hearts. Declarer then ruffed another club and ruffed her last spade with dummy's remaining trump.

By this time West and South were reduced to four trumps. Declarer led a heart from dummy and ruffed with the queen of trumps.

DIDN'T HELP

Since West would have to lead away from his ten of trumps if he overruffed, he overruffed with the three of trumps. This didn't help. Mrs. Kachmar led the jack of diamonds, and West could get his king but nothing else.

It's enough to make a man give up pasta and take to vino.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠—K J 9 8
♥—J 10 7 3
♦—5
♣—J 10 8 6
What do you say?

Answer: Bid two hearts.

The trouble with bidding one spade is that you will later have to raise the hearts, and the hand isn't quite worth both bids. Raise partner's major suit and leave the next move to him. If his hand warrants further action, you will gladly accept an invitation to game.

Market Closes High After Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher in moderately heavy trading today.

Many prices were near their best at the close. A broad assortment of issues showed changes of several points or more. Many were in the 1-point range.

The market opened on an uptrend and maintained its pace throughout the session.

Prices near the close included Occidental Petroleum off 5/8 at 45 7/8; CIT Financial off 4 1/2 at 55 1/4; INA Corp. up 2 1/4 at 49 1/4; Boeing up 4 3/8 at 61 7/8; MGM up 1 7/8at 54 1/4; United Fruit up 1 3/8 at 73 1/8; General Motors up 7/8 at 83 7/8; Union Carbide up 1 3/8 at 44 5/8 and Penn Central up 1 1/4 at 70 7/8.

The upsurge, possibly abetted by the aspect of closed markets tomorrow for a continuation of unjamming back office paper work, showed no signs of pausing for an expected consolidation phase.

Steels showed strength, with motors mixed and rubbers higher. Boeing added 3 at 60 1/2 and United Aircraft 2 1/8 at 65 1/8 among airplane builders.

The new airfreighter will be the largest airplane in the world and is scheduled to be in service by early 1972. High density cargoes of up to 300,000 pounds will form a single load for the craft. Other typical single loads might include six full-size Greyhound buses along with six other large vehicles or 95 small automobiles.

CRANSTON: Author Among The World Federalists

By FRANK ANDERSON

One work is "The Killing of the Peace," published in 1945 and reissued in 1960. Written in diary form, the book covers the 1916-1923 period and records the defeat of the League of Nations in the United States and elsewhere.

The League, similar in aims to the present-day United Nations, was formed after World War I.

The book on the League of Nations got generally good reviews and the New York Times named it one of the "10 best" published in 1945.

But the other title in the public library, "The California Democratic Council," has not fared so well. Today, seven years after its publication, political critics would like to throw the book at Cranston and his co-author, Joseph L. Wyatt Jr., Los Angeles attorney who followed Cranston as CDC president in 1957.

PERHAPS "would like to throw" is too mild a phrase. Indeed, critics of the Cranston record do throw the CDC at him — constantly. But more about that later.

"The Killing of the Peace," as noted, got fairly good reviews. Some samples:

"While well documented and historically in the main correct, the book appears to suffer from a measure of one-sidedness." — Christian Science Monitor.

"Cranston's book is journalistic, not scholarly." — American Political Science Review.

"The result is an excellent, if somewhat one-dimensional, short history of the birth and death (as far as the United States was concerned) of the League of Nations." — Karl Schriftgiesser, New York Times.

It is well to remember the phrases "one-sidedness" and "somewhat one-dimensional" for they will pop up again in criticisms of Cranston's public life.

CRANSTON wrote "The Killing of the Peace" when the United States was on the verge of victory in World War II. In its 1945 preface he said:

"I wrote it in the hope that errors that lost the peace after World War I would be avoided."

His belief that limitation on the sovereignty of nations within an international organization is a requisite of peace was to become an insistent theme throughout his public life. It has since been reflected in the positions he has taken on international issues and in the organizations he has joined.

One such organization was United World Federalists, a nonprofit nonpartisan organization formed in 1947 to help achieve world peace through world law.

Cranston became chairman of the UWF's Northern California branch and served as national president of the organization from 1949 to 1952. He is still a member and is one of 12 honorary vice presidents.

Conservatives view the UWF as pinko and connected with communism. But Cranston said in Long Beach in 1951 that the Communists despise UWF and its aims and term the movement "the figleaf of capitalism."

The United World Federalists was a product of the merger of five organizations, one of them Americans United for World Government, which Cranston served in 1945-46 as director and member of the executive committee.

The organization in its early years had bipartisan support, including some leading conservatives.

One was Rep. Walter H. Judd, R-Minn., who in 1949 co-sponsored with Arkansas Democrat Brooks Hays a House resolution, backed by UWF, aimed at strengthening the United Nations by "making Security Council veto power a more responsible instrument."

"I WORKED closely with UWF," Judd said in a telephone interview from Washington. "But I became somewhat disenchanted with the organization in the 1950s, when it contradicted its stated aims of world peace through enforceable world law and pushed for the admission of Red China to the U. N.

"I thought the UWF's espousal of U. N. membership for Peking violated the U. N. Charter. How can you bring in as a member a lawless nation diametrically opposed to everything the U. N. is supposed to stand for?"

Judd said conservative col-

Some Noble Red Men Teach Us A Lesson

The story appeared in the sports section of Saturday's Independent-Journal, but it richly deserves further comment.

The tribal council of the Gila River Indian Reservation in Arizona voted unanimously to refuse to allow the Cassius Clay-Zora Folley heavyweight boxing match to be held on the reservation.

Said Mrs. Mary Anna Johnson, a member of the council:

"The reason I oppose having this fight here is it would desecrate the land some of our brave boys have walked on."

THE REASON for the Indian' action is this: Cassius Clay, as Mohammed Ali (the name he assumed on espousing the Black Muslim religion) refused induction into the United States armed forced. He claimed exemption as a minister of God. The government rejected this claim. A federal court sentenced Clay to prison as a draft violator. He hasn't gone to prison, though, as the case is on appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

The Pima and Maricopa Indians of the Gila River reservation are patriotic. Many of their young men have given their lives for the United States. They want no part of draft dodgers.

And so, despite the fact the Indians are poor and their youth recreation organization would have received money for a swimming pool from the fight proceeds, the tribal council rejected the proposal that Cassius Clay stage his "comeback" fight on Gila River Indian property.

TO MANY YOUNG black people — and some whites — Mohammed Ali is a hero. These young people, along with plenty of their elders, are disgusted and disheartened with the United States' involvement in the Vietnam War. And, by twisted logic, Cassius Clay's evasion of the draft on the spurious premise that he is a minister becomes commendable in their eyes.

Not so to the Arizona Indians.

These red men, whose ancestors were pushed from their tribal lands onto this inhospitable reservation in a corner of Arizona, see the issue in simple, honorable terms: Cassius Clay refuses to fight for his country. So they want no part of him.

THEY DO NOT — as too many do nowadays — denounce their nation because in past generations their people were mistreated.

In doing so, they have provided a lesson for all of us — white and black as well as red.

It is an old gag, when things go wrong, to suggest, "We ought to give the country back to the Indians."

Maybe we could do worse!

"Goodness No! I've Never Seen One Grow THAT Big!"

Will GOP State Committee Oust Barham As Disloyal?

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Assemblyman William T. Bagley was assailed for disloyalty to the GOP during the June primary by his opponent, Clay Barham — who now turns out to be somewhat more disloyal by endorsing Wallace for president.

Some of the shine on Barham's credentials comes from his 4-year-old membership on the California Republican Central Committee. It will be interesting to see if the committee dismisses him — a fate instantly announced when a member declared he was supporting Alan Cranston over Max Rafferty for the U. S. Senate.

The standing rules of the committee bar a member from supporting a candidate of an opposition party. Still unknown is whether that means Wallace partisans as well as Democrats.

If the polls showing Nixon the winner prove correct, Bagley, long a strong supporter of Nixon, probably could have his pick of many good federal jobs, including perhaps as an assistant attorney general in the civil rights division of the Justice Department.

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, is taking credit for the administration's war policy, according to a recent press release from his office.

Clausen, noting that he long has advocated replacing American troops with Vietnamese troops, said his approach "finally appears to be catching on."

It's good to know there is so little difference between the major parties.

VICE PRESIDENT Hubert H. Humphrey's arrival last week in San Francisco before the Commonwealth Club brought the crowd of 1,000 persons to its feet — for 20 seconds.

Then they all sat down to listen for 46 minutes, during which they interrupted him with brief applause 19 times.

Former Gov. Edmund G. Brown, sitting four places from Humphrey, drew about five seconds of applause.

Outside, a contingent of about 10 pro-Humphrey youths were outshouted into silence by about 100 hippies protesting the war.

An inspiring day it was not.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Non-Resident Status Held Beneficial

I realize that any newspaper has a right to expound editorially, however it disturbs me when you write editorials without all the facts. I asked for and was granted permission by the city manager and the Sausalito City Council to move out of Sausalito. Frankly my family's welfare and happiness are far more important to me than my job. I did advise the council that if even one person objected to my moving I would not do so. However I felt that it would ultimately influence the kind of job I could do, as well as how long I would stay in Sausalito. My moving was brought up at an open council meeting and it was moved by Councilman Jan Dyk and approved unanimously that the city manager be allowed to approve the residence of any department head.

I felt that I had brought to Sausalito and to Marin County something worthwhile in the field of law enforcement. I believe that our record for the past two years will bear this out and needs no defense. I hope that the residents of Sausalito also believe that what I have done and what the department is doing is worthwhile. I do not believe that I will be any less a chief of police living in Larkspur. In fact, I know I can do a better job knowing that my wife and children are happy.

I do not choose to go into the problems they had to contend with prior to our moving, however I am sure a lesser family would not have endured. One of the reasons I gave the council for moving was that I wished to become a part of Marin County as well as Sausalito and I wished to purchase a home and keep my children in St. Patrick's and Redwood High School where they are happy. We have met some wonderful people in Larkspur, participate in Little League and Babe Ruth Baseball programs and once again feel like neighbors to those around us.

If Sausalito or any city wants to truly professionalize any department they will have to realize that you cannot bring professional people to a city with archaic attitudes towards residence requirements. Contrary to what you editorialize, I will be a better chief of police than I was before simply because of my family's well-being. I have pride in Sausalito and even more pride in the police department which I believe to be the finest in Marin County and no editorials can change that pride.

I would truly hope that the residents of Sausalito agree with me and also show some of that pride in their police department.

EDWARD S. KREINS

Sausalito

(Editor's note: The Sausalito City Council on April 16 of this year granted the city manager permission to authorize department heads to live outside the city. Permission to move to Larkspur was subsequently given Police Chief Kreins by the city manager under this authorization.)

Proposition 9 Wakes Up Politicians

It sure is surprising to see how fast our politicians went to work on a tax cut, "Proposition IA" with the threat of "Proposition 9" about to upset their apple cart!

Then too, the mad scramble of the various school boards and their denunciation of Proposition 9, after submitting budgets in excess of their needs!

I am prepared to take my chances on the dire results promised by the politicians should Proposition 9 pass!

One benefit will be to remove the hands of the school boards and the welfare departments from our pockets.

Financing of schools and welfare by the state might result in long sought economy measures and better administration. . .

Hawks And Doves Misread What's Happening In Vietnam

WASHINGTON — Hawks and Doves in the United States are greatly misreading the state of the Vietnamese war.

Both sides are mistaking appearance for reality.

The reality is that the United States is in the process of disengaging from the defense of South Vietnam and, regardless of who becomes President — Richard Nixon or Hubert Humphrey — this withdrawal will continue until it is completed.

The question isn't whether disengagement will be the policy of the next administration. It will. The uncertain, haunting, unanswered question is whether U. S. disengagement can be carried out with such care, steadiness and patience that we don't throw away all chances for a decent and workable peace.

IT IS EVIDENT that Hawks still tend to think that because most Americans oppose any further one-sided reduction of the bombing of the north and oppose negotiating the Communists into a coalition government in Saigon without elections, the U. S. role in defending South Vietnam will remain as it now is indefinitely.

It won't. Nixon and Humphrey know it won't. President Thieu knows it won't. The South Vietnamese leaders know that they are going to have to take over step by step the great burden of defending their nation during the latter stages of the war — and they are preparing to do so.

The Doves continue to picket and heckle Humphrey — and Nixon somewhat — as though the debate hadn't already been won, as though the issue about what the United States should do in Vietnam is the same today as it was a year ago.

It isn't the same. It is radically different today. The issue is not whether the United States is to disengage from Vietnam, but how best to disengage over a period so that Saigon can safely assume a full-sized role in holding the line and in standing up for a defensible peace.

THIS IS EXACTLY what Nixon and Humphrey are talking about, but they are quite aware that steps to reach this objective cannot be spelled out in detail until one or the other has the authority as President to make policy, not just speeches.

This is what Nixon is saying when he avows that his "highest priority as President will be to end the war in Vietnam."

This is what Humphrey is saying when he tells a TV panel of European editors that he "will reassess the entire situation in Vietnam and take action that the situation requires."

I think it is now clear beyond argument that as President either Nixon or Humphrey will take steps to get serious peace talks under way in Paris and to begin the process of American disengagement from Vietnam.

OBVIOUSL South Vietnamese leaders are not happy at this prospect, but my information is that they are reconciled to it and believe that, if the American withdrawal is not carried out in any hasty scuttle-and-run manner, they can hold the Viet Cong in check even during drawn-out peace negotiations.

It would not be surprising to find that they are prepared to do more. There is reason to expect that early next year Saigon itself will propose the beginning steps to enable some U. S. troops to be withdrawn and to enable further disengagement to proceed in a prudent and orderly manner.

The evidence of such a cooperative and confident attitude on the part of the South Vietnamese government would create a favorable response in the United States. It would enable the American people to see their commitment in Vietnam coming to an end and, by doing so, would enable the new President to have time enough to bring it to an end carefully and constructively.

Reasons Obscure For New Fears In Middle East

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Incredible and senseless as it seems, fears are building that the Mideast may be on the verge of another violent explosion between Jews and Arabs.

It is both incredible and senseless since the Israelis long ago won their strategic goals and already hold more land and rebellious peoples than they comfortably can handle. And the Arabs, despite bellicose talk and promises of action to remove the tarnish of the six-day 1967 war, simply are not ready.

But, declared Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad in London, "a new outbreak can be expected in the Middle East at any time."

LITTLE OF THIS talk has come from Israel, where Premier Levi Eshkol appears to have won at least temporarily a test of strength against the more hawkish members of his government who would toughen the line against the Arabs and simply annex all the conquered territories.

It freed Foreign Minister Abba Eban, classed as a dove, to pursue his search for a negotiated peace, leaving the future of certain of the occupied Arab lands negotiable.

The source of these fears, then, becomes obscure.

A part stems from the new hard-line stance of the Soviet Union as seen in Czechoslovakia, the lack of any real assessment of future Russian intent, and a lack of knowledge as to just who is pulling the strings in the Kremlin.

BENEATH the talk of renewed hostilities there also are vague suggestions that both President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and King Hussein of Jordan would like to come to terms with Israel.

Egypt's economy could not stand another war without massive Russian aid. The more time that passes without peace, the more shaky becomes Hussein's throne.

There are competing reasons for peace in the Mideast, and it may be hoped that these will outweigh passion.

If ignorance and passion are the foes of popular morality, it must be confessed that moral indifference is the malady of the cultivated classes. — Henri-Frederic Amiel.

Novato Learning The Hard Way That Parks Must Be Patrolled

When the $2,250,000 bond issue for parks was being discussed last winter in Novato, two of the main arguments used against it were the high cost of the parks and the cost of maintenance and patrol. The issue was defeated by the voters in January and many people felt that it dragged the street bond issues down to defeat along with it.

At least the city council felt this way and now is trying for a bond issue of $3 million for street improvements, which will be on the Nov. 5 baliot.

Getting back to the arguments against the parks, people who had some experience with parks spread the word that the original cost was only part of it. Maintenance and patrol is a costly item also, they held. The question was raised many times during the campaign.

THE CITY OF NOVATO is learning about patrolling parks the hard way. It has Lions Park below Stafford Dam. The park is far enough outside the city limits so the police do not patrol it. Vandals have done much damage there in the past two years. The parks and recreation commission voted at its latest meeting to close the vehicle entrances to the park. Anyone wanting to use it will have to walk in. The commission hoped that this would reduce the vandalism.

The original park bond issue had $285,000 earmarked for development of Pioneer Memorial Park. Since the bond issue failed, the Novato Civic Foundation has undertaken to develop the park. It persuaded contractors to donate the use of their equipment and paid the $5,000 cost of labor for grading the park. This would have cost about $22,000 if contracted out, according to city estimates.

Now that the second phase of work on the park has been designed and is ready for development, the civic foundation is again ready to carry the elephant's share of the load. The total cost of the next phase was estimated at $8,940. This includes installation of water mains, sewers and drainage.

The civic foundation has asked that the city make some small purchases and lay the drainage pipe in ditches which will be dug and filled at no cost to the city. Total cost of this phase to the city will be $1,725 instead of $8,940.

The city has a park development fund of $30,000. The talk around the city hall now is that, with the help of the civic foundation, the entire park will be completed for less than the $30,000 on hand. This is a far cry from the original $285,000.

THE NOVATO dog control experiment started today. Roaming dogs were such a problem that the city council enacted a strict leash law. It backed this up by hiring a special Marin County Humane Society officer to patrol Novato at odd hours to catch the loose dogs.

Strange, but the officer probably will not have much to do. People are suddenly keeping their dogs in their own yards.

It would seem that it might take just the threat of law enforcement to make people start obeying the law.

umnist Edgar Ansel Mowrer, a friend of his, had been a member of the UWF board but resigned in protest against "certain policy statements made by the organization" in the 1950s and early 1960s.

The Peking U. N. membership issue arose after Cranston left the presidency of UWF. As president of the CDC, Cranston had expressed opposition to diplomatic recognition of Peking.

IN NEITHER case, Cranston's critics point out, was his for-the-record opposition translated into action preventing the organizations from taking the pro-Red China position, although he was a past president of both of them.

Aside from stating his differences with current UWF positions unrelated to world peace through world law, Judd had nothing detrimental to say about the organization.

The former congressman is today a radio commentator for the American Security Council, with a program called "Washington Report." The program is described by Judd as "the expression of responsible conservatism."

Cranston, in 1949, said the UWF presupposes a legislative body with authority limited to the passage of laws necessary to enforce peace "just as laws are enforced within our borders."

He said the governing body of the organization would not be given authority to do such things as write local traffic laws, control education, religion or deprive people of their civil rights.

A search of the UWF record through the years shows a consistent espousal of the objectives claimed for it by Cranston in 1949.

THE MOSCOW propaganda apparatus has damned the UWF program. But so has the John Birch Society, which has charged UWF with "advocating the surrender of American Sovereignty."

Opposition to the UWF is not monopolized by the extreme right or Moscow. The Daughters of the American Revolution and the Veterans of Foreign Wars also have assailed it as "visionary and perilous in its advocacy."

The man on duty at the American Opinion Library in Canoga Park, greeted inquiry about the UWF with "it's a pinko, commie-type outfit."

But he searched through his racks of John Birch Society literature without being able to produce evidence to support his condemnation of the UWF.

All he could offer was that "Alan Cranston's a member of the UWF."

However, the Birch American Opinion Library did contain reports of the state Senate Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities. Note was made of the UWF on Page 145 of the committee's 1959 report.

It dealt with the trial of a Northern California teacher who sued a radio commentator on grounds she lost her job because he had branded her membership in UWF subversive.

THE COMMITTEE reported it had sent its representative to San Francisco as an expert witness and that he had testified: "... that we had never listed UWF as a subversive organization, had no evidence that it was Communist controlled, and that we did have evidence that it was not Communist-controlled."

Also used against Cranston has been his membership in the American Veterans Committee, which in 1954 termed the Communist Control Act of that year "loosely drawn and hastily adopted without hearings" and urged its prompt reconsideration.

The 1954 Boston AVC convention, which Cranston did not attend, resolved that the Communist Control Act "sets up arbitrary and ill-considered standards for determining membership of participation in the Communist Party . . . thus violating traditional American freedom, embodied in the Bill of Rights."

This resolution was accompanied by one commending the U. S. Senate for censuring Red-hunting Sen. Joseph McCarthy, R-Wis., a longtime right-wing hero.

Cranston was a rank-and-file member of the AVC. There is no evidence he was a policymaker.

He makes no apologies for past associations, all of which he says are on the record.

HAVING gotten his feet wet internationally with the OWI, the UWF and the field of foreign correspondence, Cranston in the early 1950s turned to the grass roots of California Democratic politics.

As he worked as president of UWF, hit the banquet circuit as a lecturer and furthered the family building and real estate business in Palo Alto, his methodical mind was conceiving the California Democratic Council.

The plan would reach fruition at Fresno in November 1953 and for the next 15 years Cranston would be measuring his neck for an albatross.

But first there was a November 1952 trip to Washington to testify before a special congressional committee investigating charges he, as an OWI official, had brought pressure during the war to curb some Polish language broadcasters in this country who blamed Russia for the 1943 Katyn Forest massacre of 15,000 Polish intellectuals and army officers.

Hitler's Germany and Stalin's Russia blamed each other for the massacre, and the guilt never was established conclusively.

CRANSTON, who had been chief of the OWI foreign language division, told the committee the general policy of the U. S. government in 1943 was to discourage attacks on Allied unity, and that Russia then was an ally.

The committee, which was headed by Democrat Ray Madden of Indiana, concluded Soviet security police were responsible for the massacre and issued a report to that effect. The report contained recommendations that the Katyn Forest killings be investigated by the U. N. General Assembly, with a view toward seeking World Court action against the Soviet Union for crimes against humanity.

Nothing came of the recommendations.

The committee report was critical of U. S. handling of the massacre issue, but Cranston was not singled out for censure. He was, it appears, following policy set down by his OWI superiors and the White House, then occupied by Franklin Roosevelt.

After his session in the committee's witness chair, California looked good to the returning Cranston. He had political plans and a vehicle for achieving them — the CDC.

Nothing To Write In Biafra —But Oh! Those London Taxis

You don't let go that easily. Not when you've got Frank McCallister wedged into a corner table, drinking coffee, and getting the picture of how it is . . . shuttling supplies into Biafra. Last week I wrote an instant profile on Frank. Now let's talk about what the flying is like in Biafra.

He was describing Annabelle, the airport there.

"It was long enough — 7,500 feet," he said, "but only 70 feet wide. The landing gear on a 'Connie' is 38 feet wide. You can work it out from there. And going in only at night, with flare pots. . ." he paused, shaking his head.

"Where were you based and what was your cargo, Frank?"

"We were out of Lisbon, to Bissau, then to Sao Tome and into Biafra. Mostly we carried ammunition on the 'Connies.' The DC-7's carried primarily food. The 7's belong to the church."

"The Catholic Church?"

"Well, yes, although I think the World Council of Churches is also involved, all working closely together. Those priests . . . those guys!" He laughed.

"YOU APPARENTLY have great respect for them."

"Boy, you just don't know how much! Father Butler, for instance . . . wears a leather jacket, rides motorcycle like a maniac, tears up the town . . . a little bitty ol' slight man . . . been there 35 years. And Father Burns . . . there for 20-odd years. These men, they can outswear you, outdrink you and outfight you and they're the most dedicated men I've ever known. They're not like the priests you see here in church. They're as different as construction workers are from office workers."

"How many airplanes were lost?"

"Let's see . . . two, three, four. Yes, four. One was stolen, someone wanted to collect the $100,000 reward the Nigerians were offering for each aircraft delivered to them. One crashed in Bissau, and the one Auggie Martin was on crashed at Annabelle, and one was sabotaged."

"How many were killed?"

"Four, they were all on Auggie's airplane. Everyone walked away from the one that crashed on Bissau . . . not a scratch."

"DID YOU CARRY cargo out of Annabelle?"

"No, we used to carry some rubber out but stopped it because we needed the manuverability and altitude after they started shooting at us. When you get 10,000 pounds of rubber bouncing around while you're trying to avoid aircraft fire. . ." he smiled, "well, there'd be too much damage to the aircraft."

We made pilot talk for awhile, then I asked him how long he thought the fighting would last in Biafra.

"Don't know," he said and winced. "The Nigerians are whittling away at Biafra at about a mile a day. They've got Biafra down to about 85 miles long now. Pretty tough, you know, hand-to-hand fighting, guerrilla tactics. We bring in the ammo to them but they're getting the rest of their supplies by capturing them. That's a hell of a way to fight a war. It's the hard way, I'll tell you. Are you going to write about all this?"

"Yes, I told you so," I said. "Any objections?"

"No, I just don't know what you can write about. There's no glory, no razzmatazz, nothing. Just a job. No danger to it either. The most dangerous part is the ride in the taxi-cab to the hotel. That taxi ride! Those taxis in Lisbon! You take your life in your hands to get in one of them in Lisbon. Worse than Tokyo . . . worse than any of them in India!"

Subdivisions On Cotati Agenda

Cotati Planning Commission members will discuss provisions for a subdivision ordinance at their regular meeting today at 7:30 p.m. at the Cotati Elementary School Auditorium.

An emergency ordinance covering small subdivisions is in effect, but commissioners believe a permanent ordinance is necessary for future development.

Commissioners will also hold a public hearing on an application to sell beer and wine at the inn of the Beginning Restaurant, 8201 Redwood Highway, and discuss an application by Mrs. Barbara Schenbackler for a minor subdivision on Richardson Lane.

Citrus acreage in Florida has more than doubled in 20 years and now totals 1 million acres.

HOT, DRY OCTOBER EXPECTED

Maps prepared from U.S. Weather Bureau 30-day forecasts indicate that Marin is in for much above average temperatures this month, and less than normal rainfall. Perhaps the month will be a repeat of October, 1967, which was one of the warmest of record and which saw only .44 of an inch of rainfall in San Rafael, with .29 on Oct. 3 during a two-day wind and rain storm. Last year's October high was 90 degrees on Oct. 17 and low was 48 on Oct. 25. Average high was 71; low, 53. (AP Wirephoto maps)

Rusk Toiling At U.N. For Mideast Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk conferred privately with U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring today in an effort to spur Middle East peace negotiations while Israeli and Arab foreign ministers are in New York for the General Assembly.

The two met for breakfast as part of Rusk's intensive diplomatic consultations on world problems. He talked for more than an hour yesterday with Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban and had an appointment to see Jordan's foreign minister, Abdul Monem Rifai, later.

There was no word from either Jarring or Rusk as to details of their conversations, but informed sources said the central point of Rusk's talks so far has been that Jarring, Swedish ambassador to Moscow, should be the main channel for peace negotiations.

Rusk also has been stressing two other main points:

Any settlement must be worked out between Israel and her neighbors, rather than imposeed from the outside.

Jarring, who has been working on the Middle East problem for 10 months, is understood to be consulting quietly with Eban, Rifai and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad. He makes it a policy to say nothing about his meetings, even to the extent of not confirming that they took place.

Eban told reporters he had no plans to talk with any of the Arab foreign ministers here, but added: "We are always ready to talk to anyone." Israeli sources said Israel still insisted that any settlement must be reached through face-to- face negotiations, but procedural and preliminary matters could be discussed through a third party.

Eban ruled out a Soviet plan which called for Big Four guarantees for territorial agreements. He said: "The Middle East is not an area of international protection." He added that Israel could hardly accept Russia's promise of protection in the light of its invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Rusk will deliver a major policy speech before the 125-nation General Assembly Wednesday. He spent much time today working on the final draft.

School Workers Pick Committee For Salary Plan

Reed School District Classified Employees Association board last night named a committee to formulate salary recommendations for the 1969-1970 fiscal year.

Appointed were Mrs. Aurora Garrett, representing librarians; Grace Pastori, representing custodians and gardeners; Amy Inman, representing secretaries, and Betty Newton, representing teacher aides.

The committee was formed, Mrs. Garrett said, upon request of the school board which plans to consider salary requests along with the preliminary budget, usually submitted in November.

The board also discussed the proposed Watson Amendment which would deprive school districts of property tax revenues and named Mrs. Newton to a district committee of teachers, board members and staff to work for defeat of the amendment on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Information Chief Takes New Chore

WASHINGTON (AP) Leonard H. Marks will resign soon as director of the U.S. Information Agency, the White House said today, to head a U.S. delegation arranging for an international telecommunications satellite conference in 1969.

Marks' new assignment will give him the rank of personal ambassador.

He is expected to resign as USIA director sometime in the next four or five weeks. Presidential press secretary George Christian said no successor has yet been indicated in the USIA post, to which Johnson appointed Marks, a communications attorney, in 1965.

The international conference, which will be held in Washington in February 1969, involves 63 nations. They are members of the International Telecommunications Satellite Consortium (Intelsat), which was formed in 1964 to develop a global system of commercial satellite communication.

Marks was appointed by President Kennedy in 1962 as a member of the board of the Communications Satellite Corp. (COMSAT) and served in this post until Johnson appointed him to head the USIA.

Span Crash Hurts Four

Four persons were treated for minor injuries at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Richmond yesterday after a car smacked into the rear of a maintenance truck on the Richmond-San Rafael bridge, the California Highway Patrol said.

The accident occurred at 8:40 a.m., the patrol reported, when a car driven by Richard Brandt DeLew, 26, of 259 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, hit the truck driven by Jerry Louis Lykken, 24, of Oakland, an employee of the state Division of Bay Toll Crossings.

The truck, towing a small paving machine, was moving approximately 10 miles an hour and closing off a lane of traffic. DeLew, according to the highway patrol, said he was blinded by the sun and saw the truck too late.

Marinwood Driver Suffers Crash Cuts

Frank Salvatore Lucchesi, 30, of 884 Flaxberry Road, Marinwood, was treated for multiple cuts and scrapes last night at Marin General Hospital after his car swerved off Lucas Valley Road, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Lucchesi told the patrol an oncoming car ran him off the road at 7:30 p.m.

THE PENNEY STORY

Lay-away works this-away

By ROBERTA NASH

"I found the most darling coat at Penney's," a friend said recently. "But I won't need it for a couple of months, and I really hate to spend the money now."

So I told my friend about Penney's lay-away plan. "You just put a few dollars down and Penney's will hold your coat until you're ready to wear it. You can work out almost any schedule of payments. It's like an easy payment plan for cash customers.

"I often pick up Christmas gifts on lay-away in October and November; why don't you try it?" I asked. She did.

By ROBERTA NASH

"Why do you call your store managers partners?" people often ask Mr. Penney.

"Because they are my partners," Mr. Penney always answers. "We built the business together."

Penney's has always expanded from within. A young man would be taken into a store to clerk and if he turned out well, he was sent to manage another store and train another young man.

Today, Mr. Penney has 1,700 Penney partners managing 1,700 Penney stores. That's progress!
